PAUL VON HINDENBURG WAS A professional soldier with little taste for politics - and little love for the upstart paper-hanger, Hitler, whom he had to accept as Chancellor.

After the last war, the shrewd old Prussian put his finger on one prime reason for Ger-many's defeat: "America's brilliant war industry had entered the service of patriotism. . . . They understood war."

Now history is repeating it-self for Hindenburg's successor!

America's war industry again is pouring out planes, tanks and guns-meeting production goals that seemed fantastic at first, Back of this fast-growing military power is electric power

And back of it all, of course, is the American way of life at work-where free men are encouraged to invent, invest, pro-duce, and everybody benefits.

Spirit of 1943!

Modern methods, modern efficiency-but the same old flaming spirit of 1776. What else could give men the vitality to produce tanks, guns, planes, armaments in such enormous quantities? What else could enable the railroads of America to handle millions of troops with such precision and smoothness . . . to haul twice the tonnage of war materials pre-war experts estimated them capable of ... to take over the great oil and miscellaneous cargoes of coastwise shipping, and yet keep war transportation rolling? That spirit, as much as mechanical excellence 'and natural resources, is America's strength. Its "secret weapon". Pennsylvania Railroad is proud to pay tribute to it, and to be a part of it.
