

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

This Thursday evening the surviving members of the old Bellefonte Fenibles, which was organized in 1858, will hold a reunion in the Gregg Post rooms. About one half the members are still living. Gov. Curtin was captain of the organization when it was organized.

J. D. Murray of Centre Hall raised a tomato that measured 18 inches in circumference and six inches in diameter. He is likely to take a prize with the monster, as a number of awards from $500 down to $10 are offered by Mr. Henderson, seedman of New York for the largest tomatoes.

The Salisbury, Md., Standard says W. P. Humes, of Bellefonte, was in that vicinity last week looking after his mineral interests. Humes owns about 6,000 acres of mountain land, a few miles west of that town, which is underlain with valuable deposits of coal and fire clay. J. N. Davis reports the finding of several large veins of coal on the tract, which he says will be shafted in the near future.

The Millheim band returned from Altoona on Friday evening's train and a large crowd gathered around where they were treated to a fine serenade. Ex-Recorder Harter, the leader, has an excellent band and their renditions pleased all. Editor Buhmler distinguished himself by playing a beautiful baritone solo. He is one of the few newspaper men who "can blow his own horn," as he does it well.

George R. Meek's Colossal Operatic Mountain City League Minstrel Combination meets several nights each week for rehearsals. They will cause a great sensation when they break loose upon an innocent and unsophisticated populace with their elaborate array of talent that will interpose and enliven the gorgeously arranged program. This elaborate feast of pure and unadulterated minstrelsy will soon appear in Garman's Opera House.

F. E. Naginay, the furniture dealer, is closing out his entire stock of furniture at cost. He expects to move from Bellefonte to Athens, Pa., and his entire stock must be sold.

Mr. John Smith, father of William F. Smith, the Democratic candidate for Prothonotary, died at his home in Millheim last week.

The Lutherans of Spring Mills have organized a new congregation and made application for admission to the Centre Hall charge. In the future they will make a move for the erection of a house of worship.

There is much dissatisfaction among the fishermen of the state on account of the many loose places in the fish laws and when the next legislature convenes a new bill prepared by a number of sportsmen will be presented. The fishermen want the law changed to eliminate these points. They want the salaries of the fish wardens raised so they can devote their time to prosecution of violators of the law, they want outline fish free to all, and the heaviest fines on those who explode dynamite in the rivers and those who run sawdust and alkali into the streams. They would also recommend that the trout catching season be extended from April 1 to August 1, instead of April 15 to July 15.

While adjusting the machinery at the Cleveland Bakery, Harry Emig, head baker, had his right hand caught in some gears and the end of the first finger was severed.

Bellefonte was well represented at a Schuman Heink concert in Williamsport. Although Madame Heink was past seventy years of age her renditions were well received by a large audience.

A. G. Morris, veteran limestone operator, was to observe his 88th birthday on November 6 with a dinner at his home. Despite his age, Mr. Morris took an active interest in his business enterprises and was held in high regard by his associates and employees.

Two fires, supposedly of incendiary origin, were discovered at about the same time in the alley between Linn and Curtin streets. The fires destroyed the large barn at the Margaret Rorer property and the barn at the rear of the Miles Walker home, entailing a loss estimated at nearly $5,000. Part of the loss was covered by insurance.

The annual Academy masquerade was held Friday evening in the Academy assembly hall, with the Academy orchestra furnishing the music. Prizes were awarded as follows: prettiest lady costume, Magdalene Sunday; second prettiest, Mary Evey; most novel costume, Margaret Rorer; handsomest boy costume, James Sweetwood; comic costume, Oliver Boyd; most original, Wallace Hite.

A large action photograph of a play in the first game of the championship play-offs in the Tri-County Baseball League this fall in which Bellefonte defeated Pleasant Gap is on display in the window of the DeHaas Electric Company. The picture shows Mazullo of the local team sliding into first base ahead of the ball thrown by Price, the Pleasant Gap pitcher to Whitehill, the Gap first baseman. Paul Walizer, one of the umpires in the series is shown running across the diamond for a close look at the play. The trophy emblematic of the League Championship is also on display in the window.

Employees of the Bellefonte post-office were entertained at a chicken and waffle supper at the Masonic camp near Snow Shoe Intersection by Postmaster John L. Knisely. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Knisely, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hartwick, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shoenberger, Mr. and Mrs. John Hartwick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woodring, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. John Garthoff, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ardery, Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reasick, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Meese, Mr. and Mrs. John Spenary, and Betty and Dick Hartwick, and the "Hon." George Knisely, who prepared the supper.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Reuben J. Snavely and Ellen J. Fryer, both of Coburn; A. H. Shreckengast, Millheim, and Mary Fulton, Gregg Twp.; William B. Pletcher and Mary K. Pletcher, both of Howard Twp.; Hugh S. Alexander, Peters Mills, and Kate C. Smith, Pine Grove Mills; Daniel McKinley and Carrie Kirk, both of Milesburg; Terence McAlarney, Altoona, and Jennie Bennett, Unionville; Irvin M. Burris, Woodward, and Minnie Stover, Farmers Mills; John Hartsock and Fannie Poorman, both of Bellefonte; William B. Hill and Eliza Thompson, both of Snow Shoe.

A movement is on foot we understand, to revive the county fair, which went out of existence some dozen years ago, from mismanagement. A large county fair, rich in its agricultural, mineral and lumber interests, should and can support a creditable fair under proper management. The movement now on foot contemplates the location at Huntzinger Park, along the Bellefonte Railroad. A fair, to be a success, must be run to please the public by legitimate attractions, and should be conducted by men of fit qualifications and devoid of petty spite and a low disposition of grab. There are few, if any, counties in the State without a county fair, and this county should not be without one.

