The people of Centre county should not fail to buy their quota of war bonds. After all, it's our war.

The government is no better than the average of its citizens. Next time you abuse the government, give yourself a once-over from a standpoint of a responsible citizen of a great nation, engaged in a serious war.

As a matter of information we mention that war expenditures which averaged about $90,000,000 daily for the past three years, will reach $265,000,000 a day during the present fiscal year.

Army officials estimate that one-fourth of American soldiers killed in battle do not carry Government insurance, and those injured carry only one-half the permissable maximum. Attention is directed to the fact that, until August 10th, any member of the armed services can get $10,000 in life insurance without a physical examination. The price averages about $7 a month for the average age, 28 years.

Jurors in the Pennsylvania courts next year will receive four dollars per day, an increase from three dollars. The act becomes effective the first Monday of January, 1944. The law does not change the rate of pay for witnesses who will continue to receive $2 per day for their services. Mileage at the rate of six cents per mile is paid jurors and witnesses for only one day of their attendance at court.

New passenger fares have been adopted by the leading airlines of the nation, with the result that general fares are set up on the basis of 5.5 cents a mile. Considering the speed of aircraft this rate is getting close enough to give the railroads considerable competition after the war when there will be a great many aircraft available,

IT IS WISE TO BUY WAR BONDS

The purchase of war bonds is the civilian's participation in the nation's supreme war effort and there should be no let-up in the campaign to increase Centre county's investment in these securities.

The man, woman or child who buys a war bond has the satisfaction of knowing that his, or her, act helps provide the tools of warfare for our brave soldiers and sailors. In addition, there is the certain knowledge that such a purchase improves the financial position of the buyer and helps ward off the dread spectre of inflation.

We would urge all those who have purchased war bonds to hold on to them as long as possible. Obviously, it will not help the nation if one buys a bond one month and sells it the next. Equally obvious is the fact that such transactions will not increase the financial assets of the buyer. Since the sale of "defense" bonds began purchasers have rendeemed only six per cent of these securities. However, the trend of redemption is upward. Whereas, in 1942 the average was only 3.9 per cent, the figure for June was 15.3 per cent. It should not be necessary to point out to all those who are now enjoying increased incomes that they are sharing in the war boom, which cannot last forever. It is good to put aside, in flush times, something for a rainy day.

Money permanently invested in war bonds will cushion the postwar strains that will inevitably develop and, even if your improved income becomes permanent, give you a solid investment that can be used, in peace time, for many important purchases.

It is difficult for every citizen to buy war bonds on the same scale or to hold the securities after they are purchased. Individuals must decide for themselves, in the full knowledge of their financial position and obligations, just how much they can invest and save. Barring unexpected emergencies the purchase of a war bond should be a permanent investment, at least until the war ends.

WORDS WITHOUT END

Every time Congressman 'Jeemy' VanZandt opens his mouth words come out. The Altoona Adonis has a propensity for talking a lot

About a year ago he made a speech in Pittsburgh (there must have been two voters from this district visiting there). In that speech he quoted figures on war production, and generally, violated the censorship ban under which all newspapers, who had access to the same figures, refrained from publishing them. That speech earned him tongue lashings from hundreds of papers all over the country (including many GOP sheets). He was roundly trounced for talking out of turn.

But that didn't teach our gregarious m.c. a lesson. On the contrary, it made him more talkative, if that were possible.

VanZandt's latest blab was made against Henry Kaiser, shipbuilding genius who has done more to keep the supplies of war moving overseas than any other single man in the country. Our congressman was a member of the House Merchant Marine subcommittee, sent to the west coast to investigate the building of a new type of troop carrier by Kaiser. The committee snooped around the new shipyard, then gave out with such cracks as "One of the greatest messes VanZandt is credited with "Where is the remarkable record of Kaiser shipbuilding we have heard so much about?" The committee was set straight by Admiral Howard Vickery, a man who should know. He pointed out that the yard was on schedule, that the carriers would be delivered when due, and that Kalser had set a record which no other yard in the country would beat. He added, "The kind of talk I've heard this week from the subcommittee stirs up trouble

Of course nobody expects congressmen to know everything; but Van-Zandt is a commissioned naval officer, and should know something of the problems in the shipbuilding game.

Maybe the country should be happy that the Altoona Adonis is on inactive duty. If he were in command of any part of the navy our half of the ocean would probably be the bottom half.—Clearfield Times,

LOUISA'S LETTER

I have been reading your letters for a long time and I believe that you have answered them all correctly. Please answer the following for me; Why do boys flock around some young girls while there are other girls in the community that they forget even live and pay them no attention at all? "BLONDIE"-N. Well, Blondie, it seems to be mainly because of that something we call personality. Some people are born with it, and others have to develop

She can see that the child knows how to keep herself well-groomed. that she knows how to act under all circumstances so that she can be at ease with young or old. She can high-light her successes and keep her failures in the background.

I know one mother who always made her child think that she was the loveliest girl in any company. The child was no beauty, but she was so sure of herself that her lack of it never worried her.

The girls who are popular are usually those who are interested in other people and other things. They are not wet blankets but pretty good

AMERICAN HEROES

When Richard Breckenridge's submarine made a hurried dive off Japan, a hatch jammed, but he ignored the order to abandon the rapidly flooding conning tower and remained behind, desperately trying to fasten it. By succeeding, he saved vital equipment for his submarine and became the first enlisted man in the submarine service to win the Navy Cross. He was willing to give his life. No human being can endure more than a certain amount of torture before cracking. The Huns and the Japs have found that out. That was why they set out to torture our men through the long hours of the jungle darkness while the fever burnt them and the monotonous downpour of the rain never ceased. Through it all, they could hear the constant hum and buzz of the deadly insects.

Then too, the Japs never let up their cursing, bombing, and infernal noises during the hideous nights. The Marines, brave men that they were, could face these devils in open combat, but this hell in the darkness! Every fiber of their beings ached with pain and weariness. They were worn down.
