Haines Speaks To Kiwanians

mittees, Mr. Haines explained. The House committees are subdivided into a major committee of thirty members and a minor committee of twenty members. The larger committee deals with the more important and controversial bills to come before the committee, the smaller with the non-controversial. Each member serves on approximately four major and two minor committees. A quorum of a committee may be set at eleven members. This small number is due to the fact that several committees may meet at the same time and a member must choose which he will attend, making it impossible to get a much larger number present in each particular committee and have the work proceed. The majority of the members of the various committees belong to the dominant party in the House or the Senate. These committees may do one of three things with a bill, they may report a bill out as committed to them, when it will be placed on the House calendar and be ready for action, amend it or kill it without action. Three-fourths of the bills die in committee. If a bill is killed in the committee it can be brought out for consideration only by a motion calling the House into a committee as a whole, which requires a constitutional majority and is almost an impossibility.

Farmer Sentenced on Morals Charge

committed the acts," the attorney concluded.
Snoke, when asked whether he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced, declared that he was "terribly sorry" adding "I've been in agony day and night." He also had words of praise for his wife and family for standing by him in trouble.
Roy J. Barnett, Rush township tax collector, entering pleas of guilty to two charges of embezzlement of tax funds, was sentenced to serve from 2 1/2 to 5 years in the county jail, in addition to paying the costs of prosecution.
The actual sentence was 2 1/2 to 5 years on each of the two counts, but the terms are to be served concurrently, the court indicated.
Pvt. Ruda, prosecutor in the matter, related that investigation began when the Maryland Casualty Company, which held Carnetts $10,000 bond reported that they paid a claim of $8,146 for 1940 taxes which had not been turned over to the proper local agencies.
Ruda listed shortages as follows: $204.79 on 1940 school tax; $129.87 on 1939 county tax; $86.58 on 1939 road tax; $82.65 on 1939 school tax and $108.23 on the 1939 institution tax. Ruda related that Barnett received some of the taxes, issued receipts to taxpayers, and then entered some of them with County officials as unpaid taxes. Later, the officer said, Barnett told the County Treasurer that some of the taxes had been paid and gave him a check for $1,017 to cover the check. The check was returned marked "insufficient funds." Ruda said, adding that bank records showed that there never were sufficient funds to pay the check.
Barnett told the court that he was very sorry and that he's suffered mentally from his acts. He said he was willing to do anything possible to repay the money and restore his good standing in society.
Wilbur Caputo, of Crafton, a senior at Penn State College, pleading guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle while his driver's license was under suspension, was sentenced to pay a $100 fine and the costs of prosecution.
Caputo was arrested March 25 in State College when an officer investigating an accident in which a car driven by Caputo was involved, discovered that he had no driver's license.
The license, it was revealed, had been suspended for ninety days because of a previous arrest for exceeding the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit.
Forrest Hoy, of Phillipsburg, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve ten days in jail. Hoy was arrested March 11 in Rush township by Pvt. J. J. Mignogna, of the Pleasant Gap sub-station State Motor Police.

Boro Manager Here Resigns

accepted a position as borough manager.
For many years Carpeneto has been one of Bellefonte's foremost firemen, and is credited with having been largely instrumental in bringing about changes in the fire department which resulted some years ago in a substantial reduction of insurance rates in the business area.
He was one of the chief investigators of fire schools in Bellefonte, and under his guidance the local fire department began the program under which it rose from old-time and outmoded concepts of fire-fighting to its present scientific and efficient standards. At various times he has been borough fire marshal, and chief of the Undine Fire Company. He also is borough treasurer.
Mr. Carpeneto will begin the duties of his new position at once but his family will remain here for the time being. In the near future he expects to be sent to Illinois to undergo training in the special types of fire which are experienced in plants such as the one under construction in White Deer Valley.
Mr. Carpeneto has one son Lewis, in the army, and another son, George, is now awaiting call into the service. Lewis is in the signal division of an Air Force combat company stationed at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C. A daughter, Madeline, is employed by the West Penn Power Company.
Since Council has not met since Mr. Carpeneto's resignation from the borough management, no decision has been made as to his successor in that post.
