Sunday School Lesson

LOYALTY TO KINGDOM

International Sunday School Lesson
for January 28, 1945

GOLDEN TEXT: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."
—Matthew 6: 33.

Lesson Text: Matthew 5: 33; 7: 12, 16-29.

Our lesson last week considered the first chapter of the Sermon on the Mount, in which Jesus described the nature of the kingdom of Heaven, the divine way of life.

The Jews of that day had a conception of that kingdom would be quite different from what Jesus expounded to his hearers.

Last week our lesson showed how the teaching of Jesus elevated the old law, carrying its prohibition of physical acts into the spiritual range of inward feelings and desires. This doctrine reached its altitudes in the injunction, "Love your enemies."

Our lesson this week continues to show the contrast between the ideal kingdom and the practices of the day, giving alms, or being charitable, for the sake of the publicity attached, may gain the approbation of man but is without reward in the kingdom of the spirit.

PRAYER uttered with ostentation may bring a reputation of piety but does not ascend to the ruler of the divine realm.

FASTING, or any sacrifice performed hypocritically, may reap an earthly reward, but the God who looks into the hearts of men will not be misled.

Jesus pointed out these eternal truths to his hearers, and in doing so, by implication condemned the outward formalism of the worship as practiced by the Pharisees and in the current Jewish fashions.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate discomfort. FASTEREET, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates inside them, firms them so they feel more comfortable. No gummy, gummy, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not wear. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEREET today at any drug store.

be mistakes which result from faintness of heart or abandonment of moral principle.

I remember that my old schoolmaster said, in days that seemed to us then to be secure and untroubled: "Things in life will not always run smoothly. Sometimes we will be rising toward the heights—then all will seem to reverse itself and start downward. The great fact to remember is that the trend of civilization itself is forever upward; that a line drawn through the middle of the peaks and valleys of the centuries always has an upward trend."

Our constitution of 1787 was not a perfect instrument; it is not a perfect yet. But it provided a firm base on which all manner of men, of all races and colors and creeds, could build our solid structure of democracy.

Must Profit by Lessons.

Today in this year of war, 1945, we have learned lessons—at a fearful cost—and we shall profit by them.

We have learned that we cannot live alone, at peace; that our own well-being is dependent on the well-being of other nations—far away. We have learned that we must live as men, not as ostriches, nor as dogs in the manger.

We have learned the simple truth as Emerson said, that "the only way to have a friend is to be one."

We can gain no lasting peace if we approach it with suspicion and mistrust—and with fear. We can gain it only if we proceed with the understanding and confidence and courage which flow from conviction. The Almighty God has blessed our land in many ways. He has given our people stout hearts and strong arms with which to strike mighty blows for freedom and truth. He has given to our country a faith which has become the hope of all peoples in an anguished world.

We pray now to Him for the vision to see our way clearly—to see the way that leads to a better life for ourselves and for all our fellow men—to the achievement of His will to peace on earth.

Some Traditions Swept Aside.

Many traditions were swept aside for the President's fourth inauguration, but a few survived unchanged. The actual swearing-in ceremony was patterned in its essentials on those of 1937, 1941 and 1945.

It was the same man, the same Bible open at the same place, and the same oath.

As he had three times before, Mr. Roosevelt chose a passage from St. Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians, Chapter 13, verses 1-13 on which to place his hand while taking the 156-year-old oath of presidents prescribed by the Constitution.

The passage is St. Paul's famous essay on charity, without which the apostle wrote, "I am nothing." It concludes: "And now abideth faith, hope, and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

The Bible as an ancient Roosevelt family heritage, written in Dutch. It is more than two centuries old. Its exact age is unknown, but it is believed to be the same book that President Roosevelt used as governor of New York.

The oath, from paragraph 8, section 1, article II of the Constitution: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of the president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Not having religious scruples against it, Mr. Roosevelt says "swear" rather than "affirm."

THE OFFICE CAT

"A Little Nonsense Now and Then, Is Relished by the Wiest Men"

Dog-Gone
Nine little doggies
Sizzling on the plate;
In came the soldiers—
Then they were ate.

Have You Heard About the Scotchman?
Who married the half-witted girl because she was 50 per cent off?
Who took his children out of school because they had to pay attention?
Who is so tight he refuses to perspire freely?
Who gave his son a licking because he bought an all-day sticker at four o'clock in the afternoon?
Who went on his honeymoon alone?
Who got kidnapped and went crazy thinking about the ransom his wife was trying to pay to free him?
Who ordered asparagus and left the waiter the tip?
Who told his children that Christmas was on December 28th so he could take advantage of the after-Christmas clearance sales?
Who was so tight he put boric acid in his grapefruit in order to get a free eyewash?

Two Scotchmen bet each other to see who could stay under water longest. The police are still looking for the bodies.

Scotchman: Get behind your lover, you unfaithful wife. I'm going to shoot you both.

Frugality
First Scot: "Did you hear about Sandy McCulloch finding a box of corn plasters?"
Second Scot: "No, did he?"
First Scot: "Yes, he went and bought a pair of tight shoes."

All Gone
Silly Girl: "How old do you think I am?"
Man: "Forty-four years old."
Silly Girl: "How do you happen to make that out?"
Man: "I have a brother twenty-two and he is half nuts."

