Pvt. Richard Smith and Donald Barger of Camp Pickett, Va., spent five days' furlough with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Barker.
Miss Louise Pletcher spent several days' last week visiting friends in Clearfield.
Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McCormick visited over the weekend with their son, William and family in Reading.
Miss Viola Boal of Kansas City,

Mo., who had been spending the summer with her aunt, Mrs. J. G. Boal, returned to her home Saturday.
Ralph Stemm and family of Clintondale, spent some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bloom.
Mrs. Tamer Kern has gone to make her home with her niece, Mrs. H. L. Burris, near Centre Hall.
Ignorance is what put the "mist" in chemistry.

Plow Down Fertilizer—Recent experiments prove that plowing down of complete fertilizer, high in phosphorus, permits most effective use of the fertilizer for vegetable crops, report vegetable specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Bees Require Help—Victims of an unfavorable season, the bees will need protection from the cold of the coming winter and food to keep them from starving, say Penn State apiculturists. Packing and wind protection, as well as sugar syrup, are among the needs.

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

On Tuesday evening fire was discovered in J. S. McCarger's stable. The door was broken down and the side of the building was found to be afire. It was a small blaze and easily extinguished. This is the second fire in the same part of the building. Mr. McCarger was away at the time. It must be the work of an incendiary.

An engineer corps has been at work during the past week making a survey for a switch from the P. R. R. tracks, at the roundhouse, to Collins Furnace. It is said that improvements about their stone quarries will soon be made and that the furnace will be put in operation early in the spring.

Bertram Galbraith, our venerable court erier, contracted a severe cold and is unable to attend to his duties this week. Mr. Galbraith is in his 82nd year and has held the position since 1860 when he was appointed by Judge Linn.

On Thanksgiving Day Sheriff Ishler sent his last boarder away and the county jail was empty from that time until this week. This session of court had quite a number of commonwealth cases and a number were sent up on the hill.

On last Friday evening the little child of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyer, of this place, died from pneumonia. It was a little over a year old. The funeral occurred at Zion on Sunday forenoon. The repairs being made on the interior of the Presbyterian church are to be completed by Christmas. Elaborate preparations are being made for the reopening of the building.

Newton S. Bailey expects to leave on the 15th of December to accept his position as city editor of the Williamsport Times, the new daily paper to be started in that city.

Charles Hartsock and Miss Maud Poorman were married at Coleville on last Thursday evening by Rev. Ledy, of the Methodist church. The Model Minstrels played to a large house on Wednesday evening at the opera house.

The general store of A. E. Graham of Eagleville, was burned on Wednesday afternoon of last week, together with most of the stock of goods. The fire is supposed to have originated from the stove pipe of the stove. The flames communicated to Mr. Graham's dwelling house and that, too, was burned. The loss is heavy but is partly covered by insurance.

An effort is being made by Millheim capitalists to organize a company to build a branch railroad from Coburn to Millheim. A public meeting was called last Saturday evening for that purpose.

Col. George E. Parker while acting as chief marshal of the decorative parade at Philipsburg on last Saturday evening, had his buggy upset by a horseback rider at full speed colliding with him. Mr. Parker suffered two broken ribs. The lady who was in the buggy with him was not injured.

On Thanksgiving evening, last Thursday, the 24th, a horrible accident occurred at the passenger station. A large crowd of people were gathered about the platform awaiting the arrival of the 5:20 mail train from Lock Haven. It came in on time and as the engine was approaching near to the station a man was seen to step out on the track, apparently for the purpose of crossing to the other side. The train was moving at reduced speed, yet it seemed that the man did not notice it and did not realize the dangerous position he was in. The next instant he was knocked down and rolled along the rail a short distance, then the wheels of the engine crushed over him. The engineer stopped the train as soon as possible but the man was plumed to the track with one of the pony wheels resting on his right arm. The engine had to be moved before he could be raised. When the man was picked up it was found that his right arm was crushed and mangled between the elbow and shoulder. In addition, his head and face were terribly cut and bruised and he seemed to be injured also about the body. He was in a semi-conscious condition and gave his name. The unfortunate proved to be Henry Stright, of Snow Shoe Intersection, where his family resides, and of about 60 years of age. He was removed to the Bush House and after a consultation by Drs. Selbert, Harris and Dobbin, it was decided to amputate the arm. His wife and son came up that evening and did all that was possible to alleviate his sufferings, but his wounds were of such a serious nature that he lived only until the next morning. The remains were taken to his home for interment.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Henry E. Leathers, Mt. Eagle, and Alice J. Woerner, Boggs Twp.; Charles H. Hartsock, Bellefonte, and Mary M. Poorman, Spring Twp.; Theodore Adams and Mary Reese, both of Worth Twp.; William H. Rishel, Oak Hill, and Sadie J. Williams, Leominster; Charles Hartsock, Buffalo Run, and Blanche Clark, Halfmoon; Frank Pennington, Huston Twp., and Mary C. Clark, Halfmoon.

Last Saturday evening there was quite an attraction at the depot when the Snow Shoe train arrived. The presence of so many old hunters, anxiously awaiting the train, explained all when the engine steamed into town. In a freight car was the prize. It was soon opened and from it were taken eight as fine deer as were ever brought from the woods. A large crowd gathered around to see the show. There were two five-prong bucks, two four-prong bucks, a three-prong buck, a spike buck and two does, all very large. The hunting party that was successful in making this, the largest haul that has been heard of this season, was composed of the following men from Pleasant Gap and Nitany Valley: Benjamin Geize, John Berze, John and Ellis Horner, Lute and Newton Shreckengast, William and George Rossmann, Emanuel Houser, Dave Moyer, A. M. Greninger and Sigmund Shindler. The party was gone about two weeks and were able to hunt about six days in the Greenwoods in Cameron county.

