The members discussed business, played games and sang songs. Miss Helen Butler, home economics extension leader for Centre county, is very helpful and invites all girls between the ages of 10 and 21 years to join the club. Miss Betty Lomison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lomison, and Mr. Robert Yearick, son of Mrs. Genevieve Yearick, were united in marriage before an altar decorated with peonies, roses and gladiolus at the Walnut street Church of Christ Sunday at 4 p. m. by their pastor, Rev. W. K. McDowell and her class of girls. Her progress is being made in the rehearsals for the program and everything points to a fine evening of music, recitations, and a play to be presented by the young people of the church. Each year, upon this occasion, an offering is received, which is placed in the funds of the Board of Education of the Methodist church and is dispensed to worthy students as loans, that they may have some assistance in obtaining college or seminary education. At present, there are several young people of the Howard charge attending schools of higher learning, and these as well as others in the future will be eligible to receive help from this fund in the event they need it. The Howard charge has given several of its sons to the ministry, and some of these have been recipients of help from this fund. Likewise, the total program of Christian education receives support from this fund, and through it, the entire church and nation benefits from the type of Christian character and leadership that is made possible through the funds so raised. There is no greater investment than that which is made in building human character. Attend the program and give of your help in educating these young people.
