EXTENSION SERVICE SETS NEW HIGH MARK IN 1942
A new record of achievement is reported by the agricultural extension service of the Pennsylvania State College for 1942. A total of 562,949 improved practices on the farm and in the home resulted from the activities of extension specialists and county extension representatives in agriculture and home economies.

Reflecting the great public interest in food, the nutrition work led all subject-matter lines with 93,378 contacts made. Agronomy, embracing the production of field crops, came second with 58,469 improved practices. Other high totals were in poultry husbandry, 46,669; vegetable gardening, 43,535; entomology, 42,600; and dairy husbandry, 35,807. The grand total attendance at all meetings and demonstrations sponsored by the extension service was 677,543 in 1942, as compared with 78,761 persons in 1941, showing the effect of restricted travel and labor shortages in some sections of the state last year.

over, insofar as long periods of cold weather are concerned. Of course we'll have short cold snaps, snow, and wind, but there won't be any more near zero temperatures for days on end. February is always but one severe week, and after that the back of the winter is broken.
FUTURE:
Wonder where all of us will be one year from now? From the way the draft is shaping up it looks as though many of us who've been sitting comfortably at home so far in World War II may be in Africa, Alaska, China, The Solomons, India, Iceland, England, or practically anywhere else in the world. If it will help bring a quick and final end to the war, we don't believe many of us will object to doing whatever we can to help.

The Williamsport Field Office of the Social Security Board, at 307 Postoffice Building, is now open until 5 p. m. on Saturdays, it is announced by Paul W. Holmberg, acting manager. "This conforms with the recent Presidential order placing all Federal employees on a minimum work week of 48 hours," Mr. Holmberg explained. "Our new office hours will undoubtedly be a great convenience to people who can't visit us on other days. This will be true particularly of those living near Williamsport who come into town on Saturday afternoons."

Mr. Holmberg said his office will be glad to receive anyone requiring a Social Security account number, or wishing to file a claim for old-age and survivors insurance payments, or seeking general information concerning the Social Security Act.

He urges all workers to take good care of their account number cards. To employers he recommends that the name and number of each employee be accurately recorded on the quarterly returns to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Employers are advised to make a practice of recording the account number the first day a new employee reports to work.

The Williamsport Field Office serves the counties of Centre, Clinton, Lycoming, Northumberland, Potter, Snyder, Tioga, and Union.

Makes Appeal to Forest Owners

Forest land owners of Centre county are to be congratulated upon the fact that they have an investment that, with a minimum of protection and care, will earn a profit. You own something of value upon which, as a good citizen, you are paying taxes for the support of your local government. However, whether or not you receive a reasonable return from your forest area, as should be expected, depends very much upon how you care for it and manage it.

The people of your community also have an interest in your forest, and their benefits as well as yours, depends upon its continuance in a thrifty productive condition. Through the State Government they have been spending each year about two and one-half cents per acre to protect your forests from fire. But fire and fire losses still occur, primarily because of thoughtless carelessness of our people with well as all must become more forest fire conscious.

Fire is the forest's worst enemy and, as long as forests are destroyed by fire, neither land owners or community can obtain expected benefits. You have a responsibility to yourself and to your country, especially now when the nation is at war, to protect and develop every essential resource and particularly your own forest property.

Please do more than you have ever done before to help keep fire out of the woods this spring and all the time. If the forest has a good start on your land, do not let fire burn it up for you. If your forest area is not fully productive, contact your district forester and get suggestions as to how it may be improved.

If you or your neighbors have brush or other waste material to burn, please burn it before the last of March. I am requesting everybody to do no burning out of doors during April, May, October, and November. These are the months when forest fires are most likely to occur.

If you learn of any hazardous condition which might result in a wild forest fire in your community, report it to your district forester.

A Volunteer Forest Fire Fighter's Service is being organized throughout the State and Nation under the office of Civilian Defense. This organization needs your whole-hearted support and through it your neighbors will cheerfully and patriotically help protect your forest.

He is Mr. America, 1943.

He is No. 1 man with us all.

Nothing we can do for him is too much, too good, compared with what he is doing for us.

That's why, with your railroads, he gets "priority rating" every time. Yes, and all the things he needs to help him bring back the Victory. Famous trains of peace days defer humbly to his troop trains, to the trains carrying his equipment—waiting on sidings while he and his buddies flash by... on time.

Every minute of night and day... twenty-four hours on twenty-four hours, the milk of America form a highway of Victory for him... to give right of way to millions of him, and his equipment, for the great job he is doing for us all.

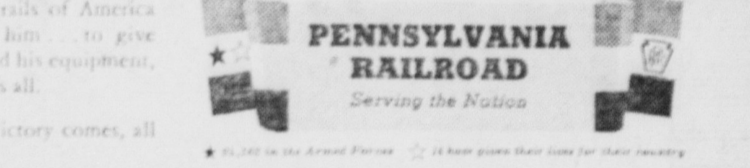

For until that great hour of final victory comes, all

ONE OF AMERICA'S RAILROADS... ALL MOBILIZED FOR WAR

WHAT MATTERS MOST IS THAT HE GETS THROUGH... On Time!

That matters now is that these splendid boys shall get through... ON TIME! Meanwhile we shall continue to the limit of our ability and facilities to provide the best service possible under the circumstances for civilian passenger traffic, as well as freight traffic for civilian needs. The emergency task of hauling oil by rail continues as a job that must be met. It at times we do not match the fine job being done in moving troops, we believe all Americans will understand the circumstances, and will willingly subordinate personal interests to the imperative demands of war.

that a number of small farmers here, most of them with sufficient labor in their own family, could handle the cows over their dry period. He said he would try to interest 4-H Club and Future Farmer members in raising good heifers.

"We will buy for cash and sell either for cash or on time," the supervisor said.

J. H. Wood, Maine-through-Maryland regional director, advised the supervisor to put the program into effect immediately.

"I am confident that with the cooperation of the farmers we can stem the decline of herds," Wood said. "We are determined that henceforth no good milk-producing cow will go to the butcher."

The regional director instructed Mr. Havens to appeal to farmers to consult the FSA county supervisor before selling good milk cows to the butcher. He advised him also to seek out farmers who could keep cows and help maintain the region's milk production.

The Department of Agriculture assigned FSA to the job after various reports indicated that many herds throughout the region were being dispersed because of shortages of labor, feed and facilities.

"I feel that the Department acted in time to save our Eastern milk production," Wood said. "Henry Kaiser can build a ship in a few days, but it takes more than two years to grow and bring a dairy cow into production."

"Already severe milk shortages are being felt in several Eastern cities and many expanding industrial centers."

"We realize that dry cows may be worth more to some farmers as meat than as milkers. It is costly to maintain cows between lactation periods. But we must keep these cows to protect our future milk supplies. So the Government is prepared, if necessary, to sell dry cows to farmers at figures somewhat below the ordinary purchase price. In that way we may be able to assure this area of future milk supplies."

Cows purchased by FSA must have at least two or three productive years remaining. They will be carefully examined for disease and physical defects. Cows will be sold to families having ample feed and care for them and sufficient feed and facilities.

"Transactions will be handled through the county office, and purchasing will be localized as much as possible," said Wood. "We do not want to transport cows any farther than necessary. FSA will meet all transportation problems and costs."

He said good cows would be sold to farmers as replacements for inferior stock; but he declared that no good milkers will be allowed to go to the butcher as secondary stock.

He wished somebody would invent a system to guarantee an eight hour day to editors.
