FARM CALENDAR Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College of Agriculture

APPLES FOR WINTER—Now is the time to select and give proper storage conditions to those apples to be kept for winter uses, remind extension fruit specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. Proper temperature, humidity and ventilation will help keep the fruit in good condition. Only sound fruit should be stored.

CARE FOR HEIFERS—Growing heifers require added care and feed during cold weather, extension dairy specialists at the Pennsylvania State College say. Feed rations should be plentiful and include good hay, some silage and grain. Heifers may be allowed to run loose in pens during winter months, but each should have ample feeding space.

BEEKEEPERS BUSY—Beekeepers are now busy preparing their hives for the coming winter months, report extension beemen of the Pennsylvania State College. Providing sufficient and proper food for the bees, protection of hives against mice, and location of windbreaks are among the chief items. Only strong colonies should be wintered.

GRASSES NEED FOOD—Grass plots, pastures, hayfields, lawns, airfields, or other grass and legume fields should be provided with ample fertilizer during the fall, remind extension agronomists at the Pennsylvania State College. Fertilizing now increases the root system and insures better growth next year.

The test of acumen in the economic field will come when the post war period begins. Friendly Advice: Go to the church of your choice next Sunday.

Surviving along with his parents are two brothers and five sisters, namely Steve Krupa, of Troy, near Philadelphia; Pfc. Wounded Second Time Pvt. Robert A. Garner, of State College, R. D., was wounded in action in the European theatre of war for the second time in two months, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Garner were informed in a telegram received from the U. S. War Department Tuesday.

The telegram stated that Pvt. Garner was slightly wounded in action in Germany on October 5 and that they would be informed of his condition as reports were received. Pvt. Garner, who was 22 on October 11, was injured in France on August 9 and after a week in the hospital was returned to his unit.

In a letter received from the young soldier about two weeks ago he stated that he went through Paris, that he was all right and they were not to worry about him. Pvt. Garner has been in the service since January 29, 1944, and went overseas about July 1. He had been employed by the Smith Tailor Shop in State College, and by the Titan in Bellefonte. His wife, the former Velma McClincy, of Pleasant Gap, and their two daughters reside in Baltimore, Md.

Pvt. Shillings Wounded Second Time Private David M. Shillings, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice D. Shillings of Blanchard, was slightly wounded for the second time, his parents learned through a message from the war department on Saturday.

The Blanchard soldier, who sustained shrapnel wounds about the hands while in a fox hole two months ago, was hospitalized at that time about two months before returning to duty. His second injury was received October 4, in Italy, the message on Saturday stated.

He was called for service April 17, 1943, and was assigned to the infantry. He trained at Camp Croft, S. C., and at Camp Blanding, Fla., and was sent overseas in July of the same year. He was with the Fifth Army which took part in the African and Italian campaigns. A letter he wrote his parents October 6, and received ten days later, revealed that he had suffered powder burn and asked his parents not to worry about him.

Pvt. Shillings was in his senior year at Blanchard High School when he began working for his father in the paperhanging business and continued until being called into the Army. He has two brothers in the service, George, now stationed in New Guinea, and John, with the medical corps in England.

Pfc. Ishler Wounded Third Time Pfc. Theodore Ishler, 29, has been wounded for the third time, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ishler, of the Jacksonville road, were advised on Saturday by the War Department.

Last November, Pfc. Ishler received shrapnel wounds of the left leg and after a quick recovery went back into action and was again wounded in the same leg, June 5 of this year, both times in Italy. Saturday's message to the parents stated that he was wounded in France, September 29.

As the result of his first wounds he was awarded the Purple Heart which he sent to his parents last December, and in June of this year his parents received an Oak Leaf Cluster which he sent them, presumably awarded for the second wound.

He entered service in the early part of 1942, and after training in the infantry at several camps was sent overseas late the same year. He also took part in the North African and Sicilian campaigns.

Lt. Blowers Injured Mrs. Raymond Blowers of Philadelphia, received a telegram last week from the War Department stating that her husband, Lt. Raymond Blowers, was injured in action over Holland on September 17. Before Mrs. Blowers received the telegram she had letters from her husband telling her he had a fractured ankle and would be in a hospital for a while.

Lt. Blowers is a pilot of a C-47 and is stationed in England. Mrs. Blowers is the former Lois Hummel.

