

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

Frank Detrich is building a handsome residence on East Bishop street. It is a two-story frame building and an ornament to that part of the town.

The new Stroudsburg Normal School opened with over 200 students in attendance, more than twice as many as accommodations had been prepared for. Prof. George P. Bible is highly pleased with the promising outlook for his new educational center.

Today there will be a large gathering of Knights of the Golden Eagle at Osceola where a reunion takes place. Bellefonte Castle will be largely represented. A large parade in the forenoon and an elaborate display of fireworks in the evening are among the principal attractions.

On Friday night Mrs. Emma Roberts, who had been visiting at the home of Rev. James P. Hughes, died after a brief illness of a month. The deceased was the mother of Mrs. Hughes, who died about one year ago. The remains were sent to Manchester, Vermont, her former home, for interment.

On Saturday Cal J. Smith, a young man about 23 years of age, died at the residence of his father, Jacob Smith, near Tusseyville. The young man was taken ill some time ago by a severe attack of the grippe from which he never fully recovered. His lungs became affected and consumption caused his death. Mr. Smith was a fine young man in many respects and in that community was always highly spoken of.

On Friday evening Mr. John Brugger and sister, Lizzie, both of Unionville, had a serious mishap while on their way home. They were driving two horses in a buggy. When in the vicinity of Frank McCoy's residence they got too near the side of the road and the one horse began to fall down the steep embankment. The harness broke and the horse rolled down some thirty feet. By good luck the other horse and the buggy remained in the road. Miss Brugger came into town for assistance and the animal was helped up to the pike. It was badly bruised about the knees, but they were able to continue their journey to Unionville.

On Monday evening a cranial white carriage, drawn by a beautiful team of white horses with pure white harness, in which two negroes who were dressed in white suits and Prof. G. W. White, appeared in town. In the evening they gave an entertainment on the Diamond that attracted a large audience. The large colored man who is remarkable for his huge mouth, amused the audience by opening and closing his immense trap and, capped the climax by putting a large tumbler in his mouth. He has been offered a good salary by the Pennsylvania Railroad and he may accept the position—they want him to use that opening in his face as a round house. Prof. White is introducing advertising and selling a medicine known as "White's Wonder Workers," which he claims will work wonders in certain ailments. He appears to be a perfect gentleman and is one of the finest street talkers who ever appeared in our town. He expects to remain in Bellefonte this week.

Last evening Mr. William Rhinesmith and Miss Della Hull were married at the home of the bride's parents on South Allegheny street. County Superintendent of Schools C. L. Gramley, estimated the total value of school property in Centre county at $272,731. Bellefonte's schools were valued at $50,000.

Bob Garman resigned his position in Achenbach's jewelry store last Saturday. After a week's vacation he will continue in the same business, having obtained a position with his uncle. Bob is an energetic young man and we know he will succeed. Irvin's hardware store is being repaired and refinished on the interior. A new wood-paneled ceiling is being put in, and will also be painted throughout. When completed it will be one of the finest salesrooms in Bellefonte.

Two gentlemen have a fanning mill on exhibition in a vacant room at the Brockhoff House. It seems to be a remarkable machine for cleaning grain. An effort is being made to organize a company to manufacture the machine at this place.

George B. Brandon, former proprietor of the Brockhoff House, was in Bellefonte for a short time last week. Mr. Brandon will not remain long at Spangler, since he has rented a hotel at Norrisdown. He doesn't like the coal regions of Cambria county.

On Saturday death again visited the home of Benjamin Fulton by taking away the remaining infant twin daughter. The funeral occurred on Sunday. This is the third death in that family this summer—mother and twins. Surely Mr. Fulton has his full share of sorrow.

Bellefonte liverymen are having a bit of rivalry at present. The right to run carriages to the Pennsylvania Railroad station is causing all the trouble and a bit of litigation may follow. Heretofore one good carriage was all that was needed, now three and four go to every train, and the difficulty is to decide who is entitled to the platform privilege.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Michael Hefferan, Jr. and Mary Dempsey, both of Edendale; William A. Neese and Ella B. Heckman, both of Benner Twp.; W. H. Flory and Ida M. Ferguson, both of Pleasant Gap; Philip G. Garbrick, Coleville, and Mary A. Mayes, Bellefonte; John H. Saylor, Rebersburg, and Elizabeth Rose, Millheim; Charles Hixon, Woodward, and Laura Kerstetter, Penn Twp.; Meechek Williams and Susan Rossman, both of Benner; George Rossman and Anna Shner, both of Spring Twp.; Irvin M. Musser, Benner, and Myria A. Geist, Penn Twp.; Horace J. Boon, Calumet, Mich., and Beulah M. Brisban, Centre Hall; Harvey Houser, Bellefonte, and Lizzie Rossman, Spring Twp.; Howard W. Stover and Delphia S. Bowersox, both of Harris Twp.; C. H. Heckman and Lizzie Henderson, both of Benner Twp.; Thomas H. Wise and Teresta Harsh, both of Madisonburg; James O. Hoover and Sella Reese, both of Union Twp.; Frank A. Ward and Nellie B. Funk, both of Phillipsburg; William Rhinesmith and Della Hull, both of Bellefonte.

