Free Methodist: Prayer service Friday evening, Sunday school in the morning at 9:30, followed by class meeting.

Rev. Howard A. Jacobs of the Free Methodist church left on Wednesday of this week and is attending their annual conference being held over this weekend at Pleasantville, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stere and daughters, Charlotte of this place, and Mrs. C. R. Stevenson of Altoona, were dinner guests of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stere, of Bellefonte, last Thursday evening.

About two weeks ago on Friday some person from town left a couple umbrellas in the train between here and Bellefonte, and they can be secured if they have not already been gotten, from the Bellefonte station.

The members of the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting last Wednesday evening in the form of a picnic on the church lawn. A very delicious dinner was enjoyed by all.

Pvt. Basil W. Robison, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robison, who is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C., is ill at the present time and confined to the army hospital with pneumonia. Recent word received from him by his parents was to the effect he is recovering rapidly. His many friends here hope for him a complete recovery. Basil had expected to come home on furlough some time during the month of August but took the grippe which resulted in pneumonia. We hope he will get home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lannen of Chester, were recent guests of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Parsons and daughter, Lorraine. They visited with other relatives in the township before returning home.

The members and friends of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church are especially invited to attend the regular monthly meeting which will be held in the church this Thursday evening. Meeting will begin promptly at 7 o'clock and Rev. W. A. Snyder will give a talk on the significance of the symbols on the church windows. This is a topic which will interest all folks and we trust there will be a good attendance. Business meeting will follow.

Several boys of our community left for army camp the fore part of the week. Oscar Woloski went with the contingent on Monday and the following went on Tuesday: Glen Harper, Andrew Robison, Joe Pierce and several others from the township.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Parsons of Union township, received word last week that their son, Kenneth, had arrived safely somewhere on foreign soil.

Some so-called religiously minded person became somewhat alarmed over a certain article which was printed in the paper a short time ago concerning dogs, etc., and if that person wishes to relieve his mind, he or she can do so by reading an article which was printed in last week's Centre Democrat entitled "My Dog."

The following students from here will attend Bellefonte High School this coming winter, the first two named being the new ones to enter: Lewis Emenhizer, Mary Watkins, Jack Shipley, Kathleen Homan, Samuel Brugger, Charles Hall, Betty Ann McElwain, Lee Emenhizer, Erma Hall, Mary Houtz and Ethel Jean Stere. Jack Shipley is the only one to graduate next spring.

We would suggest that persons having company or anything which would be news or of interest to boys in the service, hand the same to the writer of these items and then send them the items clipped from the paper each week. They are all interested in their home town news and what better way can they secure it?

Mr. J. R. Williams has been harvesting great crops of cucumbers, beans, tomatoes and peas from his little farm up Dix Run. He gathered so far about 14 bushels of cucumbers, the amounts of other things we did not learn, but all his friends were supplied with a good mess of pickles and roasting ears.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Miles were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Will Malone of Harrisburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bein of Palsade Park, N. Y. Mrs. Bein being the former Mildred Malone, niece of Mrs. Miles.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. W. B. Parsons were Miss Eva Rowan and Mrs. Sue McEwen, of this place.

The schools of the township will open for another term on Tuesday, September 8th, the day after Labor Day. Borough schools opened this Monday, August 31, with Russell Reish as teacher in the grammar school and Miss Charlotte Stere in the primary school.

Several persons from here attended the convention of the Sunday schools of the 7th District last Sunday evening in the Methodist church of Milesburg. J. R. Williams, president of the district, presided.

Miss Nell Williams, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Leon Durst and three daughters, motored to Philadelphia on Monday with Miss Nell at the wheel. Mrs. Durst and daughters had been visiting here for the past couple weeks. Nell returned with her brother-in-law, Charles Nason, who will spend his vacation here with his wife and son at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Williams.

George S. Bullock of Philadelphia, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bullock of this place, has enlisted in the U. S. Army and is now in a training camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watson have purchased the Berg tenant house in Union township, the former Dora Fisher home. They will move from the Chester Mitchell home in a few weeks.