Twenty Years Ago

The Elaine Rumberger home at Steamtown was completely destroyed by fire. So rapidly did the flames spread after their discovery that it was impossible to save any of the household furnishings. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The dwelling of George Davy at Blanchard, was destroyed by fire which was believed to have been caused by a defective chimney. Neighbors were able to save most of the household goods, but they were unable to make any headway in battling the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Baney entertained at a Halloween party for their daughter, Elizabeth. Guests were: Betty Musser, Mary Funk, Mary Elizabeth Sloop, Dorothy Wilkinson, Pearl Shoppe, Larue Schaeffer, Rachel Meckley, Mary Robb, Mary Parrish, Martha Chambers, Marie Chandler, Margaret Davis and Margaret Smith.

While several Milesburg youngsters were engaged in rough play in front of the postoffice at that place, Milford Dunkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunkle, suffered a fracture of a bone in the right ankle. The injury resulted when Dunkle fell and several of the other boys pounded on him. He was brought to a Bellefonte physician's office for treatment.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: William H. Storer and Emma E. Igen, both of Centre Hall; Nerr D. Weaver and Edna M. McDowell, both of Asemann; George S. Kellerman and Mary C. Thal, both of Bellefonte; John R. Paor and Edna R. Paiker, both of State College; Clarence E. Phillips, Mitty, and Zeldia B. Day, Millheim.

A number of little friends of Miss Margaret Hassinger were entertained at a Halloween party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hassinger, on East Curtin street. Those present included: Mary Gertrude Barlett, Caroline Brouse, Amy Heilbeck, Isabel Jodon, Mary E. Harvey, Jean Herron, Barbara Sloop, Erma Sloop, Florence Smith, Laura Albin, Margaret Barnhart, Kathryn Barnhart, Kathryn Kilpatrick, Dorothy Smith and Elaine Alters.

Miss Madeline Stover and Miss Louise Abt of Bellefonte, were injured painfully Saturday afternoon when the glass in the front door of the McCrory 5c and 10c store broke. The girls were going out of the store when the door struck its stop with such force that the glass was broken and they were showered with falling glass. Miss Stover received a deep gash on the forehead while Miss Abt was cut near the temple. Both girls were taken to a physician's office for treatment.

Old fashioned husking bees have been received by students at the Pennsylvania State College to aid farmers who are short of labor during harvest time. Men and women who have never lived or worked on a farm have gone out to farms on weekends to help the farmer cut and husk his corn, build foundations, can corn, thresh oats and wheat, and even take care of babies while mothers work in the field. This project has attracted over 100 students who want to "relax from studies and get a few blisters on their hands." The farmers are recommended by the local county representative and Farm Security Administration.

Looking himself in the bathroom and then crying for 15 minutes, Johnny Dillo, 20-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dillo of State College, forced his mother to call the Alpha Fire Company last Wednesday afternoon to release him. John Neff and Bob Edmiston, firemen, drove a fire truck out to Johnny's home on East Fairmount street, climbed a ladder to the window, and unlocked the door for him. Forgetting his former plight, Johnny stopped crying and went to the window to watch the firemen as they removed the ladder.

PORT MATILDA

The Port Matilda neighborhood Garden Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. W. Shultz, in Port Matilda, on Thursday afternoon.

This being the fourth anniversary of the club, the program was carried on as a Birthday party. The decorations were in keeping with the Halloween season. The guests were greeted on arriving by the traditional ghost. At this party the following guests were entertained: Mrs. W. S. Crain representing the Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church; Mrs. Ellis Auman, representing the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church; Mrs. F. S. Bish, representing the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church, and Mrs. E. B. Bartley, representing the Rebekah Lodge.

The meeting was opened with the Flag Salute, during the roll call a weird Halloween story was read, the members making noises of the different animals in the story.

Mrs. Harry Marshall acted as master of ceremonies and presented the president of the club, Mrs. C. A. Weaver, who in a short talk reviewed the organization of the club and some of the outstanding things that have been accomplished by the club during the four years. The club was organized by Mrs. W. J. Emerick and Mrs. George Bezer, of Bellefonte, on October 20, 1938. The minutes of the club's first meeting was read by the secretary, Mrs. Jean Geanamer. A skill, entitled "The Home Maker Yesterday and Today" was presented by Mrs. Roy Knarr.

The youngest member of the club, Miss Gladys Weston, read "Sunlight" "Portrait of a Neighbor," by Edna St. Vincent Millay. Miss Weston also sang as a solo "Home on the Range."

The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" closed the program, after which the members were invited to visit the club portrait gallery, which consisted of pictures cut from magazines of objects that represented each one's special talent. Other Halloween games were played.

The following officers were elected to serve for two years: president, Mrs. Harry Marshall; vice president, Mrs. Roy Knarr; secretary, Mrs. Jean Geanamer; and treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Garner.

Following the program the hostess served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Floyd Garner, Mrs. Lee Meek, Mrs. Robert Reed, Mrs. Lester Stevens, Mrs. Chester Eves, of Stormstown, Mrs. Roy Knarr, Mrs. Jean Geanamer, Martha, Mrs. Ellis Auman, Mrs. F. S. Bish, Mrs. George P. Hoover, Mrs. Howard Robinson, Mrs. Harry Marshall, Mrs. C. M. Pringle, Mrs. Ira Lane, Miss Gladys Weston, Mrs. W. S. Crain, Mrs. E. Bartley, and Mrs. C. A. Weaver.
