

OBITUARY

MRS. ELLEN P. COTTLE Mrs. Ellen P. Cottle, 81, of Lock Haven, died at the Lock Haven Hospital Wednesday, May 12. She had been ill since Tuesday with pneumonia. Born in Marsh Creek, she had resided in Lock Haven for the past 15 years. She was a member of the Methodist church at Beech Creek. Surviving are three sons and a daughter, Elbridge of Logan- ton; Freeman, and Mrs. Sylvester Kenneley of Lock Haven, and Alvie of Beech Creek; also eight grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Harry Kitchen, Beech Creek; two half brothers, Harry and Andrew Watkins, Wood- rich, and a half sister, Mrs. Hannah Chub, of Lock Haven. Funeral services were held at the Helt Funer- al Home, Sunday, with the Rev. Reburn L. Fritz officiating. Interment was made in Clark Cemetery, Beech Creek.

SHIRLEY ANDERSON Shirley Grace Anderson, 3-year- old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, of 456 South Broad street, Jersey Shore, died in the Community Hospital at 2:40 a. m. Saturday, May 8, 1943, after eating a quantity of medical pills which contained strychnine. During the absence of her mother on Friday evening Shirley climbed from a chair to the cabinet and reached the bottle which con- tained the pills and ate them before she was discovered. She was taken to the hospital but all efforts to save her life failed. In addition to her parents she is survived by a sister, Carol Jean. Services were held at the Downs Funeral Home, Jersey Shore, Monday afternoon, the Rev. W. R. Fitzgerald, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, officiating. Interment was made in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

having killed her, and for a small consideration, would take out the cuts and let them run about on the kitchen floor and play. "The Johnstons were in no hurry to depart, as Mother's 'pieces,' thick slices of homemade bread with jelly between, pies, and coffee were of the best, but she kept reminding Mrs. Johnston she should return to her children up there on the ridge, but they hung around most of the day. The memory of that day and event will never be erased from my mem- ory. Old mountaineers have hinted to me that Johnson, through a spirit of revenge and a grudge against the Colbys for having ousted him from the farm in the Narrows, in later years prompted him to have a hand in helping to prompt the crime. "But others think differently, and one will probably never know the correct incidents which led to this shocking, wholesale murder of a defenseless family." In later years the late Judge Charles A. Mayer's secretary, Irvin Hagerman, said that threats were sent to the jurist, if he would sentence the murderer, Lute Shaffer to death, that he was not the one who committed the crime, but the convicted murderer paid the penalty in the court-yard of Lock Haven jail. "Some bark-peelers, ten years later, camped on Cherry Run, said they sometimes saw a stranger about the ruins of the Colby cabin, but he ran so fast they could never overtake him. Some of the boys were out for shooting him, but cooler counsels prevailed, lest the stranger be some poor simpleton from Little Sugar Valley, fascinated by the details of the crime. "Fresh light on the murder is being sought by Altoona's talented gift historian-artist, Mrs. Marion G. Jones-Snyder, whose husband, a well- known sportsman maintains a hunt- er's bungalow at the point where

He will leave for Of- ficers' Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., at the end of the month.

WOODWARD

The East Penns Valley High School seniors, and Revs. Entz and Teaman, thirty-five in all, were sup- per guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hesterman of the Woodward Hotel Tuesday of last week. All had a de- lightful evening together. Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Musser and family of near Hartleton, made a surprise visit to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Musser, last Thursday, it being his father's sev- enty-seventh birthday anniversary. His father is not very well. His hip joint which was injured by a saw- mill boiler explosion, many years ago, is giving him a great deal of trouble. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Whitmyer, accompanied by their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitmyer, were Sunday guests of the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Whitmyer, at Millfin. Pic. Nevin Bowersox of Middle- town, was a weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bower- sox. His wife and infant daughter accompanied him to his place of em- ployment for a week's visit on Sun- day afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Mingle, their daughter Phyllis, and grandchildren of Rearing Spring, were Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. Lydia Mingle. Mrs. Mingle is scarcely able to be about and is suffering from a complication of ailments due to advanced age, being past 80 years. Am- mon always tries to make it as com- fortable and cheerful for his mother as possible and thereby obeys the commandment of the Bible which says, "Honor thy father and moth- er that it may be well with thee and that thou mayest live long on the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." There are other children who should do this to get this Bible blessing.

