

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

An effort is being made to organize a brass band in Bellefonte. There is enough good material here to make a first class band.

The Bald Eagle Valley Day Express, which arrived here at 5:25 p. m. Tuesday of last week, ran into a flock of wild turkeys a short distance from the station and killed four of the flock. The feathers flew at a terrific rate.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Kurtz arrived in Bellefonte on Saturday evening by the way of Tyrone. His many friends, hearing of his coming a short time previous, arranged for an impromptu reception at the Bush House, where they have rooms elegantly fitted up for their use.

In many sections of the county the country roads have been abandoned on account of the snow drifts that have completely filled up the roads as high as the fences. Travel is through the fields. Persons in Bellefonte have little idea of the amount of snow in other parts of the county.

On Monday Mrs. A. G. Curtin fell on the key pavement on High Street, in front of Benner's residence. She had to be assisted to her home and suffered much pain from a severe bruise on the head. Bellefonte papers, though cleaned regularly, are liable to become very dangerous on account of the melting snows.

On last Sunday the Presbyterian congregation of Boalsburg dedicated their handsome new house of worship. The dedicatory services were delivered by their pastor, Rev. James Heany, who was assisted in the services by Rev. Black, of the Reformed church of that place, and Rev. James Hughes, of the Bellefonte Academy. The erection of the building was undertaken one year ago, and though the congregation is small, the building was dedicated without one dollar being due on it.

On Tuesday there was a large gathering of landowners from all parts of Centre County in attendance at the license court. Among them John G. Uzzell, of Snow Shoe, is a conspicuous figure. Mr. Uzzell began keeping hotel at Snow Shoe in 1865 and has been engaged in the same business at the same place ever since—a period of 77 years. This, we think, entitles him to the distinction of being the oldest landowner in Centre County. The Washington House at Snow Shoe is well known for its hospitality.

The will of William F. Reynolds was in substance about as follows: His nephew W. Fred Reynolds is appointed residuary legatee. A sum of $100,000 and two farms is bequeathed to Fred's brother, Samuel Reynolds, Jr. and Fred's three sisters, each get the interest of $50,000. Mrs. Pierpont gets the interest on $20,000 which reverts to her son Thomas at her death. She is a daughter of the late Thomas Reynolds. Mrs. Catherine B. Montgomery, aged 80, and her daughter $10,000 in the event of her marriage. To all servants who had been in his employ ten years or more he gave $250 each. All the rest of the immense estate goes to W. Fred Reynolds. Register Rogo will get about $2,500 out of the work he does on the will.

Twenty Years Ago

Lief Olsen, of Bellefonte, was considering the purchase of the Carl Weaver property on West Curtin Street. Mr. Olsen was living in an apartment in the Petrikoff Hall.

A number of Centre County roads were badly drifted with snow, especially in Penns and Brush valleys. Farmers residing in the southern part of the county had a unusually difficult winter, insofar as travel was concerned.

Malcolm Bryan, of Bellefonte, was painfully injured Wednesday afternoon when a painter's ladder fell on his head. Bryan, employed at the American Lime & Stone Company's hydrating plant, was walking along the side of a building when the ladder fell over. He received a laceration of the forehead which required the five stitches to close.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: John A. Lucas and Ida M. Smith, both of Bellefonte; Edward J. Cossley and America Peizer, both of Yarnell; Percy W. Robb, of Altoona, and Cora B. Borer, of Harrisburg; George Bryan and Hazel B. Alkey, both of Bellefonte; Charles B. Wynn, Sunbury, and Margaret Altendier, Milesburg.

The Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical church, meeting at York, made the following appointments for Centre County and nearby towns: Bellefonte, Rev. Reed O. Ebley, Howard, Rev. F. P. Mayes; Nittany, Rev. Jacob Zang; State College, Rev. Paul E. Keen; Sugar Valley, Rev. H. P. Maneval; Centre Hill, Rev. J. P. Pingman; Mifflinburg, Rev. C. B. Snyder; Millmont, Rev. I. C. Fullman, Rebersburg, Rev. M. A. Herman, and Spring Mills, Rev. E. E. Haney.

