New Potatoes Are Due by Mid-June

A. & P. Expert Predicts Shortage Will Be Ended by Heavy Shipments

Potato-hungry Americans will get plenty of new potatoes to eat by the middle of June, the nation's largest buyer of fresh fruits and vegetables predicted this week.
"Abnormal weather, which retarded the crop in some states, combined with increased acreages in other states will cause a bigger volume of early potatoes than last year to be harvested between now and the middle of June," said Harvey A. Baum, vice president and general manager of the A. & P. Tea Company's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company. "All of these early potatoes will be available for use in this country because they are not suitable for export."
"Government crop reports and advices from our company's field offices throughout the nation indicate that from present acreages there will be 5,000,000 more bushels of early potatoes available this year than in 1942. During June, heavy supplies will be shipped simultaneously from California, South Carolina, North Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama and other states."
Baum said severe frozes delayed maturity of early potatoes in some states so much that many producing areas, the harvest of which usually is spread out, will be sending potatoes to market at the same time. The adverse weather also helped create the acute shortage of potatoes experienced in the past few weeks, he added.
"Housewives should remember that new potatoes have to be consumed within a reasonable period after harvest inasmuch as these varieties are much more perishable than late potatoes and cannot be stored," Baum said. "Thus the big supply expected in June will have to be eaten by civilians and armed forces within this country because early potatoes are not suitable for shipment overseas."
Baum reported that supplies of other vegetables and fruits are increasing weekly, being augmented in many sections by local production. Some vegetables are reaching peak production and housewives are beginning to buy for home canning, he said. Canning at such times, when particular fruits and vegetables are available in the largest quantities will aid the war effort by conserving perishable food that might otherwise be wasted.