ORVISTON

There were 141 present at Sunday school. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Poorman and daughters Jean and Ellen, of State College, visited relatives here on Sunday. Mrs. Leo Condo spent several days the past week with relatives at Pittsburgh. Baptismal services were held here on Sunday afternoon, there being 11 persons baptized in the creek. The Royal Women's class held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Lomson on Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. John Sementelli and son Tommy, of Lock Haven, visited their daughter-in-law at the Robert Confer home. Other visitors at the Confer home were Mr. and Mrs. William Cummings and Mrs. Roy Confer and three daughters of Wil- liamsport. Miss Verna Shank spent the week- end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Shank. The Rev. Stauffer of Binghamton, N. Y., preached a trial sermon at Orviston at 11 o'clock, and at the Romola church at 2:30, and Monu- ment at 8 o'clock. He is a very able speaker. While here he was enter- tained at the Clair Butler home. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Leitch and Mrs. Lee Dorman of Howard, visited with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Walker, on Sun- day. Mrs. Joe Heichel, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Leitch, son and daughter, were Sunday afternoon guests at the Walter Shank home. Paul Lomson, who has been con- fined to his home for two weeks, is able to be about again.

SNYDERTOWN

David Dorman, son Howard, and granddaughter Jane, of Aaronsburg, and Mrs. Annie Lutz and Katie Dor- man of town, were Sunday afternoon visitors at the Ed Dorman home. Evening callers at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hinds and son Kenneth. Miss Jean Detrick of Mingsville, spent Friday night with her friend, Miss Jean Walizer. Mrs. Mae Heaton, son Orvis and daughter Beulah, granddaughter Patsy, and Mrs. Ed Dorman, spent Sunday afternoon with relatives at Beech Creek. Mr. and Mrs. John Kissel of Lock Haven, were Monday evening supper guests at the George Hartsberger home.

KENNEDY

Mrs. Harry Lucas and sons, also Mrs. J. F. McCartney, were Belle- fonte shoppers Saturday. Lavern Runkle is much improved at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. "Skinny" Hassley and baby visited Sunday p. m. at the Phil McCartney home. Mrs. Milford Lucas returned home Sunday after spending a few days with friends and parents at Tyrone. Mr. and Mrs. George Dolan and children was in our village Sunday p. m. Callers at the J. F. McCartney home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and daughter of Miles- burg, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McCartney and Mr. and Mrs. Phil McCartney and family. Mrs. H. Alkey, who has spent the winter in Bellefonte, came home to her own house a few days last week. The farmers are being held back and are late in getting their plant- ing done. Miss Dorothy and Louis Runkle were Bellefonte shoppers on Satur- day.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture. Rotenone is Available—Rotenone insecticides packaged in quantities of one pound or less (dust or powder), or 1 pint or less (liquid), are now more readily available, exten- sion entomologists of the Pennsylv- ania State College report. A recent amendment to War Production Board's Conservation Order M-133 provides for the removal of restric- tions on the use and certification of this insecticide in small quantities. Promote Chick Comfort—Proper ventilation of the brooder house helps to prevent possible trouble from crowding, according to poultry specialists at the Pennsylvania State College. Ventilation is especially im- portant in warm weather because it helps to remove excess heat from the building. Chicks will crowd from too much heat as well as from too little, the specialists point out. Transplant Quickly—To prevent spread of disease and resulting poor stands and yields, transplant all shipped plants as soon as possible after they are received, remind plant pathologists at the Pennsylvania State College. When the plants ar- rive, the center bundle should be re- moved so that air can circulate among the plants. Do Not Pasture Calves—A young calf should not be handled develop- edly to handle sufficient stress to keep the calf growing as it should. Therefore, dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State College suggest keeping calves under 12 months of age off pasture. Provide Emergency Feed—Soy- beans provide an emergency hay al- most equal to alfalfa. Penn State agronomists say that soybeans also may be run into the silo, either alone with corn, to add protein and carotene to the ration. Peeling Season Short—Cold weather this spring has shortened the pulpwood peeling season, Penn State foresters report.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

INWARD BEAUTY Some girls and women sit down and bemoan the fact that nature didn't bless them with beautiful skin and lovely noses, curly locks and a Venus-like figure, but we wonder, after all, how much of a handi- cap is to be born plain.

