

3 Plead Guilty At Special Court

(Continued from page one) north, pulled out into the intersection. Miss Swope was instantly killed and six other occupants of the two cars were injured.

Heath, through his attorney, told the court that he had taken his car to two Bellefonte garages to have the battery recharged, but that it wouldn't "take" the charge. Several of the girls in the group had to be home by a specified time, so Heath decided to risk the trip without lights. It was bright moonlight, the attorney said, adding that there was sufficient current in the battery for Heath to use the lights when other cars approached.

Heath had never been in trouble before, it was testified. He is scheduled to be inducted into the army on February 22. In deferring sentence, Judge Walker said that in the event Heath is not accepted for service, or if there is a long delay before his induction, he will be brought into court and sentenced.

Fred Meckley, who conducts a service station along the Jacksonville road, was charged with having had illicit relations with a girl under 16 years of age. It was his first criminal offense. The prosecutor, Pvt. John Eisenhooth, of the State Motor Police, said his arrest followed the investigation of a complaint made by the girl's mother. He said that Meckley took the girl to his home after a round of taverns, and that after remaining most of the night at home he brought the girl back to Bellefonte.

Meckley said he was sworn into the Army November 18, and was supposed to report for duty December 1, but that he was kept here because of the charge against him. A Penn State graduate, who last September 29, three months before his graduation from College, took a car owned by Sherman Lutz, of State College, and wrecked the machine while returning from a ride to Bellefonte, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $100 and make restitution of damage to the car, estimated at about $450.

The student, John C. Dippenworth, 22, of Wilkes-Barre, has been employed in the engineering department of the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft plant at Baltimore, Md., since graduation in December. He declared he could give no adequate reason for taking the car, and told the court he had never been in trouble before.

Dippenworth said another student was with him when he took the car, but he assumed the sole responsibility for the act. A third student he picked up shortly after the theft also was innocent of blame, Dippenworth said. The prosecutor in the case was Officer Donald W. Hay, of the State College borough police.

Plan To Train Farm Workers

(Continued from page one) labor shortage, will be sponsored by the Farm Security Administration, which will feed and house the students, transport them to the college, and later transport them and their families and household equipment to places of employment.

H. Raymond Mason, state director of the U. S. Employment Service of the W. M. C. said no experience or formal education is required and physical requirements are moderate. Farmers who need workers, he said, may apply at any employment service office. The courses will continue as long as the need exists, Mason added.

Announcing new figures on the trend from non-essential to essential war work, the State Education Department said state-sponsored industrial training schools are being operated in 120 communities and offer 522 courses, covering nearly every phase of war-time industrial activity.

With Americans enjoying unprecedented incomes in many cases, at least, one would naturally expect a liberal response to every effort to raise money for charitable purposes.

In Air Corps

PVT. DONALD G. NEWMAN

Pvt. Newman, a resident of Milesburg, was inducted into service Oct. 2, 1942, and at present is stationed at Miami Beach, Florida, as a member of the U. S. Air Corps. YOUR HEALTH

There are not as many automobiles for sleigh-riding children to "hook on" to today.

Nor are there as many automobiles into which speeding coasters can slide.

But there are many casualties due to carelessness in sled riding.

Children still insist on coasting down steep terraces, across the sidewalks and into the streets.

Parks or the countryside are comparatively safe for coasting.

City streets are full of danger. Coasting and skating are great fun and good exercise for youngsters.

They should be surrounded with as much safety as possible.

No one should be allowed to venture on ice that is not strong or thick enough to hold him.

Some skaters even attempt to skim over "rubber ice," which sags and bends with their weight.

When a skater does break through the matter of rescuing him has its share of danger.

A long plank, or ladder should be pushed out on the ice to the edge of the broken section.

If a skater is alone and there is no one to help him, he has to get out as best he can.

He should spread out over the edge of the ice as far as he can, extending his arms flat on the ice to help support himself.

If he can roll over onto the flat ice he has a good chance of working his way to shore.

Both are extremely dangerous.

DO YOU KNOW Dr. Francis R. Packard, affiliate member of the Philadelphia County Medical Society, was awarded the Newcomb Award by The American Laryngological Association "for scientific attainment in rhinology and laryngology and as a mark of esteem and appreciation for services to the Association." Dr. Packard was president of the American Laryngological Association in 1931.

Regardless of what happens on the battlefields there are Americans who are constantly warning us that we will have a hard time beating our enemies and expressing long-faced perplexity over the job ahead.

There will be Americans, around March 15th, who will understand that they cannot afford their income tax.

Farmers' Army Defies Law

To defend themselves against seizure of stock following nonpayment of tithes, several hundred farmers in the Kent district of England have organized themselves into an army. They are working along war lines, and when three large trucks were sent recently to collect at 10 farms the representatives of the law were routed without any of the 89 lots sought. A body of men is kept on farms where seizures may be attempted, and a small army is stationed in the village square ready to hasten to any farm when the signal, the firing of rockets, is given.

Bellefonte To Get Air School

Women to be trained will be those with the usual background of a high school teacher; in fact, young high school teachers will be welcomed into the program.

Asked specifically whether the course would be installed in Bellefonte, Senator McCarran raised only one question: "Are landing facilities available?"

More than ample landing facilities are available here. The Bellefonte airport offers landing facilities for all types of planes with the possible exception of the larger ones, such as Flying Forts and large transports. Several large hangars for storing planes are available and equipment for maintenance and repair of planes also is maintained at the field.

The situation, in short, is that the government wants to train young men to become pilots, and Bellefonte has extraordinary fine facilities for such a purpose. It is only a matter of working out details and completing arrangements to make such a school possible.

Frankly, one of the dangers that confronts the United States is the threat of isolationism, which will undoubtedly raise its head as soon as the war is won.

Every time a Congressman gets incensed about something he starts an investigation.

Wonder what thoughts now occupy the mind of the Japanese admiral who predicted that he would dictate peace in the White House.

If you wish to know what is happening in the war, confine your reading to one "expert" if you tackle two or three you will become confused.

The reason why the white collar class gets it in the neck, politically and economically, is because there are so many people who are satisfied just to be in the white collar class.

We have no prejudice against big business; when it gets to be the underdog in this country, we will be fighting for its welfare. Just now, it can, and does, take care of its own interests.
