Senior commercial girls in the high school, whose scholastic standings are high, are to be permitted to work full time in the offices of defense plants provided their work in those plants proves entirely satisfactory to the employers, the board ruled.

The decision was reached in an effort to ease the great demand in local defense plants for trained stenographers and typists. A similar policy is being followed by the board in regard to student farm workers. Arrangements have been made to grant such students diplomas.

The board voted in favor of closing the schools at 11 a. m. on Good Friday, April 23, to permit students to attend services and in observance of the holiday.

An unusual attendance record by a Bellefonte teacher who has entered the armed forces brought financial reward when the board voted to return to Paul S. Beaver $50 which had been deducted from his salary because of absences occasioned by trips to Pittsburgh in connection with his enlistment in the service.

Prior to these absences Mr. Beaver had taught school here for more than 15 years and was absent only two days—the best teacher—attendance record in the school system, it was reported.

A request for the use of the Bellefonte High School cafeteria for the annual Jefferson Day dinner of the County Democratic Committee was rejected by the board on the grounds that a policy ruling made a number of months ago by the board restricted the use of school facilities to meetings of a public or civic character.

Forest Benford was named high school baseball coach, and the board accepted an offer by the local Legion Post to provide the team with uniforms and equipment.

A report from the State Department of Education offered several suggestions for the conduct of the high school. The report recommended the institution of an art department as soon as possible; held that the teaching of advanced courses in Latin is no longer considered of vital importance; recommended a well rounded health and physical education department and suggested the preparation of handbooks to be issued to incoming freshmen to acquaint them with rules, regulations and procedures followed in high school.

In two separate motions the Board expressed its appreciation to school teachers for their co-operation and aid in carrying out the dedication program, and expressed thanks to the three Bellefonte newspapers for the part they played in the entire program for the new school.

Friday, April 30 is the day set by the board for the planting of shrubs and grass at the new high school building. There is a possibility that local organizations may be asked to turn out to aid in the day's activities, which will be held regardless of weather conditions.

The buildings and grounds committee reported that work on the permanent closing of Lamb Street at the new building is progressing satisfactorily. Manholes have been placed, and sewer lines are being constructed under the section which is to be filled to the level of school grounds on either side of the road.

The committee was given authority to proceed with the construction of retaining walls, walks, and steps on its closed-off section. The wall probably will be constructed of native limestone.

The board agreed to serve as sponsors for three new courses identified with the Civilian Defense program. They are: an electric refrigeration school for instruction in maintenance and repair of electric refrigerators; a course in sewing, and a canning course.

to dig down and buy War Bonds as never before.

"The task before us requires not only great national effort, but also great national restraint. This large spending program will pour into the hands of our people vast sums; the national income will be at new high levels. But civilian spending must be restrained because we cannot produce and import all the goods civilians would like to buy. If spenders compete for the limited amount of goods now available they will drive prices sky high; in other words, we shall have inflation. If people will invest all their surplus earnings in Government bonds and save only enough money for bare necessities the inflation threat will be curtailed to a great extent.

"The United States Treasury War Finance Committee has the following basket full of securities to sell in this drive: the 2 1/2% United States Treasury Bonds of 1964-69; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1950-62; 1/2% Certificates of Indebtedness; Series B.1944; Tax Savings Notes; Series C, E, F, and G. These various securities are designed to fill any and every need and we call upon the citizens of Centre County to purchase as many of these various issues as they can afford. Consult your banks to determine which particular bonds you should purchase for your needs."

school system to show how income is spent.

A possibility that Bellefonte High School diplomas this spring may be "streamlined" was expressed when Supervising Principal E. K. Stock suggested that a number of schools be discontinued using the old "roll type" diplomas in favor of a small folder type. The folders may be plain or be elaborate in a variety of price ranges. Chief advantage of the new form is that they are readily packed or carried on the person.

The education committee, consisting of Mrs. J. M. Hartwick and Dr. E. H. Adams was given authority to make a decision in regard to diplomas.
