

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

On Saturday of next week the four and feed mill of the John Wagner estate will be offered at public sale at the Court House.

The miners committee from Phillipsburg that canvassed our town last week collected over $72 in cash, along with a large quantity of provisions.

Hon. J. H. Holt, of Snow Shoe, president of the Salt Lick Oil and Gas Company, has called a meeting of the directors at the Fallon House, Lock Haven, this Thursday evening.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle have organized a commandery at this place. They hold special drill meetings and the men are becoming expert. The commandery will make a fine display upon their first appearance.

On next Tuesday Miss Mary Schofield and G. Ross Parker, both of this place, will be united in marriage. Miss Schofield is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schofield, and Mr. Parker is the conductor on the Bellefonte Central Railroad.

Last week Mr. Hugh S. Taylor was admitted to the practice of law in our courts. He was a student in the office of Orvis, Bower & Orvis for the past two years and passed a very creditable examination. He has the energy and ability to advance rapidly in his profession.

John U. Wasson, of Walker, is exhibiting a piece of petrified honeycomb, which he found on the Geo. Hoy farm. In its change from wax to stone the cells had retained their exact shape, some of which are filled. It is quite a curiosity and is highly prized by Mr. Wasson.

The new Brockhoff building on Allegheny street will be brick instead of stone, as formerly announced. The brick used will be different in size and quality from the standard brick. The foundation walls are now about completed and bricklayers will begin work in a short time.

Since the new water works were built at Howard they have high water pressure in that town. The young men of that borough recently organized a fire company known as the "Good Will Hose Company." On Saturday they will hold a festival for the purpose of raising funds to purchase equipment.

For several days past rumors were afloat to the effect that a case of smallpox had made its appearance. Upon investigation among the physicians nothing of the kind could be learned. No person could give us any information on the matter. If a case of smallpox should develop here the authorities would give timely warning and proper methods would be employed to establish quarantine.

Rufus Tracy Struham, the valedictorian of the class of 1894 at the Bellefonte High School, also was awarded one prize of $10 for general excellence during the period of four years in the high school, and also a prize of $10 for the best examination in geometry, algebra, book-keeping and the business rules of arithmetic. He is a son of Commissioner James B. Struham, of this place.

Twenty Years Ago

Despite reports to the effect that the typhoid fever epidemic in the Bellefonte area was checked, four new patients suffering from that disease were admitted to the Bellefonte Hospital. They were: James and Blair Davis and Mrs. Edgar McMurtree, of Colesville, and Mrs. Josephine Cornell, of Sunnyside. All the patients were reported to be recovering.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

A hearing was scheduled in court here on the condemnation proceedings on the Millheim Turnpike and the Brush Valley-Bald Eagle road. An effort was being made to have the county assume responsibility for the roads.

The Ford Motor Company announced that the ten millionth Ford car had left the production lines at the Highland Park factories. The Ford touring car was priced at $295 f. o. b. Detroit. Demountable rims and starter were $85 extra.

The P. W. West Company, under supervision of E. E. Widdowson, had purchased a late model hearse. The vehicle was of the limousine type. The company also had purchased a complete line of funeral equipment.

Ira Winters, 32, of Osceola Mills, lost two fingers and part of the left hand in an old accident. He was carrying a miner's dynamite cap in his pocket while doing farm work, and when he thrust his hand into the pocket the cap was in some manner exploded. The hand was badly mangled.

Catharine, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bender, of Centre Hall, was painfully scalded on the face, neck and chest by coffee which spilled from a vessel. Bellefonte family was visiting friends in Millifinburg. The scalds were not believed to be deep enough to cause permanent injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Royer, well known Bellefonte couple, were making plans to leave in their new Studebaker touring car for a trip west covering a month or six weeks. Their trip was to include stops at Altoona where their daughter, Mary, was a supervisor in the Altoona hospital, and with relatives in Pittsburgh, Ohio, Illinois, and Michigan.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Robert G. Connelly, State College, and Virginia W. Pollard, Sunbury; B. Ralph Summer and Otille G. Hughes, both of Bellefonte; Thomas Miller, Erie, and Rose, of Bellefonte; Daniel B. Bloom and Agnes R. Bible, both of Centre Hall; William P. Hall, State College, and Margaret C. Spotts, Reading; William G. Newman and Emma A. Dyke, both of Milesburg; Charles B. Hood, Altoona, and Inez G. Hartsock, Port Matilda.

