Memorial Services Held In Bellefonte

Declaring that the real memorial to soldiers lost in battle is not in marble monuments or in bronze tablets, but in the hearts of men and women in the silent hours of night, Col. John M. Bain, of Northumberland, Memorial Day speaker at exercises held in the Diamond here Tuesday evening, called on his hearers to pledge that the sacrifices of those in the nation's armed forces will not be forgotten.

During the brief but impressive ceremonies sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post of Bellefonte, the Diamond and Court House were bathed in the warm rays of a setting sun. Noticeably absent from the large throng which witnessed the program were young men, and by far the greater part of the crowd consisted of women and children.

Samuel D. Rhinesmith, of Bellefonte, district Legion Commander, served as master of ceremonies, and the Rt. Rev. William E. Downes, of St. John's Catholic church gave the invocation. Music was provided by the Legion Junior Band, Bellefonte High School Band and the VFW Junior Five and Drum Corps.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. H. C. Stenger, Jr., of the Bellefonte Methodist church, and the VFW firing squad fired a salute in memory of all war dead. Antiphonal taps concluded the program.

Among the groups which appeared in the line of march in the parade preceding the program on the Diamond were service organizations and their auxiliaries, firemen, Boy and Girl Scouts of Bellefonte and Milesburg, and the musical organizations. The parade was headed by a color guard representing various local organizations.

Just as a tip to those of you who have been experiencing trouble in finding fuel for your bucket-a-day stove, we recommend, almost without qualification, a delightful type of coal known as pea-sized cannel. It has plenty of heat, will keep burning longer than you ever expected it would, and seems to be the answer to the bucket-a-day owner's prayer, "P. S.: We discovered the delights of cannel coal on the recommendation of Wilbur Baney.

If you rake up the grass after you've mowed the lawn, dry it and pack it in bags, it will prove a valuable source of feed for your chickens next winter. Someone has found that dried grass is a highly nutritious feed for chickens.

QUOTAS:

If our memory serves us correctly, Bellefonte's quota of $88,000 for the Fifth War Loan drive next month is higher than the entire quota for the county in some earlier drives. It's a big job, but so is the job several thousands of Centre county men are tackling over in Italy and elsewhere throughout the world.

NOTE:

To OPA and Pure Food Administration: Look! We don't mind doing without candy, and we don't mind too much that the size of the 5-cent bar has been reduced. But we'd like to know how come it is that most of the candy you get nowadays is stuff no one ever heard of before the war and why some of it tastes like nothing less than sawdust mixed in soap. Could it be that some fly-by-night candy makers are cashing in on the wartime shortage of edible candy?

REPORT: Sometimes, except for the service flags you see in countless windows, you wonder whether the U. S. is really at war. There have been no drastic cuts in gasoline recently, it is predicted that tires will be available to "A" card holders late this year, points have been removed from many canned foods and from many meats, butter has returned to most tables, there are no apparent shortages in any of the necessities of life, and for most of us, things are going along without much hardship.

CANDY: A learned gentleman and a five-year-old, both convalescents at the Centre County Hospital, became quite chummy, and the man undertook to correct his young friend's faulty grammar. One morning the youth reporting on a gift he had received, said "Her gave me a box of candy." The gentleman chided him mildly saying, "You should say, 'She gave me a box of candy.'" The youngster thought it over a moment, then countered: "Yes, but her didn't give you any candy!"
