

Modern Etiquette

- 1. How do guests at a house or weekend party ascertain when they are expected to arise in the morning?
2. When one receives a formal invitation, and is very busy, wouldn't it be all right to phone the hostess one's acceptance?
3. Isn't it all right to talk to one's companion while a motion picture is in progress?
4. What should be the keynote of a wedding ceremony that is being performed soon after a death in the family of one of the principals?
5. May one ever leave the spoon standing in the coffee cup?
6. How should the visiting card of a doctor and his wife read?

Answers to Modern Etiquette

- 1. It is up to the hostess to let them know when to arise, and when breakfast and the other meals are to be served. The tactful guest usually can ascertain himself very easily with the general routine of the house.
2. Never. A formal invitation requires an answer on note paper, acceptance or regrets written in the third person.
3. No. It is extremely rude and ill-bred to do so, as it is sure to disturb other persons nearby who are listening to the play.
4. Simplicity, and only a few near relatives and intimate friends should attend. There should be nothing elaborate in the flowers, decorations, or the procession.
5. No; the spoon should be placed in the saucer.

Buys Playground
Sunbury Kiwanis has entered the playground business on a permanent basis, voting 40 to 4 in favor of the purchase of a large tract of ground in the Third Ward from Mrs. Grant Rothermel, of that city, for $21,000. Voluntary donations totalling $572 were in the hands of the directors and officers before the vote was taken and a member of the Kiwanis Club agreed to loan the club $1600 on first mortgage to complete the deal. The property is located at the southern entrance to the city and faces on both Front and Second streets.

Pigs on Pasture Need Shade in Hot Weather
When hot, dry weather comes, pigs on pasture will need some shade as protection against the sun and heat, reminds County Agent R. C. Blaney.

Plenty of fresh water is demanded during the summer. If water from a stream is not available, portable hog waterers can be built and used during the pasture season. These are made with steel or wooden barrels to which are attached cups with float valves. Place the waterer on a platform built on skids to prevent the animals from making mud holes, and for moving the waterers.

Proper Management of Ladino Clover Needed
Ladino clover is responding well this spring in most sections and under most conditions, announces County Agent R. C. Blaney.

It seems to thrive best in combination with orchard grass and meadow fescue or Alta fescue. It does very well with timothy but the latter cannot withstand the competition. In alfalfa fields it is filling in the bare spots and is keeping out the chile, timothy, dandelion and plantain. On May 5, one field in Lycoming county clipped 84 tons of green clover to the acre.

Ladino clover disappeared last summer in some widely scattered locations because of extreme drought, close clipping, and grazing. Strange-looking, similar fields of Ladino clover in the same sections were not injured. The reason is that close, continuous grazing and close clipping injure the runners and expose them to the burning sun. In no case has Ladino clover been successful in a permanent pasture which is closely and continuously grazed. For hay, cut Ladino 3 to 4 inches high to leave some protection.

A favored plan of management of Ladino clover mixture, especially the triple-purpose mixture, is to cut the first crop for silage or hay when the first blooms of alfalfa show. Then the field can be cut for hay 4 to 6 weeks later, or it may be grazed if the permanent pastures are short.

It is very important in pasturing Ladino clover mixtures to control the grazing by fencing the field into 2 or 4 acre lots and to rotate 2 to 4 weeks are necessary if the stand is to be preserved.

Spring-fertilized stands are rutted by the trucks. Fall-fertilized stands are much better and the fields are smooth. Manure and phosphate applied last fall show up now in greatly increased quantities.

Anyone who has a good stand of Ladino clover may be well advised to attempt to make some next fall. Seed yields may run from 50 to 75 pounds to the acre under good conditions. Detailed information is available from the Agricultural Extension Association office in Bellefonte.

Cull Flocks Rigidly To Remove Slackers
Rigid culling throughout the year to eliminate non-producing or mediocre laying hens is a necessary practice to insure most profitable returns, reminds County Agent R. C. Blaney.

Good layers can be detected by their full, red, waxy comb and wattles; brightness of eye; large, moist vent; large, pliable abdomen; and absence of yellow color from the shanks and beaks of yellow-skinned varieties. Fowls which are not producing have small, pale, shriveled combs and wattles; small, round vent; small, hard abdomen; and yellow legs.

Proper feeding and management throughout the summer will keep many hens in production which ordinarily would have been culled because they have ceased laying early.

County Agent recommends the feeding of supplementary feeds, such as wet mash and pellets, control lice and mites, and proper use of lights when the days grow short in late summer. These practices will aid in keeping hens laying in late summer and early fall. In addition, comfortable housing for the birds is essential.

Read one book on any subject and it perfects one; read two and it becomes confused, and after reading five or six, completely unintelligible.

JULIAN (From Last Week)

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Shawer and infant and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Myers and little daughter, of Vandergriff, visited over the weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Holt.

Mrs. Mary Holt of Altoona, visited her sister, Mrs. Joseph Weller. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Markle and children of Pleasant Gap, visited over the weekend at the E. B. Williams' home.

Hazel Dando is away on an extended trip with her husband, W. H. Dando, who drives a truck for a transportation company. They go to all the principal cities of the east and middle west.

