

How to Mail That Boy His Xmas Box

Do not enclose letters or messages inside package.

5. No insurance.
6. Register watches, pens, bracelets and important papers which must be sealed and not weigh over 8 ounces.
7. Money Orders. The only way to transmit money.
8. Pack properly. It is reported that many packages arrive at port of embarkation in a broken and crushed condition necessitating re-wrapping which delays departure. The containers, in many cases, are strong enough but are not packed solid and not taped and securely tied.

BUMPER APPLE CROP MAKES SELECTION MORE IMPORTANT

Because a bumper crop will make many apples available for home consumption the selection of proper varieties as to season and uses assumes greater significance, according to J. L. McCartney, extension fruit specialist of the Pennsylvania State College.

While the season when each variety is in best condition for use may vary from year to year and depends upon maturity at harvest and storage, it is fairly definite, he points out.

Smokehouse, good for dessert or eating, is an old Pennsylvania variety. It is tart enough for baking and pies and is in season October, November and December.

McIntosh, one of the best dessert apples, is a juicy, high-quality apple, rich in aroma. It is one of the finest sauce apples, and many consider it best for eating. Like the Smokehouse and Grimes Golden, its use season extends through October, November and December.

Grimes Golden is a mild sub-acid type well suited for cooking or desserts. It is also popular as an eating apple, particularly with children.

Delicious, another good eating apple, is too mild to be preferred for cooking, but is widely used for desserts. Its season extends from October through January.

Stayman is an excellent all-purpose variety and last well through March. It is a sub-acid type which breaks down rather rapidly when cooked. It is rated good for desserts and eating.

York Imperial and Rome Beauty are real winter varieties. Yorks are in season from November to March. They are popular for baking. Firm-fleshed, they stand up well when baked.

Rome Beauty holds well until April 1 and is rated as one of the fine bakers.

Bellefonte Corporal Aids in Bond Drive

Cpl. Jay S. Knapp, son of Mrs. Dorothy Knapp, of 14 West Logan street, Bellefonte, is one of the war bond purchasers who helped his P-51 Mustang station reach a record-breaking total of $111,000 in the Eighth Air Force Victory Squadron bond drive, surpassing all other groups in the Eighth Fighter Command.

Aiming at an original quota of $33,000, he and his fellow soldiers—members of the fighter group commanded by Col. Harold J. Rau, of Hempstead, N. Y.—more than doubled that figure in a five-week all-out bond drive. The money will go towards the purchase of a Victory Squadron of airplanes, bought entirely by personnel of the Eighth Air Force.

Cpl. Knapp, whose wife, Mrs. Catherine Knapp, lives at 48 South Allegheny street, Bellefonte, is an administrative clerk in a service squadron which has been overseas for the past 13 months.

Re-Sentenced After Years of Freedom

The man replied that he wanted to see his sick father. He told the court that during his freedom he had worked for a contractor for nine years; was employed on WPA for three years, and was on relief for part of the time. He was working for a cemetery association in New York state at the time of his apprehension and capture.

The prisoner expressed a willingness to complete his sentence and failed to show any uneasiness over the length of his term.

Pugliese, who had assumed an alias, was originally sentenced from Schuylkill county after conviction for second degree murder, and was first committed to Eastern Penitentiary. He was later transferred to Rockview. He is now 50 years of age and with a double sentence hanging over him will likely be quite an old man if and when he is released.

Last Centre County Fair 30 Years Ago

James Chambers, Bellefonte, "To-boggan" and "Sally Derby" Irv Gray, Stormtown.

Public Wedding Featured

An interesting feature of the Centre County Fair held in 1913 was a public wedding ceremony performed on a platform beside the judges' stand. Four thousand people were on hand to witness the event.

Promptly at the appointed hour the bride and groom were driven in a cab to the elevated stand where they were greeted with rounds of applause from all sides. The contracting parties, Cyrus A. Schinar and Miss Susan J. Martin, both of McAdams, mounted the platform and took their position facing the grandstand. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace J. S. Smith of Snow Shoe, who in a clear firm voice recited the solemnity of the matrimonial vow as well as the meaning of wedlock. At the conclusion, as he stepped forward and extended congratulations, a deafening shout of applause arose from the assembled crowd. The acrobats and the cowboys joined in to give the newlyweds a god-speed in their journey through life.

So much for the early fairs which had an auspicious beginning and augured well for the promoters in the years to come. Excursion rates on all railroads brought large crowds to Bellefonte, along with those who came by family carry-all and other vehicles.

In spite of the encouragement received by those responsible for the fair, financial difficulties accumulated during the intervening years between 1900 and 1914, and the September fair of 1914 witnessed the last of the series. To add to the complication of affairs, a high water ravaged the grounds and buildings, entailing considerable loss to the property.

Last Fair Stages Thriller

The people of Bellefonte and the thousands who attended the last fair held here were treated to an unexpected thrill when W. Leonard Bonney, an aviator of New York City, fell about 1,000 feet and landed in a plowed field on Half Moon Hill. This was the first time an aviator ever attempted to fly over our hills and the event created much interest and excitement.

Mr. Bonney had been secured to make three flights on three different days during the fair. On his first flight, Mr. Bonney's engine developed trouble which caused him to crash and nearly lose his life. While his plane was in the air all eyes were fixed upon the daring aviator as he circled over the northern portion of the town and, turning, sailed toward Coleville. Suddenly the spectators were horrified to see the plane assume a perpendicular position and drop to earth with the speed of a rocket. Many were unable to realize that an accident had occurred and stood dumbfounded at the sudden ending of the flight.

