Council Studies Lime Dust, Rats

(Continued from page one) or, but additional ones of that type are not available because of war priorities, it was reported. The special committee reported that the citizens' committee organized some time ago to work with Council in eliminating lime dust, has not named official representatives at this time and that to date the committee has not taken any further active part in the drive to eliminate the nuisance.

Residents of the Coleville area who have been complaining to Bellefonte Council about lime dust, were referred to the County Commissioners since local Councilmen have no jurisdiction outside the borough, the committee spokesmen said.

Because of the abandonment of the Pike Quarry dump just north of town some months ago, the hundreds of rats which infested the quarry are beginning to run short of food and residents of the area report the rats are leaving the quarry to forage elsewhere. Gardens in the area have been raided and badly damaged by rats, while the rodents are beginning to enter homes and other buildings, it was reported.

After discussing the matter of responsibility for the rat hordes, Council took preliminary steps to employ an exterminator to destroy the rats in the area.

Final passage of the ordinance vacating the section of Lamb street between Locust alley and Spring street was postponed until next meeting because several minor matters have not been definitely decided by Council and the school board.

Both matters are to be investigated.

A surface water problem on North Allegheny street is to be investigated by the Street Committee.

Council approved construction of a small fireproof building at the rear of the Plaza theatre for use in storing coal. The secretary of Council was instructed to warn at least three Bellefonte property owners unless they cut the weeds on their properties immediately, the borough will cut the weeds and bill the owners for costs plus a penalty.

Collect Over 200 Tons of Scrap

(Continued from page one) op Corner with the German hewitzer from the College between them. One afternoon's collection by the kids, including those from Millbrook, Linden Pine Grove Mills, Oak Hall, Linden Hall, and Boalsburg netted sufficient scrap to bulge the bins in Chambers John Henzley's drive.

Through Tuesday the Pennsylvania State College itself had gathered 20 tons of scrap, three days before its most intensive drive was to begin.

The Snow Shoe district, under the direction of Chairman Ira Hall, rounded up over 12 tons of scrap, largely metal, with much more still on the way. Snow Shoe borough had six tons, Clarence two tons, Burnside township and Pine Glen another two tons. The drive in this district was held on Wednesday with collections being made by W. B. Hall and Son's trucks.

Still unexplored are two dumps, thought to be practically gold mines of scrap, while the Cherry Run Coal Company expects to find and sell 20 more tons of metal which will all go to boost the Centre county quota.

In several days more, it is expected, will be heaping up quantities of salvage materials, while its chairman, Miss Margaret Stere, Bellefonte secretary, borrows her brother's truck each evening to go "scrap hunting."

Friday saw the Millheim district—Millheim, Harrisburg and Miles township—under direction of Sumner Frankenberg of Millheim, contributing approximately ten tons, much of it in long unused metal objects from farms. In an all day, house-to-house canvass by trucks.

On the next day, Howard borough and township, Curtin and Liberty townships came through with 3 tons of scrap. Junior Commandos, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Baker Weber and the schools, did the trick, giving away for ten pounds of scrap so many tickets for a student council movie that accurate count was lost.

Blanchard, Monument, and Orviston in that district also came through with large quantities of scrap.

According to County Chairman Kennard, new sources of scrap metal to feed war-hungry steel furnaces are being found daily in the county.

It is expected that an estimated 30 tons of cast iron pipe with joints of much-needed lead, lying unused in the ground at the old Scotia pits, will find their way soon to the scrap heap of the steel industry—approximately enough, since the pipe was left there by A. George Carnegie's workmen when the iron pits shut down years ago.

Salvage officials also are asking township supervisors to contribute two unused iron bridges from the Port Matilda district or to sell them and give credit to the County Salvage Committee.

Aaron D. Lettzell, superintendent of highways in the county, asked earlier this week that farm home residents place all scrap in front of their homes along the highway sometime this week for collection by highway caretakers who will pick it up and store it in their tool boxes to be picked up by Highway Department trucks during the first three days of next week.

Becomes Bride (Continued from page one) officer's training course at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, and recently was commissioned a second lieutenant. About one year ago he was awarded a soldiers' medal for heroism displayed in saving a fellow soldier's life while on maneuvers in New York State.

After spending several days with the bride's parents in Clarence, Lt. and Mrs. Cella went to Philadelphia for a visit with the former's parents, Friday, Lt. Cella departed for Camp Beale, California, where he will be stationed, while Mrs. Cella returned to her position in Harrisburg. About the middle of October she expects to join her husband in California.

Two new members accepted into the organization were Mrs. Louise O'Donnell and Miss Helen Jenkins. The guest was Miss Gertrude Osman. Chairmen named at the session were: Mrs. Paul Carner, cards; Mrs. Eberhart, housing; and Mrs. Leslie Thomas, publicity. After the business session a social hour was held and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held in October at the home of Mrs. Leslie Thomas on South Thomas street, with Mrs. Philip Wion as program chairman.

USO Campaign Exceeds Quota (Continued from page one) Of the total net receipts 90 per cent, or approximately $2,700 is to be sent to the National USO Headquarters in New York. The remaining 10 per cent, or about $300 is to be retained here to finance the local USO program.

The Bellefonte USO has agreed to purchase coffee and doughnuts to be served to selectees from Board No. 2 at the Y. M. C. A. while they are waiting for trains to take them to induction centers. Various local organizations have agreed to prepare and serve the refreshments.

Mr. Plumb in commenting upon the successful campaign just ended, declared that it was the hundreds of small contributions, not the few comparatively large ones that put the campaign over the top. The host of persons who gave amounts ranging from ten cents to several dollars are the ones who made the drive a success it was, Mr. Plumb said.

Receives Commission Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Dunkleberger, of East Howard street, received word that their son, Roy Dunkleberger, has graduated from an Officers' Candidate School at Ft.
