

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

A stone from a slingshot struck Willie Brouse on the temple on Monday, while he was playing in the school yard. It cut an artery that bled freely for some time and it was difficult to stop. The slingshot is a nuisance. Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Reuben J. Snavely and Ellen J. Fryer, both of Coburn; Allen J. Everett, Coburn, and Eva A. Wetzel, Millheim; T. E. Vonada and A. Vonada, both of Harris township; William Cunningham Jr. and Bertha K. Forchey, both of Phillipsburg; William B. Comer and Mattie Huly, both of Spring township; W. H. Derstine, Bellefonte, and Ella Linn, Snow Shoe; Henry O. Feldler and Dorsey M. Musser, both of Feldler. Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Dunham had the misfortune to lose both their children by death last week. Willie, aged 6 years, was the first called for by the Death Angel on October 28, 1892, death resulting from kidney complications, effects of diphtheria from which he had recovered. The other child, Verda, aged 8 years, was called home on October 29th. She was sick only six hours with a violent type of diphtheria, but bore her intense sufferings with great patience. They were both laid to rest in the cemetery at Howard, this county, in the presence of many friends. Mrs. Walker's boarding house at Clarence was destroyed by fire on Sunday. A sewer pipe leading from the pipe at the court house is being laid this week. The new sign, a large clock on the corner at Blair's jewelry store, is not a dummy, but a genuine time-keeper. The hands move. Deer hunting does not appear to pan out as well this year as formerly. Very few have been killed this season by our hunters. The slate roof on the Lutheran church was completed this week, and the scaffolding torn away. The building will be completed this fall. Henry Gentzel's new barn, in Spring township, which is to take the place of the one destroyed by fire last summer, will be raised this Thursday on the foundation of the former building. On Monday evening at about 9:30 o'clock smoke was discovered coming from the cellar under Bauer's grocery store, on Allegheny street. The alarm brought the fire department to the scene in short order, and four streams from the engines and the plugs were turned in the cellar. It was necessary to effect an entrance through the rear of the building and by going down the steps amid dense clouds of smoke the fire was located among a lot of oil barrels and along the joists of the floor. A well-directed stream soon extinguished it and all danger was over. The store room goods were badly damaged by smoke. Ed Garman's store and Joseph Brothers carpet stores suffered some damage from smoke. The Pearl family, on the second and third floors of the building, had their household goods badly damaged by smoke. All par-

Over the County News

Although Centre County experienced sudden cold weather last week temperatures have not been so low as in previous years, according to Dr. H. S. Neuberger, Penn State College meteorologist. The lowest average temperature for October is 26 degrees, which is 1 degree lower than last week's low temperature of 27. The lowest recorded temperature for October was 12 degrees in 1887. C. H. Eungard implement dealer of Spring Mills, last week returned from a hunting expedition to the West. Mr. Eungard accompanied two Union County friends, Maynard Reitz, of Winfield, and Dr. Peter Shwalter, of Millburg, and they went by motor. The party hunted elk in Montana, riding about 18 miles into the mountains on horseback, and each one successfully downing a specimen of this game animal, which Mr. Eungard says are very plentiful. They also bagged a bear and two white goats. From there they went down into Wyoming and each shot an antelope, and also "knocked off" a coyote. The three were "academically" marked a pleasant episode for Mr. Eungard and he says he is ready to repeat the experience at any time. The white deer (albino) that had been seen of and on for the past several years, are again in the vicinity of their old stamping grounds near Millheim. Perhaps four or five years ago a white deer was seen near two white oak and brown one there. Two years ago, two white deer were seen by hunters and others. Last Saturday morning, the white one, accompanied by seven or eight others in the Brown fields north of Millheim. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bob saw the white one with another regular coloring, on the ridge back of the Davis camp. It is not known whether or not the one being seen now is a buck or doe. In any event, hunters look upon the killing of an Albino as a piece of bad luck, so it is probable the white

Mrs. Irene Womelander and son Nevin of Beech Creek, Mrs. Maude Weaver, Mrs. Helen Carner and daughter Phyllis of Hubersburg, visited at the Winfield Deitz home, Sunday. Late Saturday night of last week one of our young girls of this community was called to her heavenly home. Arlene Swoope, age 14, daughter of Elmer Swoope, a freshman in the Howard High School, was suddenly snuffed of life in a collision near her home. It is believed that death came instantly. Burial was made in the local cemetery on Wednesday, with the Rev. Wm. Gulick officiating. Arlene will be greatly missed in the community and among her school associates, having been of the type of girl who seemed to be gifted in several and varied abilities. To the griefed family who remain we extend our deepest and heartfelt sympathy.

