DOG HOUSE:
Attorney Lewis Orvis Harvey fears that some resident of Beaver street may think he's slightly on the barmy side. Harvey, who is building a glorified dog house on his property, was working around talking to one of the dogs when he looked around to find the dog missing. But the Beaver street man was standing nearby with a puzzled look on his face, wondering, no doubt, why Harvey was talking to himself. Two days later Harvey was working on the project when it began to rain. So he crawled into the dog house for a cigarette. Along came the same man and spotted the six-foot, six-inch attorney doubled up in the dog house. Flabbergasted, Harvey was about to explain, but the man turned and sprinted from the scene.

The YMCA's Century with Youth 1844-1944. I Birth of the YMCA. THIS HAS BEEN SAID IN THOUSANDS OF CITIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. IT IS TAKEN FOR GRANTED... BUT HERE IS THE STORY. MORALITY AND RELIGION HAVE COLLAPSED. YES, THAT'S OUR YOUTH. THE WHOLE GANG GOES THERE EVERY NIGHT. BISHOP BERKELEY'S DESPAIR: IN 1844, INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION DREW YOUNG MEN INTO VICE-RIDDEN ENGLISH CITIES. RELIGION WAS AT ITS LOWEST EBB. THEN GEORGE WILLIAMS, A 22 YEAR OLD DRAPER'S CLERK, GATHERED ELEVEN FELLOW CLERKS IN HIS LONDON BED ROOM TO FOUND, ON JUNE 6, 1844, 'A YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION'. KNIGHTED BY QUEEN VICTORIA AT THE YMCA WORLD JUBILEE IN 1894, SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS SAW PRESENT, 2,000 DELEGATES FROM 32 COUNTRIES, REPRESENTING 5,000 ASSOCIATIONS, WITH A MEMBERSHIP OF 1,000,000. Copyright 1939 J. V. CLARKE.

All YMCA's in America are helping our National YMCA this year perhaps greater than ever before to make this Centennial year a year of hope and new achievements toward a more peaceful world and to help our youth over some of the rough places in life. The Bellefonte YMCA wishes to give all draftees in our region before leaving for the service of our country a membership card to take with them. We urge draftees to come to our YMCA for their membership card any time.

H. W. RABERT, Secretary.

Query & Answer Column

M. D. I.—Does the astronomical day begin at noon or at midnight?
Ans.—Astronomers formerly began the day at noon, but later it was decided advisable for the sake of uniformity to use the same day in astronomical work as is used in civil life, and commencing with 1925 all the national almanacs began the day at midnight.

C. E. H.—What is meant by quartered oak and fumed oak?
Ans.—Quartered oak is the result of sawing at angles which produce beautiful graining effects. Fumed oak is given its characteristic finish through exposure to the fumes of ammonia.

D. S.—Why is the State of Pennsylvania termed a commonwealth?
Ans.—Pennsylvania shares with Virginia, Kentucky and Massachusetts the designation "commonwealth." The term is of English derivation and implies an especial devotion of the government to the "commonweal" or welfare of its citizens. The colony of Penn was known as the Quaker Commonwealth and while it has proved impossible to trace any direct reason for the use of the term, it became accepted during the provincial period.

J. C. E.—How can good coal be distinguished from coal containing ash?
Ans.—The Bureau of Mines says all coal contains some ash. The amount of this ash can be determined by sampling the coal and burning a very small amount of it in the laboratory and determining the amount of ash residue.

S. T.—Does the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States have a vote?
Ans.—The Chief Justice has one vote. According to custom he gives his opinion first and votes last.

G. E. N.—Is Mrs. Winchill of Scotch descent?
Ans.—Yes. Mrs. Winchill is the granddaughter of the seventh Earl of Airlie.

B. E. F.—What are the articles a second brings in the ring while seconding a boxer?
Ans.—A chair for the boxer to use between rounds; a bottle of cold water to gargle with his throat moist; two towels, one to wipe perspiration from face and the other wetted in cold water to wipe his face, smelling salts and a first aid kit for cuts or injuries.

A. W. C.—How many men has Tito, the Yugoslav leader, under his command?
Ans.—The Partisan Army of Marshal Josip Broz is estimated to be about 250,000 strong. It has been carrying on guerrilla warfare against Germany for many months.

R. E.—Were monasteries and institutions of religious orders started by the Christians?
Ans.—The building of monasteries did not originate with the Christian world. These were known to the ancient Egyptians and were prevalent among Jews and later among Mohammedans.