Sounds Like Bellefonte
President of the Chamber of Commerce: "Well, what do you think of our little city?"
Visitor: "I'll tell you, brother, this is the first cemetery I ever saw with lights."

Answer Unknown
Dumb Dora asked, "I bought some sheets, pillow cases and blankets today. Shall I put them down in my budget as cover charges or overhead?"

Sounds Like Writer of "Random Items"
Nurse: "Shall I give you a local anaesthetic?"
Writer, who is a patient: "No, I have plenty of money—give me the best. Give me something imported."

Fainter the Better
A Negro soldier, who had been wounded overseas, lay in the sick bed of a hospital ship entering New York harbor. A medical officer stopped by on a last-minute checkup to ask the soldier if he had any personal belongings which he wished carried ashore. The boy shook his head.
"You don't mean to say that a soldier who saw as much action as you did has no souvenirs?" exclaimed the officer.
"Captain," said the soldier, "I don't have no souvenirs—'cause all I wants of disere war is jus' a faint recollection."

It Can't Work Out
The Japs have a new plan to prevent the B-29's from bombing their war plants. They plan to put the "Sons of Heaven" in one. But they don't have enough Sons of Heaven, the sons of you-know-what.

The Courting Gob
The sailor's a crazy guy
And has a lot of fun.
He sizes all the cuties up
And seldom Mrs. one.

Probably So
A dear old lady was passing a rural stream where a company of nude soldiers was enjoying a refreshing cool swim.
"Oh, dear," she exclaimed, "these must be our shock troops."

Misunderstood
A new clerk, dictating a letter, was in doubt as to the use of a phrase, so he asked the stenographer:
"Do you retire a loan?"
Stenographer (sleepily): "No, I sleep with mamma."

Now You Know
Bill: "I wonder why they don't ever have a woman for president?"
Phil: "A president has to be over forty years of age and a great leader of men, and you know as well as I do no man would follow a woman after she's forty years old."

Shorts
The tramp approached a door marked "Dr. Roberts" and knocked. A lady answered the summons and he inquired politely: "Has the Doc an old pair of pants or two, that he could let me have, missus?"
"No," the lady answered sweetly, "they wouldn't fit you."
"Are you sure?" he questioned.
"Quite sure," was the reply. "You see, I'm the doctor."

Wise Wife
"I insisted on the nurse being present while the doctor was examining me this afternoon."
"Heavens! Couldn't you trust him in the office with you?"
"Of course, but I couldn't trust her in the waiting-room with my husband."

He Should Do An Excellent Business
Mike: "You should be careful, you know what Kipling said: A woman is just a rag, a bone and a hank of hair."
 Ike: "Well, that's fine. I'm in the junk business."

Sequel
Woman is nothing but a rag, a bone and a hank of hair.
Man is nothing but a bag, a groin and a tank of air.

Domestic Tranquility
Sam: "Our gas range exploded and blew mother and father out of the house together."
Neighbor: "That's terrible."
Sam: "Yeah, but it made mother very happy."
Neighbor: "Made your mother very happy?"
Sam: "Yeah—that was the first time they'd left the house together in twenty years."

Someone You Know
Ben: "My brother fell down two flights of stairs with two pints of gin."
Ken: "Did he spill the gin?"
Ben: "No, he kept his mouth closed."

Modern Variation
Ev: "You don't love me any more. I'm going back to mother."
Steve: "Don't bother. I'll go back to my wife."

Wrote Too Far
She: "It's easy to write a play. First act, boy meets girl; second act, they hold hands; third act, they kiss."
He: "That's how I got arrested."
She: "What do you mean?"
He: "I wrote a five-act play."

MARTHA

HOLTS HOLLOW

Our community was shocked and saddened when word was received of the sudden death of Mrs. Emma Watson of this place, who passed away Friday, Jan. 12 at 10:30 p. m., at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Stauffer, of Warren, Ohio. She was buried Tuesday, Jan. 16, from the home of her son, Orvis, of this place. Mrs. Watson will be sadly missed in this community where she spent her entire married life. She was a friend to everyone and was always ready to help anyone who was in need. She will also be sadly missed in the church services where she has been an active member and one of the faithful few for many years. Her family gave our deepest sympathy but we know that our loss is heaven's gain.

Those from a distance who attended Mrs. Watson's funeral on Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sweitzer of Lemoyne, and daughter Emily, student nurse of Allentown, Mr. and Mrs. James Fyfe and three sons of Elmhurst, L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Miles Stauffer and two daughters of Warren, Ohio, who all returned to their respective homes on Wednesday.

Mrs. James Wesley and two children of Clearfield, spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson.

Mrs. Ed Johnson received word Monday of the death of Mrs. William McKinley of Bellefonte, who passed away Sunday night. She had broken her hip in a fall two weeks ago.

Miss Marie Johnson spent Friday with Mrs. Edith Baird of Mifflinburg, Jersey County of Bellefonte, spending a few days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leathers.

Sunday callers at the Leathers home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dreese and son David, Marjorie and Estella Leathers of Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leathers and two daughters, Doris and Marilyn, were supper guests on Saturday evening of Harry Leathers of Kennedy.

Don't forget the official board meeting of trustees and officers of the church on Tuesday evening, Jan. 30, after prayer meeting at the Orvis Watson home.

Pvt. Fred Watson has been shipped overseas, and did not receive the word of his mother's death.
