Mosquitoes
Much can be done towards eliminating the mosquito menace if all the screens are wiped over with a pungent oil such as citronella, camphor or cedar.

'Pay-as-You-Go' Tax Bill Becomes Law

Special anti-windfall provisions designed to capture excess war profits. Under the new law each taxpayer still must pay June 15 the second installment on the Federal income tax liability as shown in the return he filed last March.

March 15 Payment
The March 15 and June 15, 1943, payments then will be treated as payments in respect to taxpayers' 1943 liability.

For most wage and salary earners the remainder of the 1943 obligation will be collected through the 20 per cent withholding levy. Persons with income other than wages and salary will estimate on September 15 their income for 1943, and pay the remaining liability in two installments, September 15 and December 15. Similarly, persons with wages or salary above the withholding level will estimate on September 15 their total tax for 1943 and pay that part above the withholding level in two installments.

All taxpayers will file a final return on or before next March 15 and on this return adjustments will be made for differences between the estimated or withheld tax and the correct tax reported by the taxpayer.

CEREALS PINCH HIT FOR POTATOES IN DAY'S MENU

For some families, the white potato is almost nonexistent except for seed potatoes. Potatoes are a starchy food, supplying the body with heat and energy, but there are other foods that do the same thing. Reminds Miss Helen S. Butler, home economics extension representative of Centre county. Macaroni or spaghetti can take the place of the potato. Either may be served with melted cheese, or a cheese sauce, or with a tomato seasoned with herbs or spices and onion. Rice may be served in the same way or made into croquettes. Boiled rice may be used instead of mashed potatoes, serving it with gravy from the meat. Rice also can be used for the top crust of a meat pie. Polished rice, brown rice, or wild rice are all equally good.

Ground beef and uncooked rice mixed together, made into balls, and cooked slowly in tomato sauce makes unusual appearing meat balls called porcupines.

Another good alternate for potatoes are noodles, which may be combined with ground leftover meat, mushrooms, and gravy, and baked in a casserole. Bread stuffing seasoned with celery and onions has many uses. It may be baked separately in a baking dish, or used to stuff a shoulder of veal or lamb or a beef heart, or rolled into a flank or round steak and braised, or baked in the pan with the roast. These are in addition to the stuffing for fowl.

Yorkshire pudding is another pinch hitter for potatoes. The batter is poured into the roasting pan under the wire rack in the roaster where it cooks in the drippings of the roast.

KEEPS NESTS CLEAN AND SAVES LABOR WITH EGGS

Last summer Brookville high school boy in Jefferson county was working for a nearby farmer and when the school term started he asked for work on Saturdays. The first Saturday that he reported the farmer told him to clean and add litter to the nests in the laying house, and also put some fresh litter on the floor. When the boy reported the second week the farmer was not at home so he again checked the litter in the nests and on the floor, reports County Agent R. C. Blaney.

The results were so satisfactory because the floor litter kept relatively dry by adding small amounts each week and with the clean nests there were few eggs that needed cleaning. A comment was that for every hour it required to put nesting material in the nests, and litter on the floor, three hours were saved when packing eggs, because there were practically no eggs that needed cleaning. As a result, the high school boy had employment every Saturday throughout the school term and much time was saved when the eggs were packed. Studies made on other poultry farms show that this same system of litter management can be used to save much time on many other farms.

TIGHTER:
The new OPA ban on non-essential driving is having its effect again. Every time you see a car past, you hear someone ask: "Is THAT essential driving?" While we're on the subject, we'd like for a couple of OPA agents to drive out Spring Creek some of these fine evenings. They'll find cars parked along the stream, and men, engaged in the essential business of catching fish. Sure, it's our grapes. We'd like to go fishing, too.
