Five years later the store was moved to South Allegheny street, in the room now occupied by the Bellefonte Lunch, where it remained continuously until after Harvey Miller's death on August 22, 1937.

George Miller continued to operate the store after his brother's death, and the business was moved to smaller quarters on West High street where special emphasis was placed on sporting goods and hunting and fishing equipment. The store closed several years ago and about two years ago Mr. Miller went to Ravenna to accept a position with the Atlas Powder Company, living with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. Cameron Heverly and family in that city.

Mr. Miller is survived by his wife, the former Kathryn Irwin; three children, Mrs. R. C. Heverly, of Ravenna; Miss Ruth Miller, of Home, and Jack G. Miller, of Newark, N. J. There are three grandchildren.

(Continued from page One) officers of the bank are N. E. Robb, chairman of the board; M. K. Robb, president and trust officer; C. Y. Wagner, vice-president; E. S. Orr, secretary and treasurer; F. O. Witmer, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer; H. R. Williams, asst. treasurer and asst. trust officer.

In the annual report made to the stockholders the officers reviewed the activities of the bank during the year 1944 which was the fourth time the stockholders have met since the United States was plunged into this greatest of all wars.

The bank's statement of condition as of December 30, 1944, showed total resources exceeding $3,000,000 and total deposits of over $2,700,000, both of which figures were higher than on any previous reporting date. As is general throughout the country among banks the continued increase in deposits was invested in government bonds which showed a substantial increase from the previous year. Loans remained fairly constant showing little change from the previous year. On May 1, 1944, the Bellefonte Trust Company together with the other two Bellefonte banks instituted activity charges which were well received by the general public as they are now based on the activity in the use of the bank facilities. Net earnings during the year showed a continued increase over previous years and the regular dividend plus $1.00 extra per share was paid to the stockholders. The balance of earnings was transferred to undivided profits strengthening the Judge W. H. Keller Dies Suddenly superior court by Governor Martin Brumbaugh. He was elected to a full term in November 1934, and re-elected in November 1938, and became president judge on January 7, 1939. He was re-elected for a third term on the high bench in 1943. On April 22, 1944, Judge Keller was in Bellefonte to present to the Centre County Court and to the citizens of the county the portraits of his brother, the late Judge Harry Keller, and the late Judge Ellis L. Orvis, both former judges of Centre County. At that time Judge Keller spoke most interestingly of the two jurists, and recalled his boyhood years in Bellefonte. The ceremony was held in the court room where the portraits are hung. Judge Keller is survived by his wife and by a half-sister, Miss Lucy Keller, of Philadelphia. Funeral arrangements had not been completed yesterday, but it was believed interment would be made in Lancaster.

Man Shoots Girls Then Kills Self

(Continued from page One) sack full of beer. He first wanted to marry Virginia and then May, and when both turned him down and tried to get him to leave the house, he pulled out the revolver and threatened to shoot. He shot two bullets at the one girl, striking her once, and shot the other girl once before leaving for his own home. He was lying on a cot there when he took his own life. His brains were splattered over the ceiling and walls by the blast.

Following the shootings, which occurred about 1:30 a. m., a physician was called for the two girls and they were then taken to the hospital. At about the same time they arrived at the hospital, Strange fired the shot which snuffed out his life.

The married sister was in the room with the girls when Strange first flourished the revolver but she had gone upstairs, where the three children were in bed, when the first of the shots were fired. The first sister attempted to wrench the gun from him as he fired it.

Strange was single, having never married. He owned his own home and lived by himself near the Morridale company block. The Way home, where the girls lived, is located near the Cunard slip, near Oak Grove, about a mile from the Strange home. Mr. Way is working in Buffalo, N. Y.