The hop held by the Undine Fire Company on Thanksgiving evening was a success in every particular. The attendance was very large, no disturbances of any kind occurred, the orchestra of eight pieces furnished elegant music and the dancing was greatly enjoyed. The great success of the occasion was that after all expenses were paid a clean profit of $70.25 was left for the company which will be used to purchase gun coats and boots to equip firemen while attending fires.

Twenty Years Ago

The water supply at the McNitt lumber operations at Potters Mills had been exhausted to such an extent that the mill operator, H. E. Walker and brothers, were to install a gasoline pump and secure water from Laurel Run. A fine lot of lumber had been marketed from the mill and a large amount remained to be cut.

Merchant A. Kessler, of Millheim, arrived at his store one morning to find that an attempt had been made to enter the place during the night. Five holes had been drilled through a metal plate over the lock but the would-be burglar apparently was a raw amateur and was unsuccessful in his efforts.

The first whooping cough cases to be quarantined in Bellefonte for some time were the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McClure, who had been with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Herman Miller, at the latter's home.

A number of wild turkeys had been killed in the Woodward vicinity. Among the lucky gunners were L. L. Weaver of Millheim, and John C. Musser, Harvey Hoover and John Sheasley, of Woodward. Centre Hall Borough Council distributed notices throughout the town asking residents to save water. Ira Shultz, of Spine Bank, and Chas. Minnick, of Wolf Store, each bagged a turkey on the mountain north of Wolf Store.

At a meeting of the board of directors, a three per cent dividend on the stock of Whiterock Quarries was declared. It was the first dividend distributed by the company for about a year and a half.

Twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Keller, of Boalsburg. The youngsters, a boy and a girl, were the first twins to be born in Boalsburg in forty years.

The potato crop in Centre county was an unusually large one and many farmers in the Penn. Valley district were hauling them by truck to Lewisburg where they were able to dispose of them at better prices than were being paid locally.

Harry W. Potter and his sister, Mary Delinda Potter, of Centre Hall, had returned from an automobile trip to the Gettysburg battlefields and the national capitol.

Boyd Vonada, one of the mechanics at the Wion garage in Bellefonte, suffered a severe injury of one foot while at work. He was assisting in lifting a heavy crated article on one of the Chemical Lime Company's big trucks when the crate slipped and fell on his foot, causing severe lacerations and bruises. At ter undergoing medical treatment he was taken to his home.

A silver loving cup offered by the American Billiard Parlor, of Williamsport, to the player winning the pocket billiard championship of that city and vicinity in a tournament was won by Boyd F. Stone, of State College. More than a dozen experts from Williamsport and vicinity competed in the tournament. In the final stroke defeated the runner-up, A. Petterman, of Williamsport, by a score of 450 to 322.

Engineer Claud Thompson and fireman A. J. Fetzer were on their locomotive near the old mill works when Mr. Fetzer saw a small leather wallet tied with a strap, at the side of the track. Upon opening the wallet he found it contained $70 in bills. Since there was no name in the wallet, Mr. Fetzer advertised his find and a foreigner residing near the American Lime and Stone Company identified it as his property and liberally rewarded the finder. The owner indicated he'd lost the purse after he'd imbibed too much moonshine whiskey.

Rev. David R. Evans, pastor of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, was the principal speaker at the annual Elks Memorial services held Sunday afternoon at Petrikin Hall. The program included the following features: solo by Mrs. Alberta Krader; violin solo by Mrs. Louis Schad; selection by a mixed chorus consisting of Miss Helen Schaeffer, Miss Eva Grove, Mrs. Morris Krader, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Ambrose Schmidt, Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mrs. Richard Funk, Mrs. Russell Blair, Dr. Roy Hunter, Frederick Reynolds, Jr., Russell Blair, John Blanchard, James Sieg, John Bullock, Morton Smith, and Harry Meyer, with Miss Magdalene Sunday and Mrs. Louis Schad as accompanists. There were 33 members on the roster of departed Elks.

John S. Walker, president of the Chemical Lime Company, reported that the big blast set off in the quarries recently was a complete success. The shot loosened between 30,000 and 40,000 tons of rock. It cost about $5,000 to put off the blast and took two months' time to drill the eight holes which were from 80 to 95 feet in depth. Six hours' time were required to place the dynamite and 25 men were employed on the task of preparing the blast. In effect, the huge charge of explosives moved one side of the quarry out about eight feet and shattered the rock.

Robert Shupp, of Milesburg quarryman employed by the American Lime and Stone Company in the underground quarry of that company, received painful burns about the head and face when a carbide lamp attached to his cap exploded. All of his hair was burned off. When a speedy racer couldn't furnish enough thrills, Henry Noll, of Pleasant Gap, purchased an airplane and had it brought to Bellefonte by Pilot "Blind" Lewis, of airmail fame, who was to give Noll lessons in the art of flying. The machine was a Canadian Jenny.

While coming from Snow Shoe Wallie Keeler, driver of one of Ickowicz's coal trucks, had a narrow escape from injury when his truck skidded on a curve at Snow Shoe Intersection and plunged backward over an embankment. The machine was not damaged.

There were a number of cases of typhoid fever in the Philipsburg area, the outbreak being blamed on the scarcity of water for cooking and drinking purposes. The Cottage State Hospital had 12 typhoid patients, eleven of them residents of Morristdale and one from Osceola Mills.

Some people fail to read the Bible because they can't understand it. They still continue to live, however, although they can't understand themselves.
