Ability and Responsibility. WHEN a particularly 'tough and important' job comes along, it usually lands in the lap of someone who is already doing a lot of other jobs well. People like this—who are used to getting results—are too plentiful. They need to have both ability and a sense of responsibility. One alone won't do—for ability can sometimes be misdirected, and a sense of responsibility without ability can lead to troublesome meddling. It's men with this combination of talents who have been carrying a heavy load on the home front these past few years. On the farm and in industry they've been meeting—and solving—the difficult wartime problems of production. After the war is won, somebody must shoulder the equally big job of getting this nation back into peacetime production, of laying the groundwork for the better and more prosperous America we all want. This is a challenge, and an opportunity for the producers of America—for the men and women who have a sense of responsibility and have shown their ability to get things done.