One man was seriously burned and two others escaped with minor injuries when a miner's torch ignited gas arising from carbide which had spilled on a damp floor in a Snow Shoe mine shaft. The person who was burning the carbide was Harry Houser, of Snow Shoe, who was painfully burned about the head and face. The other two were foreigners whose names were not learned. They escaped with minor burns. The three men were walking into the shaft and one of them was carrying a fire-powder can of carbide when he tripped and fell, the carbide spilling on the damp floor. Houser stooped over to recover the can and as he did so his miner's lamp ignited the gas. He was rendered unconscious by the blast. Experts said it was fortunate that the explosion did not cause the mine to cave-in.

H. S. Winkleblech, of Fiedler, was sawing wood with a power saw and was being assisted by John Frazier, who had the misfortune to have one of his little fingers cut off. Dr. C. S. Musser "planted" the finger in place and there were hopes that the digit would be saved.

While Squire A. A. Stover and son, John, of Aronsburg, were driving up a mountain road the team stopped suddenly and refused to go on. Investigation revealed that just ahead was a gray fox caught in a trap. Squire Stover killed the trapped animal and left it in the trap for the owner to claim.

Two double funerals occurred in Centre County within a week. One was for Mr. and Mrs. Philip Werz, an aged couple of Houserville, and the other was for Mrs. Curtis McClure and her infant daughter, Mildred Irene, of Hubersburg. Mr. Werz died at the age of 92 years on February 25. His wife, aged 88, died March 1. Mrs. McClure died of pneumonia while her daughter, aged 6 months, succumbed ten hours later from an attack of meningitis.

Charles Smith, of Spring Mills, killed a monster wild cat which was believed to have been killing deer in that vicinity. Phillip D. Waddle had resigned his position as chief clerk at the Bush House and was visiting relatives in Buffalo Grove Valley. The new organ at Grace Lutheran church, State College, was dedicated Sunday morning, with Dr. Charles S. Bauslin, secretary of the Board of Education, preaching the dedication sermon. The evening service was of a musical nature, with Dr. Charles T. Aikens, of Susquehanna University, as the principal speaker.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Edward P. Lingle, Milesburg, and Emma Dale, Lemont; John Kline and Catherine Oleswie, both of Bellefonte; Robert Riedorff, Clinton County, and Martha Watkins, Howard; Robert Sykes and Mary Conklin, both of Mifflinburg; George Dixon and Mary Ewing, both of Taylor; Pauline and Sadie Smith, Gregg township; Andrew J. Shook, Spring Mills, and M. Jennie Herring, Penn Hill; William P. Thomas, State College, and Elsie D. Loder, Jacksonville.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Keller, at Houserville, has been sorely afflicted during the past two weeks by sickness and death from a visitation of that dread disease diphtheria. Monday of last week Fannie, a ten-year-old daughter, was buried; Wednesday of the same week Aggie, a 12-year-old daughter, was buried, and Saturday following Pearl, a five-year-old daughter, was laid beside the bodies of her sisters. Tuesday morning of this week Charles, a 13-year-old son, the oldest child of the family, also died of the same dread disease. Two other children are afflicted with the same ailment but are on a fair way to recovery.

On Monday evening all of the members of the new Council were present. President Potter announced the following committees for the ensuing year: Water-Williams, Hill-Bisler, and Miller; Street-Dart, Gerberich and Bauer; Finance-Gerberich, Miller and Bush; Fire and Police-Hill-Bisler, Dartt and Germain; Nuisance-Garman, Dartt and Bush; Market-Miller, Garman and Bauer; Samuel Ryan was re-elected superintendent of the water works. Carl H. Montgomery, chief of police, and William Garman, assistant, also were re-elected. Clement Dale, borough solicitor, and D. M. Butts, civil engineer, were continued in those positions. Superintendent Ryan's salary was fixed at $75 per day; borough policeman at $2.50 a month and the borough solicitor at $50 a year.

