Clare Shawley is very ill. We hope that he may be restored to his usual health.

Some of us had cards from Milford Pitzer, who recently went to the army. He misses home folks, the mountains and the freedom of civilian life.

One of the oldest religious periodicals in the United States—"direct descendants of the first religious newspaper in America"—is changing editors. Dr. William Edgar Gilroy, of the past two years, was editor of "Advance," official organ of the Congregational church and long one of the foremost religious writers in the country, is retiring; and the editorial desk will be taken over by Dr. John R. Scotford, Congregational writer, pastor and authority on home missions. The editorial office will be moved from Boston to New York.

"Advance" traces its beginning to the "Boston Recorder," founded by Nathaniel Willis in 1816, "the first journal which presented to the public a common or complete newspaper founded upon a religious basis."

In the post-war world, if the Four Freedoms are really to mean anything to men, society must see that there is enough food made available to all its members to give each at least a minimum adequate nutrition.

President Roosevelt told the United Nations Food Conference at its sessions in Virginia, "And they must see to it," he added "that no hindrances, whether of international trade, or of transportation, or of internal distribution be allowed to prevent any nation or group of nations within a nation from obtaining the food necessary for health."

This statement of the President has been widely acclaimed by church people, especially by medical missionaries who assert that whole nations of Asia have been undernourished for centuries.

The Church Committee for China Relief is $20 richer and an orphan child in China is to have food and support because of the "bad hand" which the employees of the Retail Merchants Credit Association of Los Angeles, Cal., impose upon themselves. Over a period of months the members accumulate this "tax" and then distribute it to charitable causes. "Many of us feel greatly benefited by the tax," says Supervisor E. A. Willibe.

A just and durable peace, relief and reconstruction, and the problems of race as related to missions both foreign and home, are topics that will be discussed under the leadership of nationally-known speakers at the conference on the Christian World Mission, July 13-20, 1943, at Silver Bay, on Lake George, New York. These and kindred topics will be featured under the general subject, "Christianity and the World Crisis." The program is planned for missionaries and lay workers such as church officers, leaders of mission groups, leaders of youth groups, church school teachers or those willing to prepare for such leadership. Any one eighteen years of age or older may attend, the number limited to 250 delegates. The three interdenominational agencies sponsoring the conference are Home Missions Council of North America, Foreign Missions Conference of North America, and the Missionary Education Movement of the United States and Canada. The registrant is Dr. G. Q. LeSourd, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
