Warman, missing since last September, phoned Mr. Huff Saturday asking him to come and get him in State College.

The Centre county man was sentenced originally in 1936 to serve three to six years in the Western Penitentiary on a charge of robbery and assault. He was paroled after less than two years.

Upon giving himself up, Warman learned that he had been indicted at the U. S. Court in Scranton for failure to register for Selective Service. Observations of a Soldier While Traveling
The following interesting letter was received recently by a friend from Pvt. H. W. Lambert, a member of Co. C, 329th Bom. Avn., Davis-Monthan Field, Tucson, Arizona. Pvt. Lambert, a son of Mrs. Calvin Lambert of Bellefonte, gives his impression of the southern part of the country through which he traveled on his way from Fort McClellan, Alabama, to Arizona. The letter follows:

We left Fort McClellan, Alabama, Saturday, the 3rd, for Tucson, Arizona. We did not know where we were going until after we were on the train for some time. They never tell you.

Newly all day Sunday we traveled through the great swamplands of Louisiana. I would like to spend six months there, fishing. We crossed the Mississippi Delta, over many bridges. Much rice is raised here. Sunday evening we entered the state of Texas. Southeast at dusk we went through Beaumont (Pennsylvania Shipyards, Inc. are located there). It is close to the Gulf, and we saw seven transports in the making. We passed through Houston Sunday evening. It is a fine looking city for water, although we were not allowed off the train.

The eastern half of Texas is a great flat grassland, much irrigated, as level as a floor. The houses are many miles apart. Everything is cattle and sheep raising.

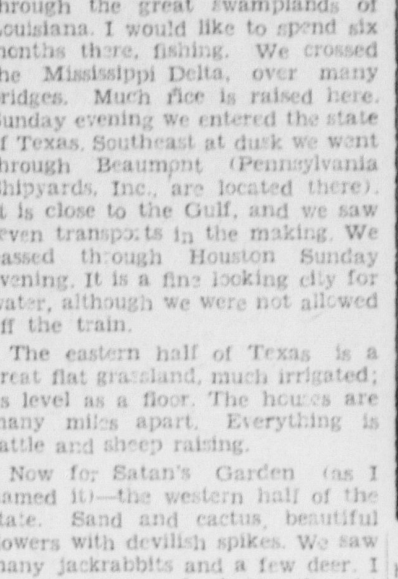

Now for Satan's Garden (as I named it)—the western half of the state. Sand and cactus, beautiful flowers with devilish spikes. We saw many jackrabbits and a few deer. I saw two babies of what I thought were alligators. Our lieutenant told me he and the cook saw several coyotes early in the morning. There is a bird here that looks like a guinea, only smaller. I believe it to be a sage hen. They raise many cattle and sheep in this desert country, but one would wonder how they survive. We saw a few dead cattle and the air was full of buzzards.

We crossed what the porter said was the highest railroad bridge in the world, in a deep cut after we got into the mountains proper. It was well guarded.

We went through Texas the long way, down through the Panhandle into El Paso, which is a place I would like to see my own way. On a mountain overlooking El Paso is a cross, with the Crucifixion of Christ. It is fashioned of white stone. It can be seen in New Mexico, many miles away, also in Old Mexico, which is three miles distant.

I did not see much of New Mexico, as it was nearly dusk when we crossed the Rio Grande, after leaving El Paso. What I did see was sand, a little low brush, that it made it appear like the sea.