PENN STATE WILL TRAIN ARMY, NAVY TECHNICIANS

Four specialized Army and Navy training programs which are scheduled to get under way in the near future, will enable the Pennsylvania State College to utilize a major part of its total resources this summer for government service.

According to present plans which are pending the closing of contracts between the College and federal agencies concerned, an Army Air Corps contingent of 500 will report to the campus April 1, followed by 500 advanced Army engineering students about April 5.

Another group of Naval engineering students will probably begin their studies on July 1. The College is currently instructing Naval engineers in Diesel engine work, having been one of five institutions giving this type of instruction for several years.

College officials have estimated that approximately 4300 students, including the service men, will be on the campus this summer. This figure includes an estimated 450 new freshmen and 700 students attending the three summer sessions, held independently of the regular summer semester.

Over the County News

Orvis M. Shull, Millheim chiropractor, ill for the past several weeks, last Tuesday was taken in the Neff ambulance to Athens, Pa., where he entered the Brennan Chiropractic Home for treatment. Accompanying him were his wife and mother, Mrs. Harry Shull, a brother, of Berrien Springs, Mich., who are spending the week here.

R. P. Grazer, of Millheim, who several months ago purchased the A. A. Frank farm adjoining his own acres on the west, will soon begin the erection of another barn to house the additional crops, as well as to provide extra stable space for more farm producers, which are to be added to the present herd. The new structure, Mr. Grazer states, will be approximately 40x60 feet, two stories, but without the usual drive-in barn floor. Some of the larger pieces of timber required for the barn have already been felled on the former Frank timber tract, it being expected that most of the lumber necessary for the building will be provided from the Frank and Grazer timberland adjoining the farm lands.

A farewell dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barner, of Nittany, last Sunday in honor of their son, Clarence Barner, who was inducted into the army March 1. The following were present: Mrs. Clarence Barner and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Barner, of Mill Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barner and family, Rebersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Foster Barner and family, Williamsport; Miss Stella Barner, Lock Haven; Mrs. Fletchinger, Lock Haven; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Rhine and family, Mill Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heeman and son, Bellefonte; Mrs. Samuel Heeman, Monument; Miss Edna Heeman, Bellefonte; Miss Vera Peterson, Bellefonte; Harold Ickes, Milesburg; Mrs. Robert Hockenberry, Bellefonte.

Capt. Henry B. Fitch, a former citizen of Millheim, who still maintains his residence there, on duty at the Atlantic City Basic Training Command, has been advanced to the rank of Major, it has been learned through the office of the Public Relations Officer at that post. Major Fitch has been on active duty for six years in the Army Dental Corps and has more visited a total of 100,000 men in the Army Dental Corps in the Caribbean. Major Fitch's wife, Mrs. Kathryn Fitch, formerly of Bellefonte, and four children make their home in Atlantic City. His children are Peggy, Susan, John and Henry. The fourth child was born last Christmas Day.

A real estate transaction involving two miles township farms was consummated last week, whereby Roy Bloomquist, of Bellefonte, became the owner of the W. P. Pettehoff farm at the crossroads (known locally as the Emanuel Harter farm), and the Bressler farm, along the Smullton road. Both farms were purchased from Mr. Pettehoff and his wife, Mrs. Pettehoff, by Roy Bloomquist's son-in-law, Randall Bloomquist, of Bellefonte. The Pettehoff farm, including the stock and equipment on the Harter farm, where Mr. Pettehoff conducted farming operations for the past two years. Beginning last Monday, Mr. Bloomquist's son-in-law, Randall Bloomquist, is taking the farm as a tenant on convenient Mr. Pettehoff will, it is said, return to his home at Madisonburg. The amount involved in this transaction has not been made public.

BUSH HOLLOW

Sunday school as usual next Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Preaching service in the evening beginning with a Young People's service at 7 p. m. Everybody welcome. We were glad for the good attendance at the service on Sunday afternoon. Those who stayed away missed a good message. We are always glad when we can have our district superintendent in our midst.