F. F.—Are there any Chinese Jews?
Ans.—There is a colony of Chinese Jews in the province of Honan.

M. W.—What is the smallest mammal in America?
Ans.—Winnemana pigmy shrew. A specimen from North Carolina weighed less than a 10-cent piece, its total length only about three inches including the tail. Pigmy shrews are rare in collections, and their habits are little known.

L. W. H.—What eclipses of the sun and moon will occur in 1944?
Ans.—A total eclipse of the sun, visible as a partial eclipse in extreme southeastern United States, occurred on January 25. On July 29 there will be an annular eclipse of the sun. There will be no eclipse of the moon until next year.

G. M.—What office was held by President Roosevelt's father?
Ans.—James Roosevelt was president of the Chaplain Transportation Company, trustee of the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, vice president of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company and officer in a steel concern at West Superior, Wis. He was president of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railroad and vice president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad.

S. P.—Did Kentucky join the Confederacy?
Ans.—At the outbreak of the Civil War, Kentucky attempted to remain neutral but a considerable portion of the people adhered to the Confederacy and the state was actually admitted to the Confederacy. However, 90,000 troops were furnished to the Union Army and 40,000 to the Confederate Army.

E. N. C.—Is it unhealthful to keep plants in a sickroom?
Ans.—There is no harm in keeping a few plants in a sickroom for the amount of carbon dioxide exhaled is so small in proportion to the air of the room as to have no appreciable effect.

R. T.—In what city does the Governor of Alaska reside?
Ans.—The Governor's Mansion is in Juneau.

W. MacL.—When and where in the United States did the greatest amount of rain fall in one day?
Ans.—The greatest 24-hour rainfall in the United States, 23.22 inches, occurred at New Smyrna, Fla., October 10-11, 1924.

C. B. E.—How many gorillas are there in the United States?
Ans.—According to the bulletin of the New York Zoological Society there are 18 gorillas in America, varying in age from babies 2 years old to full-grown, adult animals of 17 years. Negat, weighing 638 pounds, is the largest in any zoo in the world.

W. L. R.—What is the speed of a jack-rabbit in full flight?
Ans.—According to the Smithsonian Institution, the jack-rabbit has been known to make a speed of 30 miles an hour for short distances.

'What a Night That Was in Selinsgrove'

ing field, they hurried to the scene. Meanwhile, the Governor and his party had alighted. The air sickness of several of them delayed the handshakes of welcome.

"The men were escorted to the App home. Mrs. App gave them milk to settle their stomachs, while her husband went to the shed to get out the automobile to take the men to Selinsgrove. The App had invited the unexpected arrivals to be their guests of the night, but Governor Zimmerman declined graciously. He insisted that was too much of an imposition even on traditional Pennsylvania hospitality.

"New-conscious Frank F. Seas was operating the Hotel Sterner, now the Governor Snyder. As soon as his guests had registered, he telephoned me the welcome flash of the arrival of the Governor of Wisconsin and his party. I hurried to the tavern and interviewed the chief executive somewhat informally, as at the moment he was enjoying a shower bath.

"Now it just so happened that my own's advising. Tailless Hook and Ladder Company had added their second piece of motorized apparatus that week. The firemen felt beholden to the community for the generous donations that had made possible the purchase, so they intended to display the pump and the new ladder truck in the square that evening. Moreover, the Moose Band had been requested to turn out for a concert while all and sundry viewed with admiration the new equipment.

"I hurried down to the firehouse to inform the Hookies of the arrival of the distinguished guest in our midst, and then hot-footed down to the Moose Lodge to arrange the assembling musicians. Robert B. Ferry was the band's leader. Yes, they had the music of 'Oh, Wisconsin.'

"By the time Governor Zimmerman and his party entered the hotel dining room, Selinsgrove's greeting broke loose.

"The fire-fighting apparatus was dashing up and down Market street sounding the sirens. Many other automobile horns were being sounded. The popul were gathering in front of the hotel. And up the thoroughfare came the Moose Band, blowing with all its might the timely, tuneful welcome of 'Oh, Wisconsin.'

"Governor Zimmerman appeared amid applause on the hotel steps. He declared: 'In all my political life I have never been accorded so great a spontaneous welcome. Within a half hour from the time I reached your town unexpectedly, you people have turned out your fire-fighting apparatus and your band apparatus, in uniform to greet me. Really you Snyder county people are marvelous. I cannot understand how you have done so much so quickly.'

"After the evening repast, Governor Zimmerman and his party held an impromptu reception in the hotel lobby.