Former Sheriff W. Miles Walker and son, Ivan, of Bellefonte, went to their farm near Pennsylvania Furnace to inspect a new barn which was a nearing completion. When they arrived workmen were putting finishing touches to the iron roof on the barn. A storm broke about that time and Sheriff Walker and son and four workmen sought shelter inside the barn. During the storm lightning struck the building and each man received the sensation of being struck a heavy blow on the head. Although none of them was knocked down, several suffered from shock. It was believed the bolt struck the iron roof and scattered. The building was undamaged.

CAN CHERRIES WITHOUT SUGAR TO STRETCH SUPPLY

To save sugar when preserving cherries for pies, can them without sugar, suggests Miss Helen S. Butler, home economics extension representative of Centre county. Sugar can be added when cherries are used next winter.

Cherries are among the fruits easy to can without sugar. First wash the cherries, then pit them. Pack cold into jars to within a half inch from the top. Cover the cherries with water and seal jars according to type of lid used. Place filled jars in boiling water bath and use sure water covers jars by at least one inch. Process pint jars 15 minutes and quart jars 20 minutes, starting to count the time after the water reaches a good rolling boil.

At the end of processing, remove jars and complete the seal where necessary. Stand jars upright to cool in a place out of the draft. Do not cover jars with paper or cloth. Store in a cool, dark, dry place.

If you want to can the cherries in a sirup instead of water, you can substitute honey or corn sirup for the sugar. Use 2 cups of honey to a quart of water. Bring the water to a boil, add the honey, and stir. Bring to a boil again and remove the scum. Add to the cherries. The fruit may be darker in color but will have the natural flavor.

If you use corn sirup, use one-third cup sirup to two-thirds sugar. For example, where you ordinarily would use 2 cups of sugar use one and one-third cups of sugar and 2-3 cup of corn sirup to 4 cups of water for a medium sirup.

Cherries canned without sweetening are suitable for shortcake, frozen desserts, puddings, and pies.

STATE TREASURER MAKES ASSISTANCE REPORT

In the twenty counties of Northeastern Pennsylvania comprising Region No. 4 of the State Treasury, Scranton, $75,732.10 in Special Assistance was disbursed to persons receiving Aid and Blind Pensions and for Aid to Dependent Children during the month of May, according to G. Harold Wagner, State Treasurer. For April a total of $761,374.000 was distributed in this area to recipients in these classifications. Centre county residents in the groups receiving Special Assistance were paid a total of $25,076 in May, divided as follows: Aged, $15,839.30;

Blind, $1,781; Aid to Dependent Children, $7,455.70. April payments were totalled $25,118.

During the week just closed relief payments in Centre county aggregated $598.60. Payments for the previous week totalled $598.10, according to Mr. Wagner.

CULL LOAFER HENS FROM POULTRY FLOCK

Cull loafer hens and use available feed only for chickens that can make the most efficient use of the feed, County Agent R. C. Blaney urges poultrymen and farmers.

Careful but thorough culling of poultry now will help reduce the feed cost per dozen eggs. It is relatively easy to distinguish the layer from the hen that is out of production.

The head of a laying hen is bright red, with comb and wattles that are full, large, soft, and waxy. The non-layer has a shrunken comb, with dull head which may have a yellowish tint.

Systematic culling is sound from a conservation standpoint and also indicates management efficiency. Detailed information to help identify those characteristics which easily determine the laying hens from the loafer hens is available in a bulletin which can be secured from the Agricultural Extension Office in Bellefonte.

Starch

For a stiffer starch dissolve a teaspoonful of gum arabic and one teaspoonful of baking soda in a little water. Add this amount to one quart of starch.
