Brungard; secretary, John W. Showalter; treasurer, William Showalter. An entertainment and hostess committee was composed of Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Helen Speiglemyer. Man Jailed in College Theft

Thursday evening, he entered a plea of guilty to taking a safe containing $53.17 from the Post House and was committed to the County Jail. At the time of his arrest, Bodie had in his possession $112 and two of the money bags which police said were in the safe. He told the officers that on the morning of September 7 he drove his car near the Post House, opened the baggage room in which he knew the safe was kept, and removed the safe. According to the confession, he took the safe to a lonely spot on a ridge near Buffalo Run Valley, opened it, and removed the contents before pushing the safe down the bank. Bodie said no one else was "in on" the burglary. The safe was recovered.

"LA BOHEME" TO BE GIVEN AT COLLEGE THIS FALL

Presentation of an opera by a top-ranking opera company will be a new feature of the annual Artists' Course series given at the Pennsylvania State College this fall. The company of 40, consisting chiefly of personnel from the Metropolitan Opera Company under the management of Charles L. Wagner, will stage Puccini's "La Boheme" in English. A 30-piece orchestra, under the direction of Giuseppe Bamboschek, will accompany the production. Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, chairman of the Artists' Course Committee, said that plans are being completed for three programs in the spring semester. Grandfather Drafted Michael Englehardt, 42-year-old grandfather with one son in the Army and another planning to enlist in the Navy, was among a group of draftees who left St. Marys last week. Nations fight to protect what they have or to grab what others have. Victory gardens will be popular in 1943 and mighty handy for food.

SELECTEES WILL MEET AT YMCA

The "Y" management, in announcing the new facilities for Selectees, points out that Selectees, their families and friends are welcome at the "Y" and that it is desired that the institution become the recognized meeting place for those in the service, or about to enter the service. The Local Draft Board has expressed its appreciation to the "Y" for the new service, particularly in view of the fact that with winter approaching there were no accommodations for the use of Selectees. Up to this time the local "Y" has issued a total of 175 free memberships to men in the service, and it will continue its policy of giving such memberships to all men entering the service from this area.

COLLEGE STUDENT HEALTHIER, SAYS PENN STATE PHYSICIAN

A quarter of a century in attending student health problems has convinced Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, director of the Student Health Service at the Pennsylvania State College, that the average college student is bigger, stronger, and more health-minded than 25 years ago. Dr. Ritenour believes that present college students are attempting to prevent illness instead of waiting until the last moment for treatment. 25 years ago, students would not see their college physician until they were sick. "The primary purpose of the Student Health Service is to get students to visit the Dispensary for regular physical checkups in order to keep them physically and mentally healthy," the health director said. In making his annual report of the Health Service, which is 27 years old, Dr. Ritenour pointed out that during the period of July 1, 1941 to June 30, 1942, there were about 48,000 student visits to the College Dispensary and Infirmary. These figures do not include the compulsory examination of freshmen when they enter Penn State.

A two-weeks short course for training testers for Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Associations will open September 23, according to Charles R. Gearhart, extension dairyman in charge of the short course. Eight positions now are open and applicants should consult their county agent before coming to Penn State, Gearhart said.

SKILLED SINGLE MEN TO BE DEFERRED IF NEEDED

Single men who have acquired skills and experience necessary to the war effort and who can't be replaced will continue to be deferred from military service even if married men are drafted. "As long as the best interests of the government will be served by deferment," Col. B. F. Evans, acting Pennsylvania director, declared yesterday, "single men with essential skills will continue to be deferred." He said the statement that married men will not be called until the available supply of single men is exhausted is correct but pointed out that "if a man is deferred, he is not available for induction into the armed forces."