Mr. Edward Earton, Joseph Way and Richard Hall, who are all employed at the Glen Martin Aircraft factory in Baltimore, Md., spent the weekend with their respective parents here.

Jack Shipley, who is employed in Baltimore, Md., spent a couple days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shipley. He returned to his duties at the Glen Martin plant on Friday, but expects to return home in time to finish his high school education at the Bellefonte High School.

Forrest Bauder is one of the few who is sporting a new car in the past few days. A new Plymouth and it is red in color. He must be one of the fellows who said he could not buy new tires but could get a new car, so I guess some of the rest of us will have to buy a new car in order to get new tires. Good idea.

Joseph Spotts and Owen Reed Fox are busy putting a new shingle roof on the school house. After the building was freshly painted they decided it needed a new roof. It will then be in first class condition.

Mrs. Stella Parsons spent several days over the weekend visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Armstrong of State College.

Brief Addresses Feature Rites

rice on your part can be too great. And by your own efforts, you can actually increase production. You must call upon those extra reservoirs of strength which are not tapped in normal times. You must summon forth that extra ounce of effort.

"To ask you to give that extra bit of energy which may mean the difference between victory and defeat is one of the reasons that I am here today. For you have a tremendous stake in this war. This is the war of common man against the big shots who want to push him around. It is the war of the little people who want to live peacefully and happily against the tough guys who want to take over the world at the point of the gun. It is the war of four freedoms against the four hatreds. Freedom of speech against the men who throw their political opponents into concentration camps. Freedom of religion against the men who raid the monasteries and imprisoned the pastors and burned the synagogues. Freedom from want against the men who have brought starvation to Europe from Narvik to Athens. Freedom from fear against the men who have made terror the chief means of government.

"These are brave things for anyone to fight for. They are the brave things for which free men of America have fought time and again. Today we are joined in this battle by liberty-loving peoples all over the world. Men realize that this time we are fighting for keeps—that the decisions now being made upon the battlefield will survive at least as long as any of us here today. They are things which are worth every effort we can make to perpetuate.

"And if I feel that you can make an extra effort, it is because of the efforts which you have already made. And that is the other reason I am here today—to show you that the Army and Navy Appreciate what you have already done. You have made a record of which you can be proud—a record which in ordinary times might permit you to sit back and feel satisfied.

"It is in honor of this achievement that you have been awarded the Army-Navy Joint 'E.' The 'E' is a symbol which has long stood for excellence and efficiency among the fighting forces afloat, where it has, for many years, been painted on the funnel or turret of ships outstanding in such fields as engineering and gunnery. More recently it has been awarded to plants outstanding in the production of tools of war for the Navy. Now it has been extended to producers of weapons for both the armed forces, a symbol of that co-operation of the Army and Navy which is found in every field of operation. When this 'E' banner flies over your plant here let it remind you not only of what you have achieved but of your responsibility to achieve even more. Remember that much as you have done, there is much more to be done before we can see a path clear to victory. Remember these things and make this 'E' stand for the tremendous effort which every one of us is going to have to make before we can come back to the happy days of peace. Fly it proudly and keep it flying."

Address of C. G. Alkins

"As chairman of the War Savings Staff of Centre County, I feel very privileged and honored to be on this platform today. I am here as the representative of the United States Treasury Department to personally congratulate you, to thank you, and to present to you the emblem which signifies the highest award for services rendered with the offices of the Treasury Department.

"Our President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., have asked and are still asking that Americans on the Home Front rally to the great undertaking in which we are engaged by lending and investing their money, particularly current income, in the safest investment in the world—United States Treasury War Savings Bonds—an investment that absolutely cannot depreciate in value unless and until every other bit of wealth in the land shall have lost its value. They also tell us, and implore, that at least 10 per cent of national income at least ten per cent of every single person's income in America, is necessary to be so invested if the home front is to be carrying its load.

"This is our challenge! Americans, what will we do? As part of this great financial undertaking, men and women of industry, America's 'Army Behind the Lines,' have been asked to allot at least 10 per cent of their earnings for the purpose of War Savings Bonds during the emergency. You men and women of Titan are among those who are showing us the way.