Pfc. Watson Missing in Action Pfc. Maurice Watson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill A. Watson of Runville, is missing in action in the European theatre of war, it was learned in a telegram received by the family on Sunday.

The message from the U. S. War Department stated that Pfc. Watson has been missing in action in France since October 1, and that they would be advised if further reports are received. The Runville soldier was called into the Army March 29, 1943, and was assigned to the infantry. He was sent to Camp Polk, La., where he continued to train until being sent overseas in May of this year. He was stationed in England until being sent into France early in August, where he was in charge of an 81-mm. mortar gun.

Pvt. Manchester Pens Views of Home Town

The "second section" of Pvt. Manchester's letter which arrived in the same mail, follows:

"An incredible thing just happened. I apparently still have my knack for meeting people who know about Bellefonte.

"After writing the letter to you at the USO I was invited to the First Presbyterian church in Columbia, to visit the recreation center there. Upon my arrival I was introduced to various people, among them being the local Lutheran minister. He asked me what place I hailed from. When I told him, out of a clear sky he said, 'Oh, yes, I used to know the Reformed church minister formerly stationed in Bellefonte. He was Rev. Robert Thena.'

"The minister told me he has a woman in his congregation from Bellefonte. He said she met her husband when he attended Penn State, and her parents still live in Bellefonte. He couldn't remember her maiden name so was unable to learn who she was. She attended Penn State, married a man from Ohio, and now lives in Columbus, Ohio.

"While walking down the main street of Columbia today I met Ed Nelson, who is in the infantry at Ft. Jackson, S. C., and the son of East Lamb street.

"Also saw Pvt. Lee Davis the other night out at camp. He's also in the infantry. It's a small world. I'm here at the Presbyterian church now. It wouldn't surprise me a bit, after the above events, if Rev. William C. Thompson himself (pastor of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church) came walking in the door. How!

"Well, such is life in South Carolina for the minute."

High School Conducts Alma Mater Contest The Student Senate of the Bellefonte High School is sponsoring a contest to secure a new Alma Mater for the school. Efforts have been made in the past to obtain orchestration and band arrangements for the present Alma Mater, but to no avail because of the excessive range of the song. Also, it is considered too lyrical. Although it would make an excellent school song, it lacks the quiet dignity and staidness of an Alma Mater. The question will be considered whether or not to retain the present Alma Mater as a school song.

This contest will be open to members of the high school and the faculty and to members of the Alumni Association. Prizes will be awarded to the best, second best, and third best. The opening date is October 28, and the final day for submissions will be January 31. The rules for the contest follow:

- 1. Contest is open for members of Junior and Senior High Schools, of the faculty and of the Alumni Association.
2. No more than three stanzas will be accepted.
3. All submissions must have words and melody.
4. Simple melody or full harmony arrangements will be accepted.
5. Final submissions must be written on standard sheet music. This may be obtained from Room 283.
6. No more than two persons may collaborate.
7. Decision of the judges will be final.
8. Judges will be selected from the faculty and the Student Senate.
9. Prizes will be as follows: 1st prize, $5.00; 2nd prize, $3.00; 3rd prize, $2.50.
10. Words must be original.
11. Melody may be original or an adaptation of some other melody.
12. All submissions become school property.
13. Prize money was donated by the Red and White newspaper staff.

One lesson to learn in life is that times change and so do other things.

HEALTH & BEAUTY THE WONDERS OF ADRENALIN

Adrenalin is a substance which is secreted by two little glands situated just above the kidneys. It has many uses in medicine though it is quite costly, because it takes a herd of cows to obtain a small amount of this valuable secretion.

There have been cases where people apparently dead had been re-people to life by the injection of adrenalin. To all appearances they were dead, they had ceased breathing, no heart beat could be elicited by any known test, and the body was beginning to grow cold. It is safe to say that if adrenalin had not been used that they would have remained dead.

When people have died from chronic disease of the organs, no amount of adrenalin would have any effect in restoring them to life. The only cases that have responded to this treatment have died from sudden shock caused by bullet wounds, electric current or some other similar cause, and continued until being called into the Army. He has two brothers in the service, George, now stationed in New Guinea, and John, with the medical corps in England.

Many linemen and others who have passed out from electric shock have been brought back to life through injection of adrenalin directly into the heart itself. There are a number of cases on record of people having been brought back to life by the injection of adrenalin. Some of them have lived for many years after. Adrenalin was first brought back to life by a Japanese physician, Kichiji Takamine was doing research work at the Parke Davis laboratories when he found it out. It is used to stop bleeding, and has many useful purposes.