Child to bear that the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bush has been brought home from the hospital and is getting along nicely at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reese of Wingate, visited the Ed Bush home last Friday evening.

Mrs. Pearl Pye and daughter Jane took dinner on Sunday at the Andrew Irvin home. Melvin Metzler also visited the Irvin home over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bush of Altoona, visited on Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spotts and children, visited at the D. H. Custer and Joseph Spotts home in Unionville, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Martin Spotts and children spent last Thursday in Coleville.

James Flick was a visitor at the Martin Spotts home, Monday evening.

The community was saddened on Wednesday to hear of the death of our good neighbor and friend, Mrs. Clyde Watson. Although she has been ill in health for some time yet her death came as a shock to everyone. She will be missed in our community as a neighbor and friend. Funeral services were held at the Runville U. B. church on Sunday afternoon with Rev. Harry Daniels, pastor of the Bush Hollow church, officiating. Burial was made in the Advent cemetery. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

BLANCHARD

Pfc. Delbert Poorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Poorman, of Renovo, has returned to the U. S. Naval Hospital in San Diego, Cal. Delbert spent a few days of his furlough at his grandmother's, Mrs. Anna Bower, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bower, also at his aunt's, Mrs. Percy Robb.

Mrs. Lester Rauch and daughter Nancy, were visited a few days with their grandmas, Mrs. Anna Bower.

Mrs. Percy Robb spent a few days in Altoona and Pittsburgh last week.

In order that our people may better understand and help in the salvage drives, the following dates may be helpful: Salvage drive, May 1 to 4 inclusive; tin can salvage drive, May 1 to 29 inclusive; tin can salvage week, May 31 to June 5, and Aug. 30 to Sept. 4 inclusive. If these dates are noted it is hoped that the community will begin saving and preparing their cans for the tin can drive. It may be by that time someone can be found to take an interest in these things. The corresponding plans are being made for a belated gathering of the cans in March providing the principals of the school districts can be interested.

Mrs. Mary Winslow spent several days of last week with friends in Howard, namely, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schenck.

George Kunes of Wilcox, spent a few days visiting with his mother, Mrs. Susan Kunes. Mrs. Kunes has not been well the last few weeks.

Mrs. Annie Eagan accompanied her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rhinesmith, to Ohio this weekend. Mrs. Eagan is planning on visiting for a few weeks with her mother and other relatives in Ohio.

Mrs. Anna Midge, who had been a patient at the Lock Haven Hospital for several months, went to and was buried on the following Monday in the Union cemetery at Bellefonte. Mr. Lowery had worked at Scotia for quite a few years before moving to State College. While at Scotia the family lived in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beck.

About two or three times a week someone asks me why there isn't anything in the papers about the obituary up here. Well, the whole story in a nut shell is that there isn't anything to put in for the mines are not doing anything at present, and as soon as they do we will have it in.

SCOTIA

Mrs. James A. Young and two daughters, Jean and Carol, of Busif Addition, spent the weekend with Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Williams.

The Charles Rearek family, who have been living at Stormstown for quite a number of years, moved last Friday to the A. P. Reed farm house near Reed's filling station.

The monthly meeting of the Adult members of the Grays Methodist church was held last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guyer Stine at Materville, about 26 being present including some visitors. The next meeting will be held the first Friday in April at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon of Materville.

Last week the congregation with one of the neighboring families who is moving over a little nearer to us, the lady of the house asked if I was going to have her picture in the paper when they moved over, and she was told that I would send the picture and I should see that it was put on the front page of the paper.

We are sorry to learn of the death of two of our old Scotia residents who died last week. The first was Thomas G. Haugh, who died last Tuesday, March 2, and was buried on Friday at Pine Hill cemetery. The other resident was Henry Leary, who died on Friday, March 5,

WOODWARD

Last Thursday morning the mercury registered 4 below zero. This was the coldest March morning to date.

On last Saturday a baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Bowersox at the Bellefonte Hospital. They named her Linda Elaine, and her birthdate is March 6. Both mother and little one are doing nicely.