Sunday School Lesson

CHRISTIAN NURTURE IN THE FAMILY International Sunday School Lesson for November 8, 1942. Golden Text: "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."—Proverbs 22: 6. Lesson Text: Deut. 6: 4-9; 20-25; 2 Timothy 3: 14-15. Of the three institutions which form the basis of modern society, the home, the school and the church, it can be safely said that the home is the most important, because as the home succeeds or fails, the others follow. The trend of the past decade or two, away from the home as a center of family life has had its noticeable effects on society as a whole. It is well, then, that we turn our serious consideration to a discussion such as this. In order that the influence of the home shall be Christian, it is obvious that one or both of the parents establishing the home must be professing Christians. The Scripture passages chosen for our study, although written so long ago, still impress the lesson of parental responsibility for the religious education of their children. Too often today, parents depend entirely on the few minutes their children spend in a Sunday school, for the children's entire religious education. The hour once a week, if child attends regularly, is hardly enough instruction to give a child much understanding of his or her religious responsibilities. The Jews were commanded to "diligently" teach religious truths to their children. They were to explain to them what the commandments of God mean and what their significance for them was. They were to tell their children about the history of Israel, about the goodness of God to the Israelites in delivering them from the hand of Pharaoh, and they were to teach their children to "love Jehovah thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might." It is obvious, however, that parents cannot teach their children what they themselves do not know. Without seeming to judge, it is apparent that there are many par-

BLANCHARD

(From Last Week) An unidentified man driving through our town early Sunday morning believed in practicing the slogan "Prevent Forest Fires." He aroused R. J. Spangler, fire warden, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning saying there was a forest fire on Marsh Creek. The fire warden and Lloyd Spangler responded to the alarm and found the fire on Schmick's property on lower Marsh Creek. After about two hours of fighting the fire was under control, having burned over about an acre. Strange as it may seem, the man who aroused the fire warden is still unidentified but his timely alarm saved much time and money. Guests at the M. C. Bowman home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, of Lock Haven. Mrs. Millie Campbell is reported as being on the sick list at present. We understand that Cupid is again working in our town. During the weekend Pauline Eaton became Mrs. Coffey. As Lloyd Spangler has been inducted into military service, leaving her trailer on Oct. 31, his sister, Mrs. D. M. Bradford, and daughter, had a farewell party in his honor on Saturday night at her home. The guests were mainly relatives and were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sherman and family, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Spangler and family, Lloyd Spangler, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Spangler and family, Bruce Johnson, R. D. Spangler and daughter Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Spangler, Mrs. Tacie DeHaas, Mrs. Sadie DeHaas and Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Bathurst and family, Mrs. Tillie Gungalsil and daughter Violet, Miss Gertrude DeHaas, Dale Spangler, Walter Davey, Charles Williams and Ronald Hendricks, all of Blanchard, and Pvt. Paul Gardner, stationed at Quantico, Va. The following guests all came from Lock Haven: Mr. and Mrs. Ira Council and grandson Ira, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis DeHaas, James Yeager, and Mrs. Cella Seymour and family. Lloyd received a substantial purse as a parting gift. Mrs. Susan Kunes on last Tuesday entertained Mrs. Lizzie Hood of Ohio, and Mrs. Elsie Kidwell, of Blundsville. Pvt. Paul Gardner, with the Marines at Quantico, Va., arrived home on Saturday to spend the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Lulu Gardner. Mrs. Madeline Harter was called to her home in Bellwood, last Wednesday, due to the sudden death of her mother. The sincere sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Harter. Twenty Years Ago

