Library Adds New Volumes

Memorial Collection Founded With Receipt of Volumes From Miss Daisy Beach

A two-volume anthology of poetry has been added to the permanent reference collection of the Cenire County Library as a memorial cift of Miss Deity Beach, of Northampton. Mass. for he: uncle, Dr. Robert Mills Beach.

There " liones the "Home Book of Verse," edited by Burton E. Stovenson, were pur hand by Miss Beach through the library to fill a long-felt need in answering the many calls for verse written during the last five centuries.

This collection is representative of the type of literature that Dr. Beach enjoyed and is the first contribution to a Memorial Collection which, it is hoped, will be augmented by others vi hing to place books in the permanent collection of the library n memory of relatives or friends.

Other books recently added by the

'ibrary are: Federova, "The Chi'dren:" Leech, "Reveille in Washington;" C seinsky, "Old English Clock Makers:" Miller, "General Douglas MacArthur:" Davies, "Mission to Moscow;" Olsen, "Improvised Equipment in the Home Care of the Sick;" Werth, "Moscow War Diary;" Kingsley, "Patte:n for Genius;" Hawkins, "Prayers and Graces for Little Children;" Johns, "Dogs for Sinclair, "Between Two Worlds;" Ybarra, "Young Man From Caracus;" Lin Yutang, "Leaf in the Downs, "So Stands the Rock;" Lorwin, "The Economic Consequences of the Second World War:" White.