There's quite a bit of complaining among the local mimrods concerning some parties that are allowing tagged and untaged dogs chasing deer and also killing them. Already two dead deer were found near where Clair Booth is living. It's about time the State Game Commission is getting busy.

Lieut. John Bechtel is home on a short furlough since last week one day. He just recently graduated from an officers' training school. We and all his chums were glad to meet him as were also the parents, brothers and sister at home.

On Sunday morning an impressive service was held by the local E. L. C. E. when 19 new members joined the society.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kreamer joined their pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Housal, on Monday noon, bound for the sessions of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical church. The conference is scheduled to convene at Baltimore on Wednesday evening. Mr. Kreamer is the legally elected delegate of the Millheim charge. Mrs. Kreamer will visit relatives at Camp Hill, Leomoyne, Mt. Pleasant and York, Pa., during the meantime before returning home some time with her husband next week.

Sunday School Lesson

IN THE UPPER ROOM

International Sunday School Lesson for March 15, 1943.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one cometh unto the Father, but by me."—John 14: 6.

Lesson Text: John 13: 12-20; 14: 1-6.

A very frequent motive moving the human heart is the desire to be first. Ambition plays a gigantic part in the life of every person.

Of the supreme importance is the establishment of the proper values for life, for men to be actuated by high principles. Throughout his brief association with his disciples Jesus sought to create in them eternal principles by which their life could be guided.

It is his desire to realize the entire effect of the contrast between the standard of living followed by Jesus and the high principles of his philosophy when brought into comparison with the habits and standards of the people among whom he lived. Even now, when the world has been softened and human conduct improved by his teaching, the difference between the two is still immeasurably great.

Even the immediate group of intimate associates who accompanied Jesus throughout his active ministry were unable at first to guess the full significance of his purpose in life. These disciples expected him to establish an earthly kingdom, to set eventually worldly power and glory and they could not comprehend the truth that his kingdom was not of the present world. Time and again these followers discussed their own prominence in the future kingdom.

Once they asked Jesus as to the greatest in his kingdom. Then it was that he called a little child and explained that except they became as little children they would not enter into the kingdom. For, said he, who soever would humble himself as a little child the same would be the greatest in the kingdom. The disciples did not comprehend at all.

Months later the brothers James and John requested Jesus that they might sit in the favorite places in the day of glory. This request was probably an afterthought of the conflicting ambitions of the twelve, exercised in a mutual discussion Jesus answered by laying down the rule that "whoever would become great among you shall be servant of all." On the last night of the life of Jesus, these disciples had gathered at Jerusalem. Again they had been trying to decide among themselves which one would be the greatest in the new kingdom. So, as a part of the answer to this spirit of emulation Jesus performed the menial service of washing the feet of each of his followers as they prepared to partake of the Last Supper, although only Jesus knew that the end was less than twenty-four hours away.

The events of the week had been crowded and vital. The preceding Sunday Jesus had entered Jerusalem in triumph, acclaimed by the popularists. Monday the money changers had been driven from the temple. Tuesday had seen him teaching in the temple, engaging in verbal controversy with his enemies who sought to embarrass and discredit him. Wednesday Jesus had begun to negotiate for his betrayal. Wednesday Jesus had been in retirement in Bethany. Thursday preparations had been made for Passover Feast and it was for this purpose that the gathering assembled in the upper room where the last supper became the precedent for the sacrament observed throughout Christendom today.

Jesus probably noticed that none of his followers volunteered to cleanse the feet of the company, a sanitary requirement because of the dusty roads and the sandals worn. Realizing that each felt that such service was below his proper dignity, Jesus, conscious of his own reality and divinity, assumed the office of slave and performed the task Peter alone protested. By this act Jesus once again sought to bring home that genuine greatness rested upon loving service. "The supreme test of spiritual leadership is to be conscious of great gifts and make them the instruments of humble tasks," says Francis Greenwood Peabody.