"The conversation revealed that he knew well the late Rev. Dr. George W. Genszler, Lutheran clergyman of Wisconsin, whose initial charge was to serve the First Evangelical Lutheran church here, Zion's in Kratserville, and St. Paul's at Middleburg. When the word TO GOVERNOR'S VISIT spread that there is a Governor up at the hotel, who knows Rev. Genszler, many more people crowded into the lobby to shake hands with the chief executive and speak of their mutual acquaintance.

"During the course of the evening's greetings, the Governor was introduced to the town's chief of police, the late Harvey E. Romig.

"Romig was actually weighted down with revolvers, clubs and cartridges when he came into the hotel, for he brandished every regular and extra piece of ordnance he owned. Dr. Peter Klingler was presenting the people to the Governor.

"Don't bother with our titles,' declared the chief of police as he shook the chief executive's hand. 'You just call me Harv and I'll call you Fred.' The Governor complied, and Romig became his bodyguard the remainder of the Governor's stay in our midst.

"Your town should have an airport, observed Governor Zimmerman later in the night.

"We have a location,' replied J. Howard Burns.

"Let's break ground tomorrow. The better the day the better the deed,' was the rejoinder.

"So next morning the Governor of Wisconsin turned the first shovel of soil and the late Emanuel E. Pawling, the second, for that Isle of Que plot, which was then and there named Zimmerman Airport.

"But unfortunately development of the landing field did not follow. Doubtless Selinsgrove will have an airport some day. We have just not been as quick about the civic project as we were to welcome the distinguished guest with the timely suggestion."

The President Told This One
President Roosevelt told this one to Prime Minister Churchill:
A sailor had stopped in at a shop where a handsome parrot was about to be sold at auction. The sailor had been wanting a parrot, so he started the bidding at ten dollars.

"Fifteen dollars," said another bidder.
"Twenty dollars," said the sailor.
"Twenty-five," the other bidder raised the price.
"Thirty."
"Thirty-five."

"By this time the sailor was determined to have the parrot, and he made a bid of forty dollars. The other bidder raised it to forty-five.
"Fifty dollars," said the sailor in a loud voice.
When no other bids were heard, he counted out five ten-dollar bills, and the auctioneer handed him the parrot in its cage.

"I paid a hell of a price for this bird," said the sailor, dubiously. "Are you sure he can talk?"
"Can he talk?" said the auctioneer. "Why, buddy, he's been bidding against you."

Cooperation
The Brownwood, Texas, Bulletin recently ran this classified ad:
"Wanted to Rent—$50 reward for furnished house or apartment for officer's family. Have twin boys, age 3, but will drown them if you insist. Dial 6643."

Amiable Anarchist
A clerk at Kelly Field, Texas, was helping an old Negro to fill out application papers for a Civil Service janitor job. The clerk would read off the questions and write down the answers.

"Do you belong," asked the clerk, "to the Nazi Bund, or any political party that plans to overthrow the government?"
"Yas'm," said the Negro.

"Which one?" asked the clerk, taken aback by the applicant's frankness.
"The Republican," was the earnest reply.

Wrong Guess
Blonde—"And what kind of an officer are you?"

Alle Same Thing
A man placing some flowers on a grave noticed an old Chinese placing a bowl of rice on a nearby grave.

"What time do you expect your friend to come up and eat the rice?" he asked the Chinaman.
"Same time your friend come up to smell flowers," was the reply.

Bum Shot
"Be careful with that gun, soldier," the sergeant raged. "You just missed me with that last shot."
" Gee, I'm awfully sorry," replied the soldier.

Sound Advice
This advice appeared in a recent issue of a Texas newspaper:
" In town, you have a wider selection of gifts. Perfume or cologne would be nice for the girl friend's birthday, but soldier, don't you pick out the scent. Let the saleslady do it. Remember, you've been around horses."

20-20 Vision
The rookie reached the eye examination, and was asked if he could read the last line which looked like this: "kzyzyvnmk."
"Can you read that OK," asked the doctor.
"Sure," cracked the lad. I knew him well. Played guard for Notre Dame."

Couldn't Believe Him
Inhabitants of a Norwegian fishing village witnessed the forced landing of an airplane offshore. A fisherman set out to rescue the pilot but soon returned without them.
"They were Germans," he explained.
" But weren't they alive?" someone in the crowd asked.
" Well, one of them said he was, but you know how these Nazis lie."

In the Thick of It
Then we have the mess sarge who spent all morning cracking eggs for super-duper cakes, then wrote his girl the following: "Went into action early this morning with shells bursting all around me."

Why She Fainted
A maiden lady lived in a small house in the country with one servant. One morning the bell rang. The maid admitted the visitor, an evacuee officer, arranging for homes for children evacuated from London. Then she rushed upstairs.
" Please, mum," she blurted out breathlessly, "you've