"Yours is a double victory—a victory on the fighting front with the making of the best of war materials, as is evidenced by this wonderful meeting here today—and a victory on the home front with every man and woman of your organization allotting earnings for the purchase of War Savings Bonds in the amount of not 10 per cent but 10 1/2 per cent of your total payroll. It is my hope that your achievement will be an inspiration to the rest of us, and that soon—very soon, an emblem like I am presenting to you will be flying over every industry and every business house in Centre County. It should be our duty and our privilege to see that this comes to pass.

"Mr. Coder and Mr. Ray, I take great pleasure in awarding to you as representatives of Titan, on behalf of the United States Treasury Department and your fellow citizens all equally pleased with this fine achievement, this Minute Man Flag, emblematic of concrete patriotic Americanism and of a job well done. Fly it high! Fly it long and fly it proudly! Over what I am positive is going to continue to be the Home of the Brave and the Land of the Free."

Mr. Shope's Acceptance
"Mr. Chairman, Lt. Commander

Wagner, honored guests, fellow employees:

"Since the end of hostilities on November 11, 1918, we here in America settled back to enjoy what we supposed to be a well-earned peace. In our homes we enjoyed many luxuries that later became necessities of our every-day mode of living. Then came a depression, which caused many of us hardships which, due to our former easy way of life, we thought would be hard to endure. After a comparatively short period of time, prosperity again seemed to be a permanent fixture in our lives.

"December 7, 1941, brought to us a realization that the peace for which we had fought and so dearly cherished had only been a mirage. While selective service officials began induction of the youth of the country into the armed services, Army and Navy production men called upon employees of industries for increased output of materials with which to wage all-out warfare against the aggressor nations. While workmen as a rule are not looked upon as soldiers, still the part which we have to play is one most vital if we are to gain ultimate victory over the enemy.

"I feel that I can speak for the employees of the Titan Metal Manufacturing Company when I say that we have taken our jobs seriously and are doing our utmost to turn our needed materials for our armed forces.

"Lt. Commander Warner, on behalf of the employees of the Titan Metal Manufacturing Co., I accept this Army and Navy 'E' award pin as a military decoration given to civilians in industry for efficiency in production and I promise furthermore that we will wear it honorably and continue our efforts on the production front until we have gained the ultimate victory for which we are all fighting."

Lt. Com. Wagner's Address

"Mr. toastmaster, distinguished guests, officials and employees of the Titan Metal Manufacturing Co., ladies and gentlemen:

"You have brought honor upon your company and upon yourselves, knowing that you have accomplished a great deed in being responsible so that the Titan Metal Manufacturing Company now has the U. S. War and Navy's permission to fly the Army-Navy 'E' from its flagstaff, while each one of you will wear the Army-Navy 'E' insignia which has been awarded to you for excellence and a job that is being well done.

"You are working long and hard hours, and your Army and Navy are asking you to continue in this manner until this fight is won by us. It is always good news to those of us who are serving with the fighting forces of your Army and Navy in all parts of this world to hear that you men and women in these shops are giving them their active and continuous support after all the Army and Navy must have new fighting equipment. In building this equipment, the material that you manufacture here takes a mighty prominent place. The Army-Navy 'E' insignia that you will wear means the same to you as does the Navy 'E' that is worn by the men of the fleets who have won it in competition as you have.

"Gentlemen, today you feel highly honored over your achievement in winning this distinction; however, you will not realize what that

Army-Navy 'E' means to you until this fight is over and your boys come marching home in that victory parade. Then you will look at your Army-Navy 'E' and shout, 'I did my part to make it possible for those boys to come home the winner!'

"Gentlemen, you have won this great honor. You have the Army-Navy 'E,' but from now on you are going to have to roll up your shirt sleeves and really go to work to keep it. However, we are confident that you will continue to deserve this award by maintaining or surpassing your records of the past.

"Through your effort you are doing much to put an end for all times to the use of those fateful words 'Too little and too late.'

"Through your efforts you are bringing nearer the day of victory. Your Army and Navy are asking you to continue in this manner until we chase those ratty rascals in their holes where they belong."
