For Treasurer

S. H. Poorman

S. H. Poorman is a son of Sidney I. and Maria B. Poorman and was born at Scotia, Patton township, on November 7, 1896. A few years later the family moved to Penn's Valley where "Sam" received his elementary education in the public schools.

Before he was 18 years of age he was certified to teach by the late D. O. Eters, County Superintendent of Schools, and for two years taught the Rock school in Benner township.

He entered the garage business in 1917 at Pleasant Gap, Pa. In 1920 he moved to Bellefonte where he has conducted a successful garage and sporting goods business ever since.

Ray J. Carper Is 'Newest' Auctioneer

The latest recruit in the ranks of Centre county auctioneers is Ray J. Carper, aged 30, residing in Georges Valley, 2 1/2 miles southwest of Spring Mills.

Carper, a native of the Penn's Valley area, received his education in the Coburn schools. About eight years ago he was attending a church social and someone called on him to auction off a cake. He complied and did so well that as time went on there was scarcely a social in that section where Ray wasn't called on to serve as auctioneer.

Finally someone asked him to conduct a farm sale. That was about six years ago, and Ray has been auctioneering to some extent ever since. He's conducted three sales near Lewisport and at the present has about five farm sales scheduled in the vicinity of his home.

Carper is married to the former Lodie Mae Musser, of Coburn and there are five children in the family, ranging in age from 11 years to five months. He is a farmer by occupation.

This space is dedicated to a paragraph that we wrote and decided was too hot to print.

Mingle Sale Here Grosses Over $1800

The largest public sale of household goods held in Bellefonte in many months insofar as gross receipts are concerned was the auction last Wednesday of the personal property of Roxanna Susan Mingle.

The sale was held by the Bellefonte Trust Company, guardian, at the Mingle home on East High street, and the gross receipts were in excess of $1800.

That figure is believed to be an all-time high for a one-day sale of household goods in the Bellefonte area, although the figure has been exceeded by sales which continued more than one day.

Auctioneers L. Frank Mayes and Herbert Stover began selling about 10:30 in the morning, called an hour's recess for lunch at noon, and then sold all afternoon until about 6 p. m. until the last item was knocked down.

An unusually large crowd of bidders was on hand and prices were at a record high, according to reports.

The Mingle sale is one more bit of proof—if additional proof is needed—that not in many years have public sales been drawing so much attention, and not in many years have prices been so high. Until a year or more ago a public sale of household goods which grossed $500 was considered an exceptionally successful one. Today even an ordinary sale will reach and oftentimes exceed that figure.

Theatre Is Badly Damaged by Fire

Origin of the fire has not yet been determined and fire department officials are investigating the blaze.

The Red Men Lodge, the Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, Bakers' local union, and the Projectionists union used the room as headquarters.

The theatre is badly damaged from fire, smoke and water and some of the seats are covered by burned debris when the floor let loose and the desk, pedestal and chair dropped through.

Within a few feet of the large hole burned through the floor, stood two large safes. It was feared for a time that they would drop through the floor.

The management plans to have the theatre open again just as soon as possible.

Forty-six years ago, after his marriage in Elmira, N. Y., Mr. Markle went to farming at Hubersburg and the following year went to Pleasant Gap where he continued farming until entering the dairy business 20 years ago.

He conducted an extensive milk business through the Bellefonte-Pleasant Gap district until turning over the business some years ago to his son, Ward. He then entered the concrete block manufacturing business, in which he was engaged until the time of his death.

For Register

Harry A. Corman

Courteous and efficient service has been Harry A. Corman's watchword in the administration of the Register's office for the past four years, and to accomplish this unwritten law no task or no favor has been too much trouble.

Persons desiring to obtain marriage licenses at hours other than regular business hours always found Mr. Corman ready to make special arrangements to accommodate them.

Since the passage of the Birth Certificate Act, more than 4000 such certificates have been issued by Mr. Corman. When such records did not appear in the regular volumes and when papers had to be filed to have them recorded, many times the applications did not contain sufficient information to proceed. By telephone, by mail, and by personal inquiry the information was secured by Mr. Corman to aid applicants to obtain certificates with the least possible delay. This was an "extra" service given Mr. Corman, for it is the duty of the applicant to provide the necessary information in such cases.

And so it was, through Mr. Corman's voluntary efforts, many persons were able to begin work in defense plants days earlier because he obtained a birth certificate quickly.

Certified copies of marriage licenses, necessary to the wives of service men before they can obtain their allotments, have been issued by the hundreds by Mr. Corman, and in no case has any charge been made for this service.

These are only a few of the examples of courteous and efficient service rendered to all who have had business to transact in the Register's office. The same service has been given to all men, women, Republicans, Democrats, without consideration of political affiliation, or rank, or of any other factors.

In seeking re-election as Register for a second term, Mr. Corman asks the voters of the county to consider him regardless of their party enrollment—the same as he did while serving the public during the past four years.