Twenty Years Ago

G. R. Spigelmyer & Company announced that effective October 1 delivery of daily newspapers in Bellefonte would be discontinued. Inability to secure boys to carry papers was assigned as the reason for the move.

George Morrison, of Pennsylvania Furnace, was so pleased with the treatment he received at the Bellefonte Hospital that he asked for and was granted permission to solicit contributions of canned goods and cash for the institution.

A force of fifty or more men and a dozen trucks were engaged in rebuilding the Centre county portion of the Seven Mountains road. In addition to stone hauled from Mifflin county quarries, much stone was being crushed on the site.

While carpenters were engaged in repairing the A. H. Evey home at Lemont, which had been damaged by fire, the scaffolding broke and Jared Dale fell about 25 feet to the ground. Although he suffered many lacerations and bruises, no bones were broken.

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE GRAY HAIR?
Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by a leading housekeeping magazine. According to this report: Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest color occurred in a 30 year old, the latest in a 25 year old. Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Spectacular cases, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head. Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months. Results—85% of those tested positive evidence of a return of some hair color. Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 100 mg. of Calcium Pantothenate. Same amount used in tests above! PLUS 450 U.S.P. units of B₁₂, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. TRY GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply, $1.50, 100 day supply, $4.00. Phone, write.

Bellefonte Native Tells of Vacation

Inquirer wanted to know why I left their employment. Then it was a Social Security card number. This I did not have, never having needed it working for the salvation Army, but must have one before I could start work in the defense plant. Now I have a number and it is like three telephone numbers. I am not going to try to remember it all.

"I took all day Friday to go through the personnel department, but there were lots of company, and we were all jolly about it, though some of the examination were severe and some did not pass. Age was against me, until I signed up the daytime schedule and checked everything that a high school boy or college man might want to star in, and that made them forget that I was fifty-seven and nearly eight. I even signed for polo, but they instructed me that they didn't allow any horse-play in the plant. I have been wondering why we signed anything for in two weeks we have but taken a shower before leaving the plant and had our clothes washed for us while we slept. Sometimes the laundry doesn't get them back and we have to be fitted out with second hand clothes and they are not the right measurements and then we feel and look funny.

"I thought with the station wagon, I might be more useful to the defense program and plant, but with explanations of how completely the plant was equipped with traction lines and taxi service, that I could help most by getting a wagon load of workers and transport them to and from the plant, as the greatest need was transportation.

"I began this letter with the idea of telling you that I am working out a patriotic duty; it was a finer plan to earn a hundred dollars than to spend a hundred trying to fish my way through. Finally, dressed in the company clothing and looking like a few thousand more, I was led down the line and instructed in a bay where fifteen workers are employed fitting projectiles made with TNT with boosters to cause them to explode at the right time. These fifteen workers are protected by eight-inch to twelve-inch cement walls to keep anybody in the next bay from getting hurt when one of the shells explodes. Of course we are also protected from their accidents by the same cement walls. Finally, my part of the work was to drill out the surplus TNT from the shell so that the booster could be inserted and tightly fastened by set screw. I handled 1,500 of these shells today, each 90 millimeter; there are sixty on a truck, or skid, and twenty-five skids were bored and made ready for the cartridge of smokeless powder that is attached to propel them to the place the projectile is supposed to explode and cause damage to the enemy.

"The TNT comes in fifty pound boxes and is carefully screened and flaked, then it is melted down by 178 degrees of steam heat until it is like water, then it is poured into the steel casting and allowed to cool and harden. Sometimes it is not so cool when it comes to me and the hands that hold it in the lathe so that it can be bored to a depth of nearly two inches and a half. My idea of TNT has been changed by handling twelve to fifteen hundred shells a day. They weigh about thirty pounds apiece and besides being bored into, they sometimes slip and fall with a crash to the cement floor. You just pick them up and begin again, but some day one that falls or some rock is made that sets it off—we then don't expect me to write and tell you how it happened.

"To work among so many men and women, imbued with the same patriotic endeavor and all related to some service man on the fighting front has been a wonderful education to me. You learn to respect the rights of others and admire their daily toil, and they are charitable too—they buy War Bonds, subscribe to funds and have their wages held for taxes. It is true they all make a lot of money, but "De Ducks set off" last week my gross wages were fifty-five dollars, but my check was cashed for forty dollars. This week the gross will be sixty, but "De Ducks" will take about sixteen dollars of that, but forty-five dollars earned instead of spent is a new idea of Social Security, and I wonder why I was so long getting that number, but then there were 350-20-9281 people ahead of me and the line was a long one.

Sunday School Lesson

JESUS AND THE TEN COMMANDMENTS
International Sunday School Lesson for October 2, 1943.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Think not that I came to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfill."—Matthew 5: 17.

(Lesson Text, Matthew 5: 17-20; 19: 16-22; John 5: 39-40).

It is a splendid course of lessons which we have during these last three months of this year—the Ten Commandments and Jesus' expansion of each law; the Old Testament interpretation; the morality of the Old Testament and the Christianity of the New.

