PINE GROVE MILLS

Spring is here with plenty of robins to cheer.
Donald Sunday, one of our township boys in camp near Little Rock, Ark., was last week promoted to the rank of corporal. The Centre Democrat sends congratulations.
Popular wood mechanic Daniel S. Wagner and wife of State College, were pleasant Sunday callers with friends in our burg.
Don't forget the Russell Zerby farm equipment sale April 3rd at his farm near Gatesburg, and the Harvey Bowersox estate farm sale April 4 at the Krumrine school house.
The Harry Struble sale last Tuesday drew a large crowd at the well known Snyder-Glasgow farm. The proceeds amounted to $9300. Mr. and Mrs. Struble will retire to State College for a well deserved rest on easy street.

Reports are that the well known State College mortician, Harry N. Koch last week purchased the J. Clayton Carl farm, one of the best in Centre county. Harry was formerly a first class tiller of the soil of Ferguson township, and will venture the secrets of that art hasn't left his vocabulary.
Mrs. Charles Harpster entertained to dinner at her home on East Main street last Thursday. Mrs. Myrtle Powell, Mrs. Bertha Schilling and Miss Anne Ward.
Reed Hilliard is driving a new Ford coupe.

Arthur Burwell motored to Pittsburgh Saturday evening to spend the weekend and bring his wife and son Jimmy home Sunday, after spending 10 days with Mrs. Burwell's sister and family, Mrs. J. C. Comley.
Farmer Arthur Peters, wife and daughter Lorraine, returned recently from Florida to their farm home. They spent the winter months in the sunny south.
William Gardner is going the modern way this spring. He recently purchased a new I. H. C. tractor from the Wilbur R. Dodd agency.
About 50 members of Baileyville Grange entertained the John Walters family Tuesday evening at the regular meeting. In the form of a farewell party for these faithful members who are moving next week to the Decker farm at Zion. Choice refreshments were served and the season's best hopes went with Mr. and Mrs. Walters and son, Norman.

The March wind storm last week partly unroofed rafters, and all of the Thomas barn just west of town. The roof was set out in the highway.

Charles H. Myers is making preparations to erect this spring a new tenant house on his farm at Fairbrook.

Spring Movings: Hugh McClintock from the J. H. Cracken house to the Frank Homan house on West Main street; Earl Smeltzer from the Homan house to his new modern home on Church street; George Smith from the G. P. Irvin house to State College; John Walters from the Grazer farm to the R. E. Decker farm at Zion; George Neandoo will vacate the D. I. Irvin farm to his recently purchased farm in Clinton county; C. position as bookkeeper at the First National Bank. In the course of time his services were rewarded with an appointment to the position of cashier at that institution, a post he filled capably for more than 30 years until his retirement in 1939.
Mr. Barnhart was prominent in church work and in civic affairs, and for many years was treasurer of the Bellefonte Methodist church, also serving on the church board. He served several terms as a member of the local school board and was one of the board members who voted to raze the old stone building at the corner of Allegheny and Linn streets and replace it with a new brick building. The latter structure was destroyed by fire in 1939.

On July 20, 1893 in Punxsutawney Mr. Barnhart was united in marriage with Miss Olive Campbell of Punxsutawney. Mrs. Barnhart passed away in 1931. Surviving are four children: Philip S. Barnhart, of Westfield, Mass.; Mrs. John Harper, of Schenectady, N. Y.; Mrs. David P. Howell, of Gary, Ind.; and Mrs. Howard G. Harris, of Philadelphia. Seven grandchildren also survive.
Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Bellefonte Methodist church, with the pastor, the Rev. Harry C. Stenger, Jr., assisted by the Rev. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot in the Union cemetery.

Through his long association with the First National Bank and through his other activities, Mr. Barnhart became widely known throughout the county. His cheerful disposition and willingness to be of service to his fellowmen endeared him to the hearts of hundreds of Centre countians.

August, 1941.
Seven years ago, Lewistown Chapter No. 212, was instituted, and since then Mrs. Clinger has been a guiding hand and constant inspiration in all its activities. She has been instrumental in placing her home chapter among the numerous outstanding organizations of the community. Lewistown Chapter is rated on a par with all the finest women's groups and members of the chapter are constantly being asked to have a representative present at all worthwhile community projects.
In January, 1938, Mrs. Clinger was appointed State Dean of the "Academy of Friendship" for Central Pennsylvania, an important appointment which carried her on a visit to most every chapter in the Keystone State. She was re-appointed to this office in 1939, but resigned to accept a chair on the National Board of Regents.
She has served her home chapter as Junior Regent, Senior Regent and occupied the Graduate Regent's chair. She has been active on every committee of the chapter and is thoroughly conversant on every phase of the work.

In the community of Lewistown, Mrs. Clinger is one of the important personages in all community activities. When Lewistown inaugurated its radio station WMRP, Mrs. Clinger was chosen to represent the women's organization. She was then serving as Grand Dean of the "Academy of Friendship," and president of Milflin County Garden Club. She has just completed a successful year as president of Milflin County Garden Club, is an active member of Milflin County Chapter, American Red Cross, and for many years served as ward chairman for the annual Red Cross Roll Call.

She has had the distinction of receiving the annual Lewistown Kiwanis award for being the most outstanding citizen of the community in 1939. Only once before in the history of Lewistown Kiwanis, has a woman received this honor.

gone to great lengths "to protect the consciences of these people" in establishing work camps. In passing sentence, Judge Watson remarked that "We as judges can not treat one violator differently than another just because of a different mental attitude which he might possess," and added that sentencing Dewey was "unpleasant and painful, but necessary."
At the same session of court two other selective service violators were sentenced to three years in prison each for failing to notify their draft boards when they changed addresses. In addition, one of them was placed on probation for five years for not reporting for his physical examination. Still another selective service violator drew three years in prison for giving false information on his questionnaire.