In fact all the glands of the body create very important products that are necessary to life and health. The thyroid gland for example regulates many body functions. When the gland becomes diseased the whole body is sick. Regular habits and the right food are necessary to the proper functioning of the glands, without which no one can enjoy good health.

Family Has Four Sons In Service

We imagine that the Turks are beginning to keep their eyes on the Russians and the Dardanelles. By this time the Japanese are wondering if any place is safe from our carrier-based planes.

You can interest a business man if you begin talking in terms of quick profits.

This is the time of the year that some people begin to suspect that summer has its advantages.

E. H. MILLER HONORED BY BELL TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES Earl H. Miller, commercial representative of the State College Bell Telephone office, was honored by members of the organization in recognition of 25 years of service with the company at a dinner in the banquet room of the State College Hotel on Friday evening. Twenty-four guests were present from Bellefonte, Altoona, Look Haven and State College.

Short speeches were made by District Manager L. A. Ahler of Altoona, and Jesse H. Caum, manager, who also served as toastmaster. Following the dinner gifts were presented to Mr. Miller and cards were played by the following friends who were present: J. H. Baker, R. I. Wolfgang, J. H. Sauters, and Miss Helen Odenkirch, of State College; and Mrs. Sue Eyer, the Misses Harriet Showers, Kathryn Conaghan, Mae Toner, Ruth Howley, Lillian Pennington, Jean Longwell, Ella Young, C. M. Bonnell, Rose Haupt, Jean Young, Edith Cook, R. B. Scog, and C. F. Schenck, of Bellefonte.

Others present were Mrs. Mildred Custer and Miss Miriam Shaffer of Look Haven, and Ray Brumbaugh, of Altoona.

STATE POLICE FIND BURNING AUTOMOBILE The State Police, called to Cooks Run Saturday night, found a 1935 Ford sedan valued at $350, being destroyed by a mysterious fire. They were summoned by Harry O. Gaines, a resident of that area.

The burning automobile was found standing on the Cooks Run CCC road six miles west of Westport, about 100 yards off route 120. Through the manufacturer's number on the car, they learned that it is the property of Bernard A. Roux, of Drottwood, a member of the U. S. Navy.

The cause of the fire and other circumstances surrounding the case are being investigated.

Hunger Strikes at Zoo The Philadelphia zoo announced the arrival of five hunger strikers—and methods to deal with them. The newcomers are giant apes, 18-inch chameleons from Cuba, which refuse to eat in captivity. Twice a week, zoo attendants will crane a hamburger and water mixture into their mouths, then force their stomachs to make them gulp.

"I met a lieutenant on the train going to Washington a few weeks ago. I turned out that he was the man who opened up the Nuttany Lion Inn, State College, back in the early 1930's. A few years ago while going to Chicago on a train I met an Egyptian physician from Cairo, Egypt, who knew where Bellefonte was! He is now located in Philadelphia and once employed the former Emily Wilkinson (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkinson of North Spring streets in his office).

"While riding to a train in Detroit last year I shared a cab with a traveling salesman who knew all about the town, having visited Bellefonte frequently on business trips.

"My Uncle Vince Taylor once visited a small Russian town at the conclusion of World War 1. Signing up at the register in the town's only hotel, a man stepped up to him and asked, 'Aren't you Vince Taylor from Bellefonte?' It turned out that he was a Barrhart from Curtin, who was visiting Russia at the time and had known Vince back in Bellefonte. Ed. Note: The Barrhart referred to is believed to be Victor Barrhart, formerly of the merchant marine and now a Lieutenant Commander in the U. S. Navy.

"So you see," Pvt. Manchester's letter continues, "from the taxi cabs of Detroit, over the stormy Atlantic to the Steppes of Russia, Bellefonte is well known, whether it be a famous flier or a town.

"Incidentally, a former resident of Bellefonte was president of the United States for a day back in President Polk's administration. But that's another story. Ed. Note (Let's have that story, too, Hugh).

"When I was stationed at Camp Gruber, Okla., I visited the USO in Tulsa. I sat down at a table to drink a 'cocke' when I was approached by an elderly-looking hostess. As all hostesses do, she asked my name and where I was from and when I said my home was Bellefonte, Pa., she answered, 'Oh, yes, I know where that is. It's in the mountains, isn't it?'"
