NINE COUNTY STUDENTS HONORED AT COLLEGE
Nine Centre county students were awarded prizes and scholarships for high academic honors at the annual Penn State Scholarship Day exercises held by connection with the College Mother's Day chapel services in Recreation Hall Sunday morning. President Ralph D. Hetzel presented leading honors at the ceremony which was held several weeks earlier this year because the current semester will be completed on May 9 with the College's war-time accelerated program.

Centre county students honored were: William E. Harkins, State College. John W. White, Fellowship girls' club. Centre district. Her Ann Carruthers; Phil Etá Sigma senior honor, William E. Harkins; Phil Kappa Phi, Edward A. Kachik; Ellen M. Stuart Memorial Award for senior girl on excellence in home economics, Elizabeth Kinslow, State College; John W. Stuart Memorial Award for excellence in general standing, Morris A. Wiley, State College.

The way men and women are taking courses to train for defense work we suppose the general level of intelligence will be greatly raised.

4-H Club Movie at State Theatre

Jane Withers Stars in Film Portraying Work of Farm Youth

Dedicated to the Army of Happy 4-H'ers who are playing a man-size role in the drama of America today, Jane Withers in the movie "Young America," playing Saturday at the State Theatre, Bellefonte, has won national praise for her portrayal of a typical 4-H club member.

First shown last December at the annual convention of 4-H Clubs of America held at Chicago, the movie was widely acclaimed by the delegates and prominent national officials.

"The story of a high hat city girl (Jane Withers), who becomes bored with country life during a protracted vacation. Not until 4-H Club members take her into hand and show her a 'real vacation' does Jane realize the value of happiness in the country. It's a mighty interesting story from start to finish! Jane Withers had the tome of her young life making the picture and hopes that each 4-H Club member will get as much pleasure from the film when they see it. Jane was elected a life member because of her marvelous portrayal and keen interest in 4-H principles.

4-H Clubs serve the nation and there is no other organization with so small an initiation fee which has accomplished so much. They require nothing more than that newly inducted members "shall do a piece of work that will teach the better way in homemaking or agriculture." The 4-H Club Creed probably explains how this organization has gained the national prestige it bears today and why it boasts so many fine young Americans among its membership.

"To Make the Best Better" is the motto of the club which is used not only in the building of character and citizenship, but also in the raising of their project standards.

While there has been no direct word concerning missionaries of any Christian church in Manila, P. I., since the outbreak of Japanese forces into that city, there is now some assurance of their safety in a cablegram received by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions through the Department of State. This message, relayed by Acting Secretary Sumner Welles, states that there are no known missionary casualties at Manila and that missionaries (including those from other fields who were passing through Manila when war started) have been "released for service." The Presbyterian Board lists some twenty missionaries in Manila; the Methodists have about as many more. So near as is known, all denominations are being treated the same way by the Japanese.

A Salon of Religious Photography will be held under the auspices of the Arts Guild of the Congregational Christian churches in the United States at the biennial meeting of the denomination's General Council, from June 18 to 25, at the University of New Hampshire, Durham, N. H. This is believed to be the first salon of its kind. The Arts Guild is designed to foster the use of the arts in religion. The exhibits in connection with the photography salon will be on ecclesiastical architecture, church modeling, altars, etc.

Dr. Braylon Case, New England-born agricultural missionary of the Northern Baptist Convention in Burma, has been cited by newspaper correspondents "behind the battle lines in Burma" for bravery in discharging his duty in his world-famous agricultural training school. For a quarter of a century he has been carrying on this school that has helped modernize Burma's agricultural products and marketing methods and has helped the "little farmer" to better feed his family. He is reported as sending cabbages, hogs and other foodstuffs to the Chinese troops who are fighting with the British and the Burmese against the Japanese.

Proper Display of the Flag

The unveiling of a statue or monument, the flag should never be used as the covering for the statue.

12. When flown at half-mast, the flag should be hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-mast position; but before lowering the flag for the day, it should be raised again to the peak.

13. Flags flown from fixed masts are placed at half-mast to indicate mourning. When the flag is displayed on small staffs, as in a parade, mourning is indicated by attaching two streamers of black crepe to the spearhead. Crepe is used on the flagstaff only by order of the President.

14. When used to cover a casket, the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.

15. When the flag is displayed in the body of the church, it should be from a staff placed at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. If placed in the chancel or on the platform, the flag should be placed at the clergyman's right.

16. When the flag is in such a condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside or used in a way that might be viewed as disrespectful to the national colors.

Japanese Confused Over Bombing

10 attacking planes, nine were shot down and one was forced to land.

The new communique also hinted at Japanese confusion over the origin of the attacks. It did not mention where the raiders came from but observed that "a hostile navy unit centering around three aircraft carriers appeared April 18 at a distant point off the eastern coast of Japan proper but, fled without approaching Japanese shores."

Thus, without definitely saying so, it left the impression that the planes may have come from the sea, delivered their attack and continued on eastward to a landing place in free China.

Still another version was offered in the Italian press: The newspaper La Gazzetta del Popolo of Turin expressed belief that the raiders started from bases in Soviet Russia secretly ceded to the United States.

That, of course, would be no so-lace to Japan.

Neither was there comfort for Japan in the United States' unbroken silence on the attacks, still concealing their origin, and her jittery weekend indicated how insecure she felt about the possibility of a return visit to her capital and great ports and industrial centers.

The radio listener of the London Daily Mail quoted a Tokyo broadcast announcing that air observers who failed to give timely warning of Saturday's unwelcome visitors would be court-martialed.
