JANET SOISSON SPEAKS AT CLUB MEETING HERE

"Meat Alternates and Dehydration of Fruits and Vegetables" was the subject of a talk by Miss Janet Soisson of Bellefonte, at a meeting of the Garden Club last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. William Bradford. Mrs. Paul Martz assisted Mrs. Bradford as a hostess.

These other members attended: Mrs. George Heckman, Mrs. George Stover, Mrs. William P. Campbell, Mrs. Edgar Miller, Mrs. Charles A. Miller, Mrs. T. C. Williams, Miss Jennie Thomas, Mrs. Charles H. Light, Mrs. Henry Kimbrell, Mrs. J. Harold Durst, and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart.

SPECIAL MUSIC IS FEATURE OF HOMECOMING

The fifteenth annual Homecoming service was held Sunday afternoon in the Egge Hall church with the Rev. W. K. Hosterman, pastor of the Centre Hall charge officiating.

The program took the form of an "Old Hymn" service with only a brief sermon by the Rev. Mr. Hosterman.

Special arrangements of several favorite hymns were sung as duets by William Fohringer and Ralph Walls. Miss Ruth Billow sang "At the End of a Perfect Day," and Mr. Fohringer played a group of hymns on the accordion. Organists for the congregational singing were Mrs. Roy Seanson of State College and Miss Lefa Bltner.

This quaint church has been closed since 1928 but each year during harvest time a homecoming service is held there. It has become widely known because of the large number of people who attend and the distance from which they come.

Three Big Sales Are Scheduled

On Saturday, October 2, Virginia May Garman, at the hotel in Millroy will sell a complete equipment for two beauty parlors, including many items which are now difficult to obtain.

Next Wednesday, Caryl R. Lauer and W. Curtis Lauer, executors of the late Charles R. Lauer, will sell at the residence in Lock Haven an exceptionally fine lot of household goods, including antiques and two Oriental rugs. At the same time Curtis Lauer, one of the executors will sell the major portion of his personal collection of antiques, including chests, tables, grandfather clocks and other clocks, period furniture of all kinds and hundreds of pieces of fine glass.

Still another group of buyers will be interested in a sale to be held on Saturday, October 9, by Arthur P. Stephens at his farm in Pine Grove Mills. Mr. Stephens, in addition to selling livestock, will offer a wide variety of contractor's equipment and materials. Many of the items to be disposed of are now unobtainable on the open market.

Details of all three sales, as well as others, including the sale of the Bellefonte Register of the Centre Democrat this week.

The OPA has ruled that it is permissible to use gasoline to attend public sales and in view of present market conditions, such sales today are the only medium through which some items may be purchased.

For that reason alone, the Sale Register of this newspaper, long recognized as the only complete guide to public sale news in Centre county, is doubly valuable today.
