POWER OF PRAYER

"God bless the crew of this plane, I will say a prayer for your safe return." An army private scribbled that message on a bomber before it left the United States months ago. Since then it has flown on 15 perilous as in North Africa, and though hit many times, none of its crewmen have been wounded. On a recent flight an antiaircraft shell hit the engine; shrapnel hit the drift meter: two more pieces pierced the rear perch a foot apart, in front and back of Tail Gunner Staff Sergt. Emlyn H. Mitchell of Ohiopyle, Pa., and another barely missed the turret gunner and grazed the control cables. A sixth piece struck an inch below the spot where

Reports made by police that a suspicious car was seen around Wildwood Cemetery, Williams port, during Thursday night's lbackout created considerable excitement. A guard unit was quickly mobilized and equipped with powerful searchlights and a machine gun. The posse took off ready to cope with anything. They got their man but the suspected person turned out to be Chief of Police John G. LIGHTS STAY ON

Lights gleamed with impunity from the home of Mrs. Elvira Kenneweg, Pittsburgh, during the practice blackout last Thursday night. The reason: An eight-pound daughter was born o Mrs. Kenneweg's daughter, Mrs. Bernice Abbott, 10 minutes before the blackout started. As no physician was present, Mrs. Kenneweg told an air raid warden she was "plenty busy" and needed all the light she could get. "Keep 'em on-and let us know it you need any help," declared the warden.