The law was given to Moses by God, grace and truth by Jesus Christ. The Ten Commandments are an attempt at expressing in words God's code for man's conduct, but only Jesus can tell us how to live rightly with one another. Jesus goes behind the outward act to the inward motive, and it is, after all, the motive that counts. Standards of morality have differed from age to age, the Christian's privilege is to look back into other standards to Christ's standard of absolute righteousness. The goal of His teaching is something which Jesus ever said, in all of His teaching, could ever be rightly construed as contrary to the law which God had established. In the words of our Golden Text, Jesus declared, "Think not that I came to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfill." Jesus was full aware that the Pharisees would accuse him of doing just that—destroying the law.

A study of verses 20-48 show us that they are a series of illustrations of the way in which he would have the law and the prophets fulfilled, for he would have his followers go much farther than the Old Testament law required. While Moses and the prophets had laid a firm foundation on which to build, God's revelation to them was not final. It was necessary for Jesus to emphasize that obeying the letter of the law was not enough—that one should also obey the spirit of the law.

Jesus also declared that "Till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass away from the law, till all things be accomplished." The jot was the smallest of the Hebrew letters, as Iota was of the Greek. Iota is the projecting point in some of the Hebrew letters. The small strokes that distinguish from one another otherwise similar letters of the Hebrew alphabet. In other words, God's law is immutable and everlasting, and it is as necessary as the days of the prophet, Moses.

However, in his conversation with the rich young man, Jesus showed that just keeping the Commandments is not enough. In questioning the young man, Jesus learned that he had kept all the Commandments from his youth up and yet he realized that something still was lacking. "What lack I yet?" he asked, in his quest for eternal life.

Realizing what was wrong, Jesus counseled the young man to go and sell all his property, give the proceeds to the poor and, then, to come and follow him. Ordinarily, it would not be wise for a wealthy man to give away all his property, rather it would be best for him to manage it wisely and spend generously for the welfare of others. But Jesus realized that this young man was so wrapped up in his possessions that they kept him from God and, in order to get into right relations with his Heavenly Father, it was necessary to part with all of it.

Paul wisely said, "The love of money is the root of all evil," and Emerson also declared that the worst thing about money truly is that it often causes us to miss! Passed with the choice between earthly wealth and "treasure in heaven," the young man turned his back on the very thing which would have given him the most real contentment. In our last reference, taken from John's gospel, Jesus declared, "Ye search the scriptures, because ye think that in them ye have eternal life." He is now condemning the "searching of the scriptures," but he is declaring that the scriptures are only a guide, a map along the journey of life—that the only way to "eternal life" is by acceptance of Christ, who is the only Way. F. B. Meyer advises: "Christ is the Way; love Christ, trust Christ, obey Christ, be concerned with Christ, and all else will be added. Christ is the Way."

SNYDERTOWN

(From Last Week)
Miss Virginia Reich of Oak Hall, was a Saturday evening caller with her friend, Miss Betty Krapp. Mrs. Milford Dorman returned home Saturday evening from New Jersey, after spending several days with friends there. Mrs. W. W. Haagen became seriously ill on Tuesday morning. A doctor was summoned immediately and at this writing she is slowly improving. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Nevin Stover and son Denny accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Walker of Clintondale to Bellefonte on Tuesday afternoon, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Walker and family. Sunday afternoon callers at the Ed Dorman home were Mrs. Kate Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heller and family of Lamar, and Mrs. Anna Beyer, Mrs. Lynn Fromm and son Tommy and friend of Bellefonte. John Spangler has returned home from the Bellefonte Hospital after being there two weeks for a rupture operation. Donald Rockey of State College, was a Sunday visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rockey and family. Miss Marian Rogers and Glenn Rogers, Jr., of Nittany, were Sunday evening callers at the Harry Walker home. Mrs. Glenn Rogers and daughters Helen and Mrs. Norman Stover, of Nittany, called at the Elmer Stover and Annie Lutz homes Sunday evening. Other Sunday visitors at the Stover home were Mr. and Mrs. Max Markle of Bellefonte.

I'M BUYING A USED STUDEBAKER BECAUSE...

I'm a war production worker—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I want a car that's downright easy on tires and gas these war days.

I'm a business man—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I know Studebaker material and craftsmanship won't let me down.

I'm a volunteer worker—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I want a car that's easy to handle and won't fatigue me.

I'm a farmer—I'm buying a used Studebaker because I want a car that won't need a lot of mechanical attention, with manpower scarce.

YOU save tires and gasoline, when you own a used Studebaker Champion, Commander or President. That's because of the pioneering of Studebaker engineers in eliminating needless excess bulk. You save on repair costs, too, because of the high quality of Studebaker materials and craftsmanship. But don't wait too long to order your used Studebaker. They're getting scarce. Besides used Studebakers, our stocks include good used cars of other popular makes.

Keep your car up to par with Studebaker service. Drive in frequently and have your car inspected, no matter what make it is. If adjustments or repairs seem necessary, you'll be given a check list of what needs to be done. Efficient mechanics will do the work quickly and at moderate cost.
