

Postoffice Urges Early Mailing

Postmaster Asks That Packages Be Sent 20 to 25 Days Before Christmas

Anticipating the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of mail at home and abroad, Postmaster George R. Meek yesterday issued a plea that mailings be started twenty to twenty-five days before Christmas, depending on the distance to the point of delivery.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the Postoffice Department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken by the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning.

The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York Postoffice reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The Postoffice Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions, during the First World War. It can succeed in those efforts—and avoid many heart aches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

Pneumonia Fatal to Man Who Killed Wife

struck his wife over the head and shoulders with an axe, he told surgeons at the hospital that he wanted to "finish the job" by taking his own life, and told Pvt. Richardson and other officers after his wounds had been repaired that he had planned the murder beforehand and that he had warned his wife he would kill her if she didn't quit "nagging" at him.

He freely admitted that he attacked her with a short-handled pole-axe while she was engaged in milking in the tiny cowshed on the little mine property the family occupied in lonely Mulligan Hollow, a short distance from Osceola Mills. He didn't deny the testimony of his little grandchildren, who said they saw him slink to the cowshed and strike with the axe while his wife's back was turned.

Kadash and his slain wife are survived by twelve children. Mrs. Kadash, 67, was buried at Hawk Run last Thursday. Her husband was buried in the same cemetery on Tuesday, writing the final chapter to the family's tragic funeral.

County Exceeds War Bond Quota

In announcing a 10 per cent Payroll Deduction drive for Centre county during the week beginning November 23, Claude G. Aikens, of State College, chairman of the county War Savings Staff, yesterday reported that the county exceeded its October quota of War Bond sales by nearly $28,000.

The quota for October was $169,600 and total sales were $194,513.75, Mr. Aikens said. The county quota for November is $174,930.

To aid the county War Savings Staff in the Payroll Deduction campaign next week Mr. Aikens has named Mrs. Magdalene C. Thompson, of Bellefonte, as women's chairman of the War Savings Staff. Mrs. Thompson has selected a chairman from each community of the county, who in turn will select their own committees. It will be the purpose of the women's organization to aid in making every citizen and every family War Bond buying-conscious.

Mrs. Thompson's local chairmen are: Mrs. Wallace J. Ward and Mrs. James Craig, Bellefonte; Mrs. J. T. Storch and Mrs. Carroll Champlin, State College; Mrs. James Adams, Phillipsburg; Mrs. Edward Harris, Snow Shoe; Miss Nell Weber, Howard; Mrs. Frank Goodhart, Centre Hall; Mrs. Curtis Watts, Spring Mills; Mrs. Randall Miller, Millheim; Mrs. Ben Nicodemus, Port Matilda; Mrs. Thompson Henry, State College; Mrs. Elva Sharpless, Sandy Ridge; Mrs. Olive Burns, Osceola Mills; Miss Zoe Meek, Clarence; Mrs. Milton Kunes, Blanchard; Mrs. Joe Smead, Orviston; Mrs. C. C. Galbraith, Monument; Mrs. Lewis Peters and Mrs. Leonard Glenn, Milesburg; Mrs. George Magarrel, Pleasant Gap; Mrs. William D. Shaffer, Zionsville; Mrs. Walter Weaver, Lemont; Mrs. Frank Gardner, Boalsburg; Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Potters Mills; Mrs. Randall Meyer, Coburn; Mrs. John Reich, Rebersburg; Mrs. Mary Krape, Aaronsburg; and Mrs. George Bullock, Unionville.

The 10 per cent Payroll Deduction Week drive will be spearheaded by the district leaders of the county staff, as follows: Bellefonte, Horace J. Hartranft; Howard, W. K. McDowell; Port Matilda, William A. Ross; Phillipsburg, John Lux; Snow Shoe-Clarence, W. Clair Hall; State College, H. R. Gilbert; Centre Hall, Frank V. Goodhart; Spring Mills, H. F. Erdley, and Millheim, J. Randall Miller.

The adoption of the 10 per cent Payroll War Savings Plan for the purchase of War Bonds in Centre county has been far from an unheralded per cent success to date. Mr. Aikens pointed out in an interview. The objective of next week's campaign is to place every firm in the county on the payroll deduction plan up to at least 10 per cent of gross payroll.