Dr. G. I. Yearick, practicing physician at Centre Hall, had accepted a government position as medical examiner in the Veterans' Hospital, Pittsburgh. Betty Freeman, aged four years, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, housekeeper at a State College fraternity, suffered a triple fracture of the right leg when she darted out in the street in front of a car. The child was brought to the Bellefonte hospital for treatment. Miss Helen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Smith, was elected "Harvest Queen" for the annual Halloween celebration sponsored by the Bellefonte Elks. Other contestants who finished and received honorable mention were: Henrietta Nolan, Mildred Gungalsil, Mary Pickle, and Anna Eckel. Two men were killed and four other persons were seriously injured Sunday, when a car in which they were riding plunged through a fence at the Gillentown bridge and fell 35 feet to the New York Central tracks below, landing upside down and pinning the occupants underneath. The dead were Mike Billie, 26, of Snow Shoe, who died at the Bellefonte hospital three hours after the accident, and John DiSalvo, of Bellefonte, who lived until the following day. The injured, all of whom were brought to the hospital here, were: John Mangino, of Snow Shoe; Mrs. John Mangino; Peter Mangino, Bellefonte shoemaker, and Joseph Rosa. The machine was owned and driven by Peter Mangino.

OUR SIDESHOW

Reports had it that when the little bridge above Lemont was closed to the public Jesse Klingner, currently the detour bridge keeper, telephoned the county commissioners and declared that for $80 he would throw the bridge open to the free use of the public. The Commissioners told the man that was too high. As a result Mr. Klingner collected tolls and reports were to the effect that the total taken in was several thousand dollars. Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: George Stere and Marjorie B. Fetzer, both of Flemington; Howard L. Stuart and Mary L. Kidder, both of State College; Robert M. Ward, of Glen Riches, and Florence A. Price, of Blountington; Robt. C. Clevenstine and Clara A. Gentzel, both of Zion; Gasper Shutika and Caroline Tupa, both of Clarence; Harry E. Frey, Binghamton, N. Y., and Elizabeth A. Martin, Bellefonte; Donald A. Spiser and Julia Shaffer, both of Bellefonte; William P. Osman, Spring Mills, and Verna A. Brown, Curwensville.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

BY W. W. REID. Clergymen should perhaps go out on the highways, Baptists Convention, carry the message of the church to the people instead of always expecting the people to go to the minister and to the church, according to the Archbishop of Canterbury, speaking recently to English church leaders. At the present time, this may include services in motion pictures where there is a widespread feeling that we must consider how to bridge the gap between traditional habits of worship and the minds of the people," the Archbishop said. "Our task in public worship is to lead worship for the people in the way they most easily and advantageously follow." The late Miss Emily Swan Perkins of Riverdale-on-the-Hudson, New York, composer of a number of modern hymn tunes used by many denominations, and a patroness of church musical arts, in 1922 gathered about her a notable group of writers and composers of hymns and hymn tunes, she planned to "produce better music and hymns in the Christian churches." Out of that gathering has grown the Hymn Society of America which on November 15 and 16, in New York City, will celebrate its twentieth anniversary. On its program will be Dr. John Haynes Holmes, author of "The Voice is Calling" and other hymns; Dean Earl Marriott, of Boston, who wrote "Are Ye Able?"; Dr. William P. Merrill, author of "Rise Up, O Men of God"; Dean Howard Chandler Robbins of Washington; Dr. Beth Bingham, organist; Dr. David McK. Williams, composer; and others. Christian missionaries have helped build "reservoir of friendship and goodwill" for America throughout the world, Wendell Willkie told the nation by radio last week. "At the top of this list (of things that have created this reservoir) go the hospitals, schools and colleges which have Americans—many of them missionaries—have founded in the far corners of the world. Many of the new leaders of old countries—men who are today running Iraq, or Turkey, or China—have studied under American teachers whose only interest has been to spread knowledge. Now, in our time of crisis, we owe a great debt to these men and women who have made friends for us."
