

CENTRE HALL AND VICINITY

WINS FIRST PRIZE IN NATIONAL POETRY CONTEST

A unique honor has come to this community through the recent winning of first prize by Harvey W. Flink for his poem, "Old Couple Cutting Off Corn," in the "Muse of 1942" contest. Judges were the distinguished Julia Goddard, author and poet, and Clement Wood, poet, author and lecturer.

As an award, the contest sponsors, Horizon House, New York City, will publish a book of Mr. Flink's individual poems, for which he will receive all the royalties. The winning poem will appear in "The Muse of 1942" and also in the December issue of "The Kansas City Poetry Magazine."

FLINK IS SPEAKER AT WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

"Mozart's Symphony in G Minor" was the subject by Harvey Flink in a talk to the Music Section of Centre Hall Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. David I. Graybill, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Flink used anecdotes and other facts from Mozart's life to supplement his explanation of the technical details of the symphony. Two auditions of the recorded symphony followed, the first with explanatory interruptions, the second for appreciation.
