HONOR ROLL

Three Chambers Brothers Serving Uncle Sam

Pfc. William H. Montgomery, Jr.

Private First Class Montgomery enlisted in the Army Air Force in February 1944, and is now completing his training as a heavy bomber combat crewman at Biggs Field, Tex., a training station of the Second Air Force on the Mexican border. He and the other members of his crew will soon be sent overseas to take part in the aerial assault against the enemy.

Pfc. Ralph E. Chambers

Among the Centre countians who are serving in the nation's armed forces in World War II are three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chambers, of Clarence.

Cpl. Merrill A. Chambers

Subsequently he was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., and Ft. Meade, Md., before being sent to France. He formerly was employed by the J. H. France Company at Clarence.

Pvt. George H. Chambers

At the end of this year he was transferred to Ft. Benning, Ga., where he is now training with the infantry paratroopers. Before entering the armed forces, Merrill was employed at the H. Shive garage in Clarence.

Bomber Gunner

Ex-Governor Pinchot Rallies State Farmers

Hoover was President from 1929 to 1933. You remember how, under Hoover, farms and homes were being lost and life savings were vanishing in thousands of bank crashes.

You remember how soldiers and workers were selling apples or walking the streets.

I remember how, over and over again, Hoover refused Federal help for Pennsylvania when I asked him, I was Governor then. I remember that by 1933, because of the Hoover depression, we were feeding two millions of Pennsylvanians.

Now Hoover's candidate is trying to fool us by calling it the Roosevelt depression. But you and I remember that hope came back to America when Roosevelt moved to Washington.

Today, times even more difficult and dangerous are ahead. Today, the Presidency is the biggest job on earth, and will be till lasting peace is won.

The question before us is above and beyond the usual campaign chatter. That question is: Which man is best fitted to do what we want done, Roosevelt who knows how, or his opponent, who does not know what it takes?

I have watched Roosevelt's opponent for years, and I am entirely convinced that he is not big enough to lead the greatest of nations in the greatest crisis of all time. That is a task for a bigger and wiser man.

At the peace table, where the fate of the world will be settled, we need the best man we have to represent us and safeguard our interests. We need a man big enough and wise enough, and experienced enough to meet Churchill and Stalin on equal footing.

Can Dewey do that? Is he that kind of man? He is not and he cannot. But even Roosevelt's enemies must admit that he is and he can.

You may not like everything F. D. R. has done. Neither do I. Nobody is perfect. But is that a good reason for taking out the pitcher who is winning the game for our side?

You and I do not forget old times. That is why I want you to know my position. You and I together fought for the many against the few. The men and the interest we fought against then are behind the President's opponent now.

Theodore Roosevelt said that the public good comes first. I am a Republican, and Republican I shall remain. But first and last I am American. To me, and to millions of other Republicans, in this great crisis our country comes first.

Don't forget that many Republicans have split their ticket before this. Pennsylvania has gone twice for Roosevelt. And remember also that he has appointed Knox and Stimson and many more Republicans to high places in Washington.

Pennsylvania may well decide this election. If you agree with me, and I earnestly hope you do, I urge you to see that your friends also understand the situation and do not fall to vote.

Let the man who has led us so wisely and well to victory lead us also to permanent peace. America needs Roosevelt, and the man who knows how.

This is my best judgment. And good luck to you.

Sincerely yours, GIFFORD PINCHOT

Gearhart of State College, has been assigned to duty as a combat pilot by his squadron commander. Lt. Gearhart is a graduate of the College. Hitler Calls Old Men And Boys for Last-Ditch Fight

Old men and boys—and "if need they want to advance into our country will cost them streams of blood."

This guerrilla army, which the Nazis proclaimed legal with armament identification, was placed under the control of Himmler and Reichleader Martin Bormann with supreme power to impress anyone and everyone.

In a special broadcast the Berlin radio said the announcement of the founding of the Volkstrum "struck like a stroke of lightning. Everywhere it was the topic of the day."

"Young boys with red-cheeked children's faces and white-haired men discussed the possibility offered by the fuhrer's decree in actively participating in the country's defense with a rifle in hand," the broadcast continued.

MARTHA

The members of the Christian Service of the Methodist church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Erma Steele last Friday evening.

Appetizer making is in season. Mrs. Forrest Will made a kettle of the delicious spread last Thursday. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Annie Stiver, and uncle, Wilson, of Port Matilda.

Mr. J. B. Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hummel and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hummel and daughter Nancy Lee, all of Phillipsburg, visited on Sunday at the home of Harry Stiver.

Mona and Wanda Stiver were in Tyrone last Saturday, having some dental work done.

Edith Fink of Harrisburg, visited last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fink.

Stanley Shilling and Norman Stiver went to Millheim last Friday, where Stanley purchased a car from Billy's garage.

Mrs. Annie Straw and her father, J. C. Andrews of Turtle Creek, are visiting at the home of Delaun Andrews.

Prepare for Breaking Storm

Thus the Nazis prepared the beleaguered nation for what their propagandists called the "greatest storm in the world history which is about to descend on us."

The Paris radio asserted that the home army already was in operation with its first task "the liquidation of foreign workers in the Reich" to prevent them from forming a fifth column.

The Moscow radio told the German people that Hitler's guerrilla army could not save the Reich and that "central Germany will be a battlefield tomorrow."

"There is nothing that Himmler, Goering or Hitler can possibly do to stop the final Allied onslaught against the Reich," the Moscow radio said in a special broadcast to the Reich. "The German nation is being called to arms solely for the purpose of facilitating the escape of high Nazi officials. The Nazis' last hour has come."

With the bottom of the German manpower barrel already scraped to the extent of mobilizing ill and one-eyed and one-armed Germans, and Red Cross workers and munition employes into the armed forces, there is no estimate of the number of armed men who could be raised by the new order.

Calls for Fanatical Action

Himmler said the task of the Volkstrum was to fanatically grab the enemy and if possible to whip him out wherever he steps on our home soil. He is at advance on the ground or by descending from the air. Our enemies must learn to understand that every kilometer which