The national goal of ten per cent of all earnings invested in war bonds is within sight, but it will take determined effort by every citizen of the nation to reach the goal. During the first five months of the quota system the total quotas for the nation were $3,990,000,000 and total sales were $3,742,000,000, or 93.7 per cent of the quotas. Before New Year's Day it is hoped that the nation will be meeting or exceeding its monthly war bond quotas regularly. The drive next week will be Centre county's share in this national effort.

County workers whose bond deductions do not amount to ten per cent will be asked to increase them to at least that figure. Those not buying bonds through payroll savings will be urged to join the ranks of those who are regularly investing in the preservation of the American way of life.

Recent United Nations successes on the world's battlefronts in no way lessen the need for a steady flow of money into the nation's coffers, for the battle has just begun. Any failure to provide funds now may bring disastrous failure on the field of battle and turn victory into the hopeless cry of the earlier months of the war—"Too Little, Too Late."

War Courses To Be Taught Here

Public Urged to Register For Free Training For Important Positions

There's work to be done before this war is brought to a victorious conclusion, and in the opinion of many Washington officials, even hitherto unemployed women may be required to go into industry before a United Nations' triumph is assured. It is upon this basis, therefore, that the women of Bellefonte and other towns and cities of the state are being asked to prepare themselves beforehand for vital jobs in America's war plants.

As the official agency of the United States Office of Education in Centre county and other counties in the commonwealth, the Pennsylvania State College extension services will open classes in Bellefonte next week for a series of seven war-needed training courses. Upon the response of the public will depend the breadth and scope of this training, and the first opportunity for the public to demonstrate its interest will be provided Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The College, under the direction of Lynn R. Daugherty, assistant district representative, will open registration to the public at the high school on both nights, beginning at 7 o'clock and continuing until 9:30 o'clock. Henry Fraser, a member of the high school faculty, has been named administrative head of the local war training center and, with the assistance of College officials, will preside at both registration periods.

The courses, which are offered tuition-free to the public, will equip persons for immediate employment in war industries and, as in the past, will be open to both men and women. Any person with a high school education or its equivalent in practical experience, is eligible for the training. Classes will be held two nights a week, for a period of fourteen weeks and, except for opening weeks, the classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights. The first class will be held on Friday night, November 27.

Courses in which training will be offered, according to Mr. Daugherty, are Engineering Drafting I and II, office Management, Operations Inspection, Ordnance Inspection, Industrial Accounting, and Office Personnel Management. All courses are closely allied to the war effort and, in the opinion of Mr. Daugherty, will equip a person to accept a job immediately in war industry.

Suggests Plan For Real Peace

Penn State Professor Points Out Four Points Vital to Post-War Era

Public opinion, backed by strong men behind a conference table and not merely idealists and dreamers, will mold the peace after this war, Dr. Henry J. Bruman, assistant professor of geography at the Pennsylvania State College, said today in outlining a four-point peace plan.

Dr. Bruman pointed out that we must start now to think about the terms on which peace can be maintained and listed the following four steps for a lasting peace:

1. A program of re-education and indoctrination for democracy in the conquered countries. To do this will probably take a lifetime, gradually placing into positions of power youth who have been taught the principles of freedom and democracy. This re-education program should have the full cooperation and support of our Department of State and the U. S. Office of Education, Dr. Bruman stated.
2. Military occupation of Germany, Italy, and possibly Hungary, with maintenance of an army of occupation in those countries for at least 8 to 10 years, and perhaps a whole generation during the re-education process.
3. Compulsory military training in the United States for every male citizen to provide sufficient material for the large standing army which would be necessary.
4. Generous boundary allotments to Germany and Japan, and equally generous allotments of sources of adequate raw materials. Germany should be given Austria and the Sudeten Germanies.

"I fervently hope that the powers in Russia and the English-speaking peoples will be able to arrive at a mutually satisfactory agreement regarding the nature of the peace," Dr. Bruman concluded. "If such harmony does not come about, we shall have lost the peace."

Americans are too extravagant. Here they are with an income tax for 1943 that few of them can afford.