S. D. Gordon once said: "We are kindest in character when we are Christlike in spirit and action. We are most like the King when we are helping others. Our true motto, in our relation to our fellow men, is to do as we would be done by."—T. S. Towel and basin, bended knee and comforted pilgrim—feet and refreshed spirit—this is our family crest. We are reaching highest when we are stooping lowest to help someone up. We're nearest like God in character when we're getting nearest in touch to those needing help."

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

BY W. W. REID

British churches are aflutter over the question of Sunday shows or no Sunday shows for men and women. The matter, which has been so far to be about evenly divided on the matter. The Archbishop of Canterbury has stated that Christians should be ready to welcome Sunday shows for the troops, provided no commercial interests are involved. He will oppose any move to have the theatres opened on Sunday if promoters or performers have any commercial interest.

Under the leadership of Chaplain Bertram L. Smith, of Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky, an army chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, an organization of the Protestant Episcopal church, has been formed at the camp. Major Henry H. Rogers is director. Lieut. E. J. Karstrom, vice-director; and Private Lester Wittenburg, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

Christian Indians living in Department of Hunuchucnango, in the northwest of Guatemala, Central America, working with missionaries from North America, have after years of labor, reduced the Conch language of the area to writing, translated the Gospels of John into the tongue, and now have it from the presses of the American Bible Society. "We had to work from the ground up," says Missionary-Translator Newberry B. Cox. "We had to build a vocabulary, recognize sounds different from those in English or Spanish, choose an alphabet to include these sounds, file each word (thus building a dictionary), and then discover the rules of grammar underlying the language."

"I believe that the part which the church must play in helping us find the solutions to our problems is a much more responsible, more positive, more vital part than is recognized by many," says the Hon. Walter Nash, minister to the U. S. from New Zealand. "I do not agree with those who claim that the church should not concern itself in matters involving the economic and social problems of the nation and of the world. I believe that such a view, however honest and sincere, is a tragically mistaken one. I do not imply that there is any occasion for the church to become involved in party political controversies; but I do suggest that the church has a responsibility greater perhaps than the responsibility borne by any other institution in the world today to see that moral principles are kept always to the fore—that social evils are rigorously stamped out—that in building a new world order we proceed along the paths that will lead us surely and quickly to our pledged objectives."

Professor W. Mackenzie Stevens, former dean of the College of Commerce of the University of Maryland, has flown to West China, at the commission of the Chinese government there, to make a study of Chinese industrial cooperatives, their value in the war effort, and their place in the post-war China. Prof. Stevens was in China from 1934 to 1936, engaged in student training and in investigation of cooperatives. He is the author of several books on cooperatives in China.

PENN STATE TRAINS FARM LABOR GROUPS

A second group of farm laborers has just completed a short course of training at the Pennsylvania State College, before starting work on Pennsylvania farms.

This group consists of 20 men from the rural sections of Kentucky. In the first group trained at the College there were 51 members, mostly boys of high school and college age, but including some older men and two girls. The training course was of two weeks duration.

The trainees were enlisted by the Farm Security Administration working with the U. S. Employment Service. Transportation, room, board, and medical care while at State College were provided by government agencies.

Very little formal class work was required in the short courses. Members of the groups were divided into small sections which studied alternately dairy farming, poultry raising, farm livestock, and farm machinery repair. Individual students were assigned to College farm workers whom they assisted in current tasks.

Church services: Sunday school at 10 a. m.; preaching and baptismal services at 11 o'clock.

A Victory Garden meeting will be held at the Star school Friday evening, March 12 at 8 o'clock. County Agent R. C. Blaney will be present.

We also expect a speaker from the Pennsylvania State College. Make this your meeting, you will not be disappointed. If you have any garden problems bring them along.

We wish to thank everyone for the splendid contributions toward the service flag. This is one way we can show our appreciation to the boys who are sacrificing so much for us.

Mrs. James Hodge and son Phil, are spending the weekend with relatives at Philadelphia. Phil expects to be inducted into the army soon.

Miss Laura Hoover and girl friend, Demoris Betner of Lock Haven, spent the weekend at Miss Hoover's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hoover. Both girls are employed at Sylvania Products Co. at Mill Hill.
