

Robinson Freed on Burglary Count

Those who were called to the witness stand by the Commonwealth were H. S. Shomberg, proprietor of the burglarized store; S. R. Richardson, of the State Police at Rockview Penitentiary, who investigated the robbery, and William Kelley, who is serving time for participation in the crime.

Although Robinson was freed on the Centre county charge he is serving from 4 to 8 years in the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia on a conviction in Clearfield county as accessory before the fact in the theft in April, 1941, of $8,000 in furs from the Clearfield Taxidermy Company. In the Clearfield case, Swartz, Kelley and Harry Walls, all of Altoona, pleaded guilty to actual commission of the burglary and were sent to the Western Penitentiary. Robinson originally was sentenced to serve his time in the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh, but later obtained a transfer to the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia.

Nevin Franklin Auman, 18, Spring Mills, entered a plea of guilty to burglary and because he is a parole violator from the State Industrial School at Camp Hill, was sentenced to return to that institution.

Auman was charged with the theft of tools valued at $5 from the T. J. Decker garage at Spring Mills on May 5. Pvt. John Eisenhooth, of the State Police at Rockview, prosecutor in the case, said Auman was released from Camp Hill in March this year.

Auman's attorney told the court the defendant had tried repeatedly to get into the armed forces, but that he was turned down because of the parole against him. Judge Walker said that the court usually is willing to help previous offenders to get into the armed forces, and asked why Auman had not consulted the court in an effort to get his record straightened out. Auman declared he had no way to get to Bellefonte to make such a request, but the court pointed out Auman had no difficulty in getting to Lock Haven and other nearby places where he is alleged to have stolen cars on several occasions.

Since his discharge from Camp Hill, Auman worked for a time with his father in the woods, then obtained a job at the Lock Haven Silk Mill but lost the job several weeks later. Parole officers said he took two cars in Lock Haven.

R. Ward Fuller, of Clearfield, charged with violation of the securities act, in the sale of worthless stock, pleaded guilty but sentence was deferred until the September term of court to give Fuller opportunity to make restitution to his "victims" of money fraudulently obtained. His bail was renewed.

Orville H. Hockenberry, of Bellefonte, R. D., charged with a and b, was found guilty by a jury and the court entered an order providing for the support of the illegitimate child.

Mack Smith, of Philipsburg, was acquitted of a drunken driving charge but the jury directed that the defendant pay the costs.

The May session ended its deliberations late yesterday morning when a jury in the case of Elmer Fike and William McLaughlin, of near Philipsburg, charged with robbery, returned a verdict of guilty.

The two men were sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and to serve from 5 to 10 years each in the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh.

One civil case which was scheduled to have been tried at the conclusion of the criminal cases, was set out of court early this week, and court concluded with the sentencing of Fike and McLaughlin.

Large Throng at Shrine Ceremony

Speaking at the Shrine, General Vall, particularly emphasized the patriotism of the Home Guard.

"Those who belittle the Guard don't know what they are talking about," he exclaimed. "You cannot find a more patriotic group of men."

He paid tribute to the memory of his comrades and urged public acclamation of Gold Star mothers—mothers of those men who have been killed in action in present and past wars.

An international touch was added to the occasion by the presence of Colonel Moscoso, military representative of President Enrique Penaranda of Bolivia. He was introduced by Pierre de L. Boal, son of the founder of the shrine and present U. S. ambassador to Bolivia.

Highlight of the ceremony was when the 112th Infantry which had collected $500 for a memorial tablet in memory of members killed in action during World War I, announced that it was going to put the money into a War Bond, to be given to the Society of the 28th Division with the hope that it would later be redeemed and used for the memorial.

Two retired generals and former commanders of the 28th Division, Maj.-Gen. E. C. Shannon and Maj.-Gen. William G. Price, spoke briefly at the services.

Other distinguished guests included: Ida Mae Kelley, national president, Ladies Auxiliary; Lambert J. Sullenberger, national commander; Congressman James E. VanZandt; State Senator A. H. Letzler; Dr. Ralph D. Hitzel and Col. Edward D. Ardery.

Prior to the ceremony at the shrine, a special service was held at the monument to the 17th Machine Gun unit, Congressmen VanZandt spoke.

Four hundred Air Force trainees then featured the review before distinguished guests. Participants in the parade included:

Company H, Second Infantry (Altoona); Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps; representatives of Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion posts from State College, Bellefonte and Altoona; Society of 28th Division posts; State College American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps; Bellefonte American Legion Junior Band; Bellefonte VFW Pipe and Drum Corps; Society of the 25th Division Auxiliaries and 107th Machine Gun Association.

Marshal of the parade was Carl C. Tinstman, deputy secretary of health and past commander of the society. William A. Miller of Harrisburg, former state commander and director of memorials for the society, was chairman of the shrine program.

Complete arrangements for the afternoon services were made by the Centre County Post of the Society of the 28th Division, headed by John Popson, of Bellefonte, commander. He was assisted by Harris Holmes, State College, vice-commander, and Robert T. Willard, Bellefonte, adjutant.

HOUSEHOLD FATS ARE VITAL NEEDS

County Quota of Fats Set at 7,500 Pounds for June

An all-out effort to collect a million and a half pounds of Waste Kitchen Fats from the homes of Pennsylvania during the month of June was announced yesterday.

This county's quota is 7,500 pounds, according to R. J. Kennard, chairman of the Salvage Committee of the Centre County Council of Defense.

"The need for waste household fats is so acute at this time, that we are asking every housewife in this county to save every day one tablespoon of waste fats, to kitchen drippings," said Mr. Kennard.

"Kitchen fats are needed for the manufacture of glycerine from which ammunitions is made. The need is greater than at any time since the beginning of the war.

"We are asking the housewives of this county to save their waste fats in a tin can, kept in a cool place, until they have acquired a pound. It should then be taken to the butcher shop, and the meat dealer will pay them four cents a pound for it.

"The local meat dealer disposes of his waste fats to a renderer. He puts your cans of fat into huge vats. The greases melt under heat that is applied. The cans, which do not melt, are removed, cleaned and sent to the detinning plants for the tin can salvage.

"After being melted down, your waste fats are shipped by the renderer to the glycerine manufacturer. The manufactured glycerine, treated with nitric acid and sulphuric acid, produces nitro-glycerine, one of the most powerful explosives known to man.

"Nitro-glycerine usually is mixed with other substances. Some of the resulting products are used to load the shells that are fired at the enemy. Others become 'propellants' and go into the mechanisms from which aircraft guns and anti-tank guns, and release mechanisms of the depth charges which our destroyers use against submarines.

"It's a long journey from the housewife's frying pan to the firing line, but it's a line that must be kept alive through the war. Just now explosives are needed more than ever before.

"The boys from this county who are fighting in Africa or in the Pacific expect us to keep them supplied with ammunition. We cannot do so unless every housewife does her full share."
