2 Men Face Charges Of Beating Supervisor

(Continued from page one) The car number to police. Officers C. G. Mack and Harry G. Clark were cruising in the radio car when an excited citizen informed them that there had been a bad fight in front of the Fallon Army Hotel at the hotel. They found Mr. Bagon slumped in a chair on the porch. He declined to go to a physician. While the officers were there making an investigation, they saw Allison's car go by, headed east, and they started after it. The policeman saw the car turn left onto the Jay street river bridge and followed it to the school in Upper Lockport, where they succeeded in taking the two men into custody. They locked them in the city jail but the two were later released when each furnished a deposit of $10 for their appearance this morning in police court to answer charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Failed to Appear Mr. Bagon limped into police court this morning but the two assailants failed to make an appearance. After a conference with Alderman Lopez the police decided to press a charge of assault and battery against the two, who have been arrested on previous occasions for being drunk and disorderly. Mr. Bagon, whose home is on Long Island, N. Y., was unable to account for the assault, stating that he is a stranger in Lock Haven and never saw either one of the men before. Allison was arrested June 26 for being drunk and disorderly. In 1939 Spang was arrested on the same charges.

Don't forget to make sure that the very necessary precaution of having drops put into the baby's eyes at the time of birth, prescribed by law in most states, is carried out. Failure to do so may result in serious infection.

"Put on your mittens You silly kittens And you may have some pie." To read the above YOU may not need good lighting, but children do... Just as you do not expect a young child to walk as far or as fast as you can, you do not expect him to read as small type as you do. And he needs the benefit of especially good lighting even when he reads large type nursery rhymes. The Second Reader has smaller type than nursery rhymes; in high school the type is still smaller, and there's more of it to be read. You can protect the young eyes of your home by making sure that— 1. There is enough light in the study lamp. 2. It is well placed to fall on the work. 3. It is free from annoying glare. When you buy a reading lamp, make sure it has a white-lined shade, and a diffusing bowl to break up the glare. I.E.S. tagged lamps are designed to give good lighting. Defective eyes, of course, need the attention of eyesight specialists; but the common sense standards of good lighting can go far to keep healthy eyes healthy. WEST PENN POWER CO. Good Light Protects Sight Thank you... for giving up needless travel! THOUSANDS of Americans, conscious of the vital part that transportation plays in victory, are giving up non-essential trips. That is genuine sacrifice, self-restriction symbolic of American determination to win this war. Half the available Pullman cars and a third of all coaches are now in troop service. Those which are left are carrying an enormous volume of essential war and business travelers. Besides that, many thousands of service men on furlough and people going about the daily business of making a living are taxing available equipment to the limit. That kind of travel MUST come first. With good grace there is almost universal acceptance of the fact that when no Pullman space is available the alternative is a coach, and when coaches are filled, the alternative to standing is to remain at home. For frankly, there is not room at all times for all who would like to travel. Compulsory travel restrictions would restrain the few who consider personal convenience first, but by and large, plain home sense and loyalty are making self-restriction work reasonably well. Americans in the vast majority who ask themselves conscientiously, "Is this trip necessary?" will not undertake any unnecessary journey at the expense of crowding out an essential traveler or a service man on leave for a few precious days at home. To those who have refrained from "pleasure" travel in the interest of their fellow-Americans and the war effort, the Pennsylvania Railroad acknowledges its appreciation. We know that in many cases it has not been easy, because it is human nature for Americans to "go places." But it is this spirit of cooperation that will help win this war. BUY U. S.
