Answers to Modern Etiquette

- 1. One may leave any time desired after speaking to the bride and bridegroom.
2. Yes, it is very inconsiderate and rude unless, of course, the delay is caused by illness, an accident, or some such reason. Under those circumstances it would be inconsiderate of the hostess to present the guest's delay.
3. Never. Plain black silk hose is the only kind to wear.
4. He should consult his companion and give her order first, followed by his own.
5. No. When one listens to gossip, it is merely encouraging a bad habit in the other person. It has been wisely said that, "Narrow-minded and ignorant persons talk about people and not things, hence, gossip is the bane of the age."
6. No; they should remain quiet.
7. Yes, by all means. Otherwise, she is often a "one time guest."
8. "Doctor Williams."
9. Yes; a well-bred man will never do this.
10. No. The news of the average engagement usually travels by word of mouth. However, it is a popular way of announcing the engagement.
11. Yes. Candles are always correct on the dinner or supper table.
12. Yes. His card should read "Arthur L. Harris." Only such prefixes as "Dr." and "Rev." are used on a business card.

Feed Market Hogs—Full-feeding of hogs is not recommended before the congestion of transportation and slaughtering facilities begins, is recommended by Penn State livestock specialists.

Fires Causes Losses—It is estimated that fires on farms in the United States take approximately 3,500 lives and destroy about 100 millions of dollars worth of property annually.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Testing Jelly
Jelly is done when a very little poured from a spoon forms a single large drop and breaks away quickly from the spoon. This is a more satisfactory method of testing than the common way of pouring a little jelly on a cold plate and waiting to see whether it will "jell," because during the time of waiting the jelly may overcook.

Painting Metal
Before painting metal, wash the surface first with soap and water. This will make it much easier to apply the paint.

Perspiration Stains
To remove perspiration stains from clothes, soak the garments in a strong salt water solution before laundering.

Care of Lawn
The early morning is the best time to sprinkle the lawn. Be sure to give the lawn a thorough wetting; it promotes deep, healthy roots in contrast to the shallow root system of grass which is just lightly sprinkled.

Finger Prints
Dip a damp cloth into whitening and rub gently over the finger marks that have accumulated around your door knobs. Then rinse with clear water, and the unsightly marks will have disappeared.

Poached Eggs
Add a tablespoonful of lemon juice to the water in which eggs are to be poached, and it will make them firmer.

To Pit Cherries
Cherries may be pitted by using the round top of a new wire hair-pla, pressing it into the fruit at the stem end and down beneath the pit, which can be lifted out with the loop without smashing the cherry.

Cut Flowers
When changing the water for cut flowers, remove a bit of the stalk with a sharp knife and wipe the stalks free from the slight trace of green on them. This will prevent that unpleasant odor the water tends to acquire if the flowers last a long time.

Nails In Plaster
Nails can be made to stay more firmly in plaster walls if, after driving them in, they are pulled out, wrapped with a little steel wool, and then driven in again.

YOUR HEALTH

The Nation's manpower comes from its civilian population. The strength of the Nation can be no greater than the strength of its people. How strong are this Nation's people? It is estimated that seventy million sick persons each year lose over one billion work days.

The cost of illness and of resultant premature death amounts to about ten billion dollars. There has been a steady decline in the total death rate. This is due largely to life saving in infancy and childhood. Larger numbers of persons reach the age of maturity.

Consequently, there is an upward trend in diseases of middle age and old age. Heart disease, nephritis, cancer and diabetes are included in diseases associated with maturity. More than half of all tuberculosis deaths occur in the age group of 15 to 45 years.

This heavy death toll comes approximately within the age limits for military service. For every death occurring from tuberculosis there are approximately ten persons ill with tuberculosis.

Disabling conditions among children, venereal diseases, pneumonia, malaria and accidents are other leading causes of disability. Half a million patients are in our mental hospitals, and 50,000 such cases are on parole. More than 75,000 persons are in institutions for the feeble minded and epileptic.

Loss of time and money due to preventable illness or injury comes under the heading of domestic sabotage. DO YOU KNOW About one per cent of the male population of military age has active tuberculosis. More than one-third of all persons killed in automobile accidents are pedestrians.

Featured In Film

George Raft's leading lady in "Broadway." The picture is Raft's own life story. He is seen in it both as he is today—as George Raft, the present star—and as he was during the prohibition era of the play which he gained notoriety as the possessor of the greatest feet on Broadway.

A spotlight feature of the film is an exotic tango featuring Raft and Miss Blair, executed to the stirring beat of "La Cumparsita." It seems obvious that Miss Blair laid painstaking groundwork for her seemingly sudden burst into prominence on the screen. Born in Allentown, in a home just above so-called average circumstances, she studied in that city's schools. She might have chosen to go to college, but she chose instead to become a singer. She caught on with the late Hal Kemp, and appeared with his band for three years. It was while she was singing in Hollywood with Kemp that film scouts heard and saw her.

Janet was cast immediately in a leading role in "Three Girls About Town." The picture was no hit but her performance was. She was rewarded with the feminine leading role in "Two Yanks in Trinidad" with Pat O'Brien and Brian Donlevy. Again she clicked, resulting in her selection as the leading lady opposite George Raft in "Broadway."

Pressure politics seem to be the accepted method of promoting decisions in a democracy and whether you like it or not you might as well adopt the methods if you expect to get any results. Maybe, in the next generation the professions will recapture some of their lost prestige.

HISTORICAL PLAY RECEIVES SANCTION

An experimental drama, written by a Pennsylvania State College cod and professor, has been selected by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission as a play instrumental in getting Pennsylvanians to "know their state better."

"This may be one of the answers to the problem of moving away from the cut-and-dried method of teaching American history," says S. K. Stevens, an historian. The dramatic approach may be one way of interpreting history and understanding its real meaning.

The drama, "Ephrata," is a story of the Ephrata Cloisters, and presents the historical background of this religious sect. The authors, Kathryn M. Popp, senior in journalism, and Frank S. Westerman, associate professor of dramatics, used research material from the commission.

If the experiment of using historical dramas as teaching aids proves helpful, Stevens pointed out, high schools and colleges will be urged to avail themselves of the play, or state dramatic groups. Despite our civilization most human beings give the bulk of their effort to secure the necessities of life, and some fail to get them.