USS LEXINGTON LAUNCHING TO MARK DRIVE FOR NAVY FLIERS

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, emphasizing the Navy's need for men as well as ships and aircraft if the United States is to win the war at sea, announced Sunday night that a new nation-wide recruiting drive will be conducted in connection with the launching of the new aircraft carrier USS Lexington next Saturday, September 26, 1942. He declared that the enrollment of 5,000 Aviation Cadets and the enlistment of 10,000 more blue jackets than are ordinarily inducted during a two-week period will be sought in a drive beginning Monday and continuing through October 3. Secretary Knox added that the launching of the Lexington, named for a glorious chapter to American naval history here it was lost in the Battle of the Coral Sea four months ago, would in itself be a tremendous inspiration to patriotic Americans who want to serve their country. Enlisted personnel recruited in the campaign, the Secretary explained, will be identified as Lexington Volunteers in tribute to the fighting men of the former Lexington, who smashed the Japs in the Battle of Bougainville, again in the Battle of Lae and Salamaua, and a third time in the Coral Sea. Handsome, appropriately-worded certificates commemorating their enlistment in the Naval service will be issued as a special memento to every man who joins the "Lexington Volunteers." The Aviation Cadets, Secretary Knox added, will be organized into special "squadrons" bearing designations reminiscent of events and places connected with the famous battle which figured so importantly in America's first fight for independence, and for which ships of the Navy named Lexington derived that cognomen. These units will be known officially as the "Lexington Squadron," "Concord Squadron," "Bunker Hill Squadron," and like. Secretary Knox said that where needs of the service permit, the personnel of "squadron" will be kept intact throughout flight training. "Our nation's production of warships and fighting planes will count for nothing without the manpower needed to operate them to make them effective instruments of warfare—instruments to destroy the enemy who is seeking to deprive us of our right to liberty and happiness," the Secretary asserted. "Our navy needs brave men, red-blooded patriots of the type that fought and died at Lexington and at Concord, patriots who love their country, and who serve it as true Americans should. Never in all our history has the call for fighting men to defend our freedom been so urgent as it is today. "The outstanding performance of and devotion to duty displayed by the men of the old Lexington at Bougainville, at Lae and Salamaua, and in the Coral Sea—by our other gallant heroes at Midway, in the Solomon Islands and at Makin—outlines the pattern of victory, and furnishes a shining example of how true Americans should respond in these perilous times when our free institutions are threatened. Officials at the Navy Department in Washington said that every recruiting station and the office of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in the country will begin Monday to accept volunteers for the various Lexington units. Here's where to apply to get into the big Navy aviation program timed to coincide with the launching of the new aircraft carrier USS LEXINGTON. Naval aviation cadets under V-5 program leading to commissions as ensigns—12th floor Widener Bldg., Philadelphia; Postoffices at Allentown, Atlantic City, N. J., Chester, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Reading, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Pittsburgh, Altoona, DuBois, Greensburg, Johnstown, New Castle, Uniontown and Washington, Pa. Midshipmen under V-7 program, which provides deck and engineer officers for aircraft carriers and other craft—17th floor Widener Bldg., Philadelphia; Keystone Hotel Bldg., Pittsburgh. Enlistment for naval aviation, with prospect of ratings paying $74 to $138 a month, plus 50 per cent extra as flight pay, plus keep, after recruit training—900 Custom House, Philadelphia; Postoffice substations at Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Harrisburg, York, Reading, Lancaster, Chester, Wilmington, Williamsport, Allentown, and Atlantic City, N. J.; 308 Old Postoffice Bldg., Pittsburgh; Postoffice substations at Altoona, DuBois, Greensburg, Johnstown, New Castle, Uniontown and Washington, Pa. Men who are at least 18 years of age and who have not yet attained their 27th birthday, and who have at least a high school education, are eligible for flight training. They receive $15 monthly, plus meals, lodging, uniforms and insurance, while Aviation Cadets. Upon qualifying as Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve or Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve their monthly compensation increases to $245 and up. Seven branches of the Naval service are open to enlisted men, comprising 49 different classes of jobs—or ratings. Enlisted ratings are open to men between the ages of 17 and 50 and their monthly base pay ranges from $57 to $138, plus uniforms, food, rental, dependents, allowances and other allowances. Most men who enlist in the Naval service receive automatic promotion with increases in pay after approximately two months of recruit training. Thereafter, they may advance through trade training or through practical experience at sea as rapidly as their ability permits. Physical requirements, it was pointed out at the Navy Department, have been modified recently to permit the enlistment of many men who previously were unable to serve their country because of minor physical deficiencies. It also was explained that training leading to commissions in the U. S. Naval Reserve as deck engineering and special service officers is available to college students and graduates between the ages of 18 and 28 who are able to meet the educational and physical requirements. They may enlist in Class V-1 or Class V-7. Upon meeting requirements, such candidates for commissions receive the same compensation as Midshipmen in the regular Navy while they are in training, and after being commissioned receive the same salary as officers in the regular service.

PENN STATE GRID TEAM TO BE VETERAN ELEVEN

When Penn State opens its 1942 football season against Bucknell in State College on October 3, it seems likely that the Nittany Lions will field a near-veteran outfit. In early drills, only one sophomore has shown enough promise to earn a varsity starting berth. He is Cliff St. Clair, speedy halfback from Johnstown. St. Clair, who holds the Penn State freshman records in the 440 and 880 yard runs, will probably get the nod in the Lion backfield with two juniors and a senior. Sparky Brown, senior tailback from Catawissa, N. Y., is the probable choice at that post, while juniors Jack Banbury from Pittsburgh and Aldo Cenci from Scranton will be the starting fullback and quarterback choices. Coach Bob Higgins will likely use a veteran line against the Bisons, including Wilbur Vart Lenton, senior from Belling and Bob Davis, junior from Monongahela, at ends; Mike Kerns, Lansdowne, and Ken Schmoover, Athens, both seniors, at tackles; Johnny Jaffurs, Wilkesburg, junior, and Bob Pergami, Scranton, senior, at guards; and Lou Palazzi, senior from Dunmore, at center.

Protect the Motor—"the Heart" of these Appliances

The heart of motor-driven electric appliances is, of course, the motor. Keep your appliances healthy by giving the motor special care.

Care of the Motor

- Oil it regularly with good light grade oil. Don't flood it.
- Don't overload the motor. Too stiff batter may harm your food mixer motor; too many clothes may overload your washer; don't use the fast freezing position on your refrigerator constantly.
- If some mechanical part of a motor-driven appliance stalls, disconnect the electricity immediately. Otherwise the motor may burn up.

Proper oiling routine is the big "must."

Your Service Dealer Suggests You Avoid Needless Expense by—

- 1—Making minor repairs yourself
- 2—Taking appliances to his shop when possible
- 3—Calling him promptly when needed
- 4—Having all your appliances checked when he comes