When the average "plain" girl looks into her mirror and realizes what she can't remake her nose into what she thinks would be the proper shape, that she can't get a new coat- ing of skin to replace that she al- ready has, then, if she is wise at all, she will realize that there are other beauty lines that she can develop herself along.

After all, you know, there really is something to the time-worn say- ing, "Beauty is only skin deep." And, as we go through the world and come into contact with those of beautiful features, how often we come to realize that there isn't much to those people but their beauty. They're often shallow of mind and feelings, depending upon their beauty alone to get them through the world.

Those of us who haven't what we think of our rightful proportions of good looks have to develop our minds and our hearts in order to take our places in the race of life. Did you ever stop to realize that some of the most brilliant, most sought-after women in the world are not beauties?

Take a list of the world's greatest actresses and see whether or not they gained their places by reason of their abilities or because of their beauty. Sarah Barnhardt was far from being beautiful, yet so great was she that one never noticed her lack of beauty. Katherine Hepburn, who has twice won the Motion Pic- ture prize for her performances, is certainly not a beauty and yet so great is her histrionic ability, one forgets to look for perfect features or beautiful hair.

The woman who lacks good looks should make up for that lack by the development of good qualities. Good taste in dress should be cultivated, she can be chic, dainty and by the selection of the right clothes often overcome her physical faults.

By cultivating a sense of the beautiful, she can appreciate, to a high degree, beautiful things. It is possible for her to have a beautiful voice. She can develop a grace of movement, a beautiful carriage that will be the envy of her more beau- tiful sisters.

And, above all, the plain girl or woman can cultivate a beautiful spirit which will cause her to stand out among her friends as a delight- ful person to be with at all times. Let's not bemoan our plainness, but let it be a challenge to us to make ourselves beautiful within and our exteriors will take care of them- selves.

Callers at the J. F. McCartney home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and daughter of Miles- burg, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McCartney and Mr. and Mrs. Phil McCartney and family. Mrs. H. Alkey, who has spent the winter in Bellefonte, came home to her own house a few days last week. The farmers are being held back and are late in getting their plant- ing done. Miss Dorothy and Louis Runkle were Bellefonte shoppers on Satur- day.

GASOLINE: This corner chiseled a ride to "Fishermen's Paradise" on Friday morning because our "A" gasoline tank is running low. When we got to the place we wondered if we're living in a little gasoline-less world all our own, for the place was jammed with cars. Fishermen from all parts of the State were worried about nothing more than whether the water was too cold, or whether gray tackle might not work better than a red one. The big question in our mind is "How do they do it?"

TRIBUTE: When Fish Commissioner Charles French, speaking at the Kiwanis-Rotary fishermen's dinner here last Thursday night said Bellefonte was fortunate to have a musical organiza- tion like the Titan Male Chorus, he was speaking with some author- ity. Before becoming fish commis- sioner Mr. French was a music teacher.

WHAT'S WRONG? Can't understand why there isn't a larger turnout for the send-off parties being held by local clubs in honor of those called to service. Monday night the Moose Club had a brief program of speeches, an ex- cellent concert by the Titan Male Chorus, and a fine Dutch lunch. More than 50 selectees and their guests had signed acceptances, but less than a score showed up. Wish some selectee would explain just why the send-offs don't draw 100 per cent attendance.

RATIONING: We don't mind gasoline rationing so much. Food rationing has cut lit- tle off our waistline. The lack of sug- ar, ham, potatoes and other detab- les is inconvenient, but we can't really mind. Shoe rationing hasn't hurt us, and all told, we're doing all right, except for one thing. We don't care how much cloth it saves, or of flag of patriotism, we suppose. But it still gripes us to the very core to have to replace a shirt tail every time we bend three degrees past the vertical.
