Thanksgiving Day in Beautiful Brush Valley

The observance of the annual Thanksgiving day: One of the outstanding days, faithfully to pray: Young and old; for bountiful blessings received, Knowing well, that God has never deceived.

It is the day, when friends and families meet, When one another very warmly and happily greet: And renew the blessed and happy social fellowship: Life is destined, to indulge in a warm friendship.

Sometimes it appears, which makes it most feared, If prayer for all things, in the heart, is revered: To feast on turkey, only, and God forget, Will cause later, some people, shamefully to regret.

The main objective is, first, God to thank; For all needed blessings—all in one rank: Secondly, to enjoy the real bountiful feast; And renew the social spirit which is not least.

Evidently, at home, many soldier boys will be, And enjoy dear home life, in sweet glee: Dear home life, none will ever forget; The affectionate home life, none wants to neglect.

Dear soldier boys, who, at home, cannot be, Uncle Sam, with turkey will serve, each one free: He has an exceptionally big and kind heart, And from the dear soldier boys, will not depart.

Our free country, the source of Thanksgiving day, In appreciation of it, none should forget to pray; So all hearts become leavened with God's Spirit, And continually have the experience, of its revisit.

HOME is the sweetest word; and Oh, so dear, To everyone, because, parents wiped many a tear: True, that death, broke many a sweet home up, But we are all destined; to partake of bitter cup.

—Edwin S. Bierly, Rebersburg, Pa.

SCOTIA

(By H. M. Williams)

William Saxton, Sr., one of the oldest Scotia residents now living, celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday anniversary on November 12 at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Reed. Quite a few of his relatives came to the Reed home to help him celebrate.

Mrs. J. L. Williams and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dora Williams, spent a couple of days in Bellefonte and vicinity last week visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Showers are the proud parents of a daughter born at the Centre County Hospital last week. This is the second girl to come to the Showers home.

Mrs. Harry Dorman and Mrs. William Stine of Waddie, spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Dora Williams.

Aunt Dora Ghaner, who hasn't been well for the past couple of weeks, is feeling somewhat better at the time of this writing. Quite a few of the folks in our vicinity have been on the sick list with a cold or a bad spell of grippe.

The Grays Methodist church is receiving a new coat of paint inside and there was no Sunday school this Sunday, but it is hoped that will be finished by next Sunday. A new carpet is also being purchased for the church.

Some of the boys in our vicinity were out bear hunting last week, but no bear.

Well, it is beginning to look as if our picnic grounds at Scotia is in the finish as the log cutters from the W. R. Shope lumber mill were there last week cutting logs all around the picnic grounds. A visit there last Saturday by the writer while out hunting shows the place is beginning to look pretty ragged for a picnic ground. Well, folks, don't mind that, there will be a Scotia picnic somewhere around this place next year.

The Pennsylvania Kooline Clay Products Co. have started to build a large loading shed at Waddie. A crew of men have been working there for the past couple weeks getting things in shape for the carpenters to start their part of the job, but when finished will be a great improvement over the former way of loading cars. This company gives employment to quite a number of men in our locality and is under the supervision of R. R. Blair of State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses A. Behrer spent Sunday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregg McGinley of Bellefonte.

Local Soldier Dies In Crash of Bomber

county, in August, 1919. He was graduated from the Bellefonte High School about four years ago and had been employed on the Joel Stover farm at Zion until October 28, 1941, when he was inducted into the army. He was assigned to the Airplane Technical School at Kessler Field, Miss. He was sent to Baltimore, Md., for four weeks of special training.

From there he was assigned to Columbia, S. C., for another four weeks of training, after which he was transferred to Shreveport, La., as a member of the 432nd Bomber Squadron at Barksdale Field.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are these sisters and brothers: Mrs. Walter Wheeland and Dorothy Confer, both of Williamsport; Helen and Martha, at home; Henry and Marvin, at home; Elmer, of Bellefonte; E. D. 2, and Harold, of Williamsport, who is scheduled to enter the Army on November 30.

It is believed that Sgt. Confer was soon to have left this country for foreign service.

SOYBEANS RIPEN LATE IN NORTHERN COUNTIES

Extensive tests of soybeans, a crop that is in wide demand because of a multiplicity of uses both in peace and war, indicate that few if any of the better seed varieties will ripen early enough in central or northern Pennsylvania to combine before October 15.

This date is too late for seeding the ground to wheat, according to C. J. Irvin, of the department of agronomy at the Pennsylvania State College; hence, soybeans do not fit into the customary crop rotations.

Four Sons in Army

Mrs. Mary Metarko, of Bloesburg, has four sons now in the U. S. service and a fifth expects to be inducted soon. George and Andrew Metarko are stationed in New York and John and Francis Metarko are serving with the armed forces in England. Michael recently passed his first physical examination.

Trouble After Nine Years

Accidentally shot in the arm with a pumpkin ball nine years ago, Paul Jordan, Middleburg R. D. 1, never suffered any ill effects from the wound until last week when his arm became ached. The ball had entered the right arm below the elbow and passed without injuring the muscles or bones to a point near the shoulder where it came out, so Jordan knew that the ball could not be bothering him, but an X-ray showed that a gunshot had a half inch long and a quarter inch wide was lodged in the arm at the point of bullet entry.

Four Planes Grounded

Four airplanes were forced down near Ridgway one day last week during a storm. The pilots resumed their flight later when the storm subsided. The planes were said to be consigned for Army use.

Is Seriously Injured

When the car in which he was a passenger sideswiped another car, Stewart Anderson, 28, was seriously injured when thrown from the car. He was admitted to the Geisinger Hospital at Danville, where his injuries were described as a severe laceration to the back of the head, a fracture of the left arm, fractures of several ribs on the left side and shock.

Pvt. McDowell Begins Training. Robert L. McDowell, Jr., of Middleburg, has begun an intensive course in aviation mechanics at Amarillo Field, Texas. The Army Air Forces Technical School, Amarillo Field, Texas, is one of the newest in the Technical Training Command. Its purpose is to train the ace mechanics who keep Uncle Sam's planes flying over the globe.

Shamokin Burgess Hurt. During the recent air raid drill, Chief Burgess George W. Shade, of Shamokin was injured when he fell from the patrol car during an inspection trip. While the patrol car was making a sharp turn around the park plot at Market and Pine streets, the door swung open and the borough executive was catapulted to the street. Extending his arms to absorb the shock of the fall, Shade sustained abrasions of the hands and slight bruises.

KEEP OFF THE LINE. STICK TO HUNTING. The Bell Telephone Company yesterday asked hunters to submerge that urge to call home when they've made a good bag. Wires are clogged as it is with essential war calls.

Don't telephone, the company asks hunters, unless there is a message that can't wait. Such as being mistaken for a deer.
