Electric Range or Roaster Owners: YOUR FOOD PRESERVATION QUESTIONS ANSWERED. You housewives who own an electric range or roaster are particularly fortunate.

Perhaps you have never gone in for food preservation—there has never been such necessity for it as exists today.

ASK AT OUR NEAREST OFFICE—OR WRITE TODAY. For years past, and especially this spring and summer, West Penn's Home Economics Department has been testing electric food preservation methods.

Nevertheless, if you have any questions regarding the electric methods for canning fruits and acid vegetables—or for using the recommended pressure cooker method for canning non-acid vegetables and meats—or for dehydrating certain vegetables and fruits—our Home Economics Department will be glad to be of assistance to you.

Just write to the Home Economics Department, West Penn Power Co., Box 1736, Pittsburgh 30, Pa. or inquire at the nearest West Penn office—and the information will be forthcoming.