The members and friends of the Methodist church wish to thank all who contributed so generously of money, time and work to have the church redecored and new carpet put down. Everyone is invited to come and see the church and attend services.

At the graduation exercises at Penn State on Sunday, May 10, Glenn Alexander received a lieutenant's commission in the Army. Glenn has been studying military tactics for four years. We are glad to know he is now an officer in Uncle Sam's army.

Francis Alexander is in a military camp in Louisiana. We are glad to know that the boys from Huston township returned home instead of being inducted into the Army. But also sorry that so many physical defects were discovered. But we hope they will be benefited by medical treatment.

Mrs. J. H. Turner, who spent several weeks at Danville, where her husband is a patient at Geisinger Hospital, has returned home. The sale of household goods of the late Miss Tallheim was very well attended and the things sold very well.

Boyd Richards purchased the star building from Mrs. Mollie Tallheim and expects to start remodeling it for a dwelling house in the near future. The blackout on Friday night was an almost perfect success. The only occurrence to the contrary was that a freight train stopped at east end of the side track with the powerful headlights on, with the result that that part of Julian was light as day.

However, no provisions were made for such a condition, so nothing could be done. The wardens wish to thank the people for cooperating, and hope that each time in the future everyone will cooperate. Thus no reports will need to be sent to the federal government to the contrary. In addition to turning out all lights for darkening windows stay in the house. Do not hold conversations on the street. Wardens will walk around to see that all things requested will be complied with.

The large corn crop of K. M. Alexander is being rapidly disposed of. Most of it is being sold to the owner of a large mill at Belleville. John Weller, who has been ill, is improved at this writing. Gilbert Robinson has secured employment at the Titan.

Remember folks, obedience to our Civilian Defense directors' requests is for the benefit of all. To Reinstale Teachers Judge Herbert W. Cummings, of Nethermer, Pa., has handed down an order to the Kulpmont School Board directing immediate reinstatement of five teachers illegally dismissed by a previous board and assessing damages against the district and in favor of each teacher. The order marks the end of prolonged litigation involving the dismissal of the five teachers, who opposed the action under the teacher tenure law and won a verdict from the Department of Public Instruction and subsequent victory in the county court. The amount of back salary they are to receive approximately $8,000.

Vacation Bible School Plans are being perfected by the several churches of Milesburg for another Vacation Bible School this year. The term to run from June 15 to June 26. This school is being made available for children from 6 to 14 or 15 years of age residing in Milesburg borough and in Central City and vicinity. Registrations are being made in Milesburg and Central City schools this present week, to be completed on Friday, May 29.

Ascension Day Club Still Active Group (Continued from page one) hostess has certainly never forgotten any of the cooking lessons she learned in the old school called The Ascension Day Club, with her dear mother as the teacher.

The names of the members to date are: Mrs. Mabel Bennison, president; Mill Hall; Mrs. Rosa Yearick, vice president; Bellefonte; Mrs. Eulodie Daily, secretary; Altoona; Mrs. Oscar M. Kling, asst. secretary; Altoona; Mrs. O. P. Smith, treasurer; Pittsburgh; Mrs. Mollie Pletcher, Howard; Mrs. Harry Strunk, State College; Mrs. Emma Tate, Warren, Ohio.

Another outstanding feature of this organization is the absence of any such thing as jealousy, grudges or hatreds, the words so common these days. There has always been a good feeling for each other, that has extended down through the passing years. We are all living many miles apart, but when this light, Ascension Day, arrives, how grand and good it is to meet each other at the same place, to spend another glorious day together.

God bless our sainted mothers who stood so nobly by us, and enjoyed the activities of this holy day along with us. MRS. MABEL BENNISON, Mill Hall, R. D. 1.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Turning the Rug When taking up a rug for cleaning, it should be turned around before replacing it. In order to distribute the wear, so place a safety pin in a certain corner, that you may know this corner of the rug should go to the opposite corner of the room.

Wilted Vegetables Wilted vegetables can be freshened merely by adding a slice of lemon to a pan of water and letting the vegetables soak for about thirty minutes. This is particularly effective for lettuce, parsley, and spinach.

Soiled Books To remove the soil from the edges and bindings of books, rub them with bread dough. Rub the dusty parts with a ball of the dough until the dirt is removed.

Prevent Clogging The drain can be prevented from clogging by placing three or four tablespoons of soda at the opening of the drain about once a week, and then washing this down the pipe with boiling water.

Cleaning Bed Springs Probably the best way to remove dust and dirt from the bed springs is to place the springs in the sun and turn the hose on them. The sun will dry them within a very short time.

Baked Apples Try dropping a teaspoonful of honey into the heart of a cored apple, when preparing it for baking and see what a delicious flavor it imparts.

Care of Linoleum If you use a too-stiff brush when washing your linoleum, you will soon have a surface that is entirely lifeless. The best way to preserve the shiny effect is to sponge very lightly with soap and water.

Tar on the Hands By rubbing with a slice of orange or lemon peel, tar can be removed from the hands. The volatile oils in the skin dissolve the tar so that it can be removed.

Flouring Food An effective method of flouring food evenly and quickly for frying is to mix the flour, salt and pepper in a paper bag, put in the food to be floured, and then shake well.