Others, however, grasped the situation and hurried to the top of Half Moon Hill where the airship had seen to fall.

At about the center of G. K. Haupt's corn field the aircraft was found in a heap, the engine buried deeply in the soft mud. The aviator, fortunately, was not seriously hurt and had crawled from his seat to the machine and was walking about the field when rescuers reached the scene.

The machine was practically all burned and a total loss. The remains were carried away by hundreds of curious seekers who flocked to the scene of the accident.

Thus, the last Fair held in Bellefonte went out with a thrilling climax.

America now makes as fine and as good a china as any in the world. Among Dr. Henry's collection of china, he had a plate similar to those being used in the White House, priced at $6000 a dozen.

Ralph C. Blaney, county farm agent, presented a motion picture, "Round About Rural Pennsylvania," explaining picture and routes taken as they were screened.

Mrs. Harry F. Jones, president of the Bellefonte club, opened the meeting with the salute to the flag led by Mrs. Keith Anderson. Miss Kathryn Burket led group singing "America," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harry Meyer. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Keith Anderson, secretary. Mrs. James Logan, treasurer, reported finance and budget. Mrs. Jones read a letter from Miss Betty Lockington, chairman of the Literature department, that the department be discontinued this year. Mrs. Anderson read a letter from Gov. Edward Martin. Announcement of meeting for annual Institute on Marriage and Home Adjustment was made by Mrs. Jones, to be held at the College, October 23, 24 and 25.

Mrs. Jones announced Mrs. Edgar E. Widdowson as president of the Centre County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. O. A. Kline, chairman of club committee, reported on cards sent. Mrs. Roy Wilkinson, chairman of the Crippled Children's committee, announced that five crippled children were taken to the Phillipsburg hospital this month.

Mrs. William Hoover, membership chairman, reported the following new members: Mrs. Balser Webster, Mrs. Jacob Friedman, Mrs. Max David Love, Mrs. Nellie Geary, Mrs. Roy Bressler.

The following department chairmen reported for their sections: Mrs. William Emerick, American Home; Miss Eleanor Wion, Drama; Miss Burket reported for chairman of Music section, and Mrs. William Hoover, Junior section.

After the business meeting adjourned a social hour was enjoyed by the members and served by the American Home section. Tea and coffee was poured by Mrs. Edgar E. Widdowson and Mrs. Edward R. Miller, with the following committee: Mrs. William Emerick, chairman of the section; Mrs. J. C. Rogge, Mrs. Frank Webster, Mrs. Edward Pierce, Mrs. C. M. Thompson, Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mrs. Widdowson, Mrs. Henry Houser, Mrs. Robert Eckenrode, Mrs. George Sunday, Mrs. Benjamin Bradley, Miss May Taylor, Mrs. Ralph Blaney and Mrs. W. Leslie Thomas.

PTA Discusses Child Problems

Mrs. Garbrick brought out the interesting fact that, although pupils are assigned homework and expected to do it, usually little or no proper conditions are provided in which the child can study. She asked, "Are home lighting conditions satisfactory? Is there an atmosphere of quiet for Sonny's hour or two of homework, or does father entertain his cronies in the same room while the telephone rings and the radio blares?" Miss Lockington, speaking only for herself and not for teachers in general, pointed out that in her experience more good can be accomplished by having the child study in school, under proper supervision, than can be achieved by home study. She stated that the superior child will study and enjoy it, whether at school or at home, but that too often the average pupil needs special supervision which he does not receive at home. A general discussion was held after Mrs. Garbrick and Miss Lockington had finished. Views ranged from a "24-hour duty for the students" to little, if any, homework. Quite a number of parents and teachers gave their views on the subject.

Mrs. Hubert Rossman, chairman of the Membership Committee, reported that there are three hundred and sixty-one members at present, 100% membership among the teachers! Why can't we have 100% membership among the parents? Parents can join any time during the year and it is hoped that each meeting will see more present.

Mrs. Charles Garbrick, recently appointed as a representative of the PTA to meet with the Teen-Age group, reported that their troubles are at an end insofar as a meeting place is concerned since the building formerly occupied by the Susquehanna Paving Company in the Phoenix Mill, Water street, has been chosen for meetings. This building has great possibilities and the Teen-Agers are now happily engaged in making extensive plans for the winter season.

The awards of $1.00 for the teachers having the greatest number of parents present were given to the following: Mrs. Gill, Bishop street, 8 present; Miss Crider, Dale building, 7 present; Mrs. Burris, Spring street building, 11 present, and Mrs. Bressler, 8 present.

After the general business meeting and discussion, a reception was held for the teachers. Teachers and parents had an opportunity to become better acquainted at an informal social gathering. Refreshments were served and Miss Joan O'Hara and Mildred Hochman entertained with piano selections.

FORT MATILDA SOLDIER CITED FOR HEROIC DEED IN FRANCE

Private Wesley T. Weaver, son of Mrs. Ellouise Weaver, of Port Matilda, has been cited by his commanding officer for heroic achievement in connection with military operations in France against an enemy of the United States.

During a heavy enemy artillery barrage, Pvt. Weaver exposed himself to the enemy in order to rescue two wounded comrades who were lying in a position exposed to the enemy. With utter disregard for his own safety, Pvt. Weaver carried the men to a covered position and rendered first aid.

Pvt. Weaver has been awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge.
