THE BATTLE OF BRITAIN

ROUND ONE - BY A WREN.

in its a til

Dear Old England's not the same The dreaded invasion, well it came But no, it's not the dreadful Huns, The blooming Yankee Army's come.

You meet them in the train and bus There isn't room for all of us. We walk to let them have our seats Then we get run over by their jeeps

They moan about the lukewarm beer. Think beer's like water over here. But after drinking two or more, You find them lying on the floor.

And you should see them try to dance They grab a partner, try to prance: When she's haif dead, they stop and smile, And say, "Again my honey chile."

We speak to them, they just look hazy, They think we're nuts, we think they're crazy. Though to our Allies we are nice, They love use, yes, as we do mice.

They laugh at us for drinking tea. But a funnier sight you'll never see Than a gum-chewing Yank with a dumb-looking face Who stands on street corners looking for lace.

You should see them jitterbug. They twist and turn and pull and hug. It's enough to make an Indian jealous, But the Yanks are civilized (?) or so they tell us.

Yankee officers cause us smiles. In their light-colored pants you can see them for miles We wonder if they are mice or men-Decided they're wolves, so avoid the den

With admiration we sit and stare At all the ribbons they do wear. And think of decds so bold and daring That won the ribbons they are wearing.

Alas, they haven't fought the Hun, No glorious battles have they won The bright green just denotes They crossed the sea, brave men, in boats.

You're their life their love, their all And for no other they could fall. They love you dear, till death do part, And if you leave you'll break their hearts.

Then they leave you, broken hearted, The camp has moved, your love departed. You wait for mail that doesn't come Then realize you are so dumb.

In a different town, a different place, To a different gir1 a different face. "I love you darling, please be mine The same old Yank, the same old line.

ROUND TWO - BY A YANK, G. I.

No. dear Old England's not the same Since the Yanks came in the game. There's a slight improvement true, But there's still a lot to do.

We've got to show the Bobos here The latest ways of making beer. They resent the way we chew our gum, Yet they always beg for some.

Though as wolves they view us with alarm. When we smile they fall in our arms. They criticize the way we talk, The way we laugh, the way we walk

The way we dance, the way we sing, The way we do most everything. The only thing that we do right is spend our money left and right.

They hate us since we make more dough

It never occurred to these damn clucks To raise his pay a couple of bucks.

Sure, we feed you girls a line. And make you think you are divine. It really boosts your ego too To think we'd actually fall for you.

But with Yank girls you can't compare, The difference is, you're here, they're there. You laugh at ribbons that only denote We crossed the ocean in our boats.

We think this award is much too small For making us come here at all. We really deserve a great citation For staying in this benighted nation.

We're accused of taking over your isle, This silly statement makes us smile; For, rest assured we all avow You couldn't give it to us now.

We've helped you every way we can. By giving tanks, and guns and Spam. But enough of this, there's a war to be won, So we must take this on the run.

While you sit and guzzle tea, And dream of the England of antiquity, And grass keeps glowing in your street, And cobwebs gather round your feet.

We'll get in the war and get it through, So we can say farewell to you, Goodbye to you, our English cousin To us, you are a dime a dozen.

We'll leave this dreary dismal shore, # And return to England never more, To you we're very thankful, mates, For a new appreciation of the States.
