Kiwanis Club to Further Memorial

W. W. Stoen, president of Bellefonte Borough Council, presided.

John G. Love, president of the hospital board of trustees, declared that the institution would help in every way possible in securing an additional wing to serve as a memorial as well as to provide badly needed additional hospital facilities to all citizens of the county.

Mr. Love reported that the board has consulted Architect Dean Kennedy of State College, to include in plans he drew some time ago for an added wing, a suitable room or lobby in which the names of war veterans would be inscribed on suitable tablets.

Mr. Love declared that the proposed addition to the hospital would more than double its present capacity. The wooden structure on the southwest corner of the present brick structure, used chiefly for storage purposes, would be razed and a wing added along the west end of the brick building.

A further extension would be built on the southeast corner, adjoining the present sun porch and extending southeast to occupy some of the area now used as a parking area at the rear of the building.

Tentative plans, he added, call for an addition to the front main entrance. It is in this two-story section on the front of the building that the proposed memorial room would be located.

Alex Stergiakis, of the Logan Fire Company, reported that organization had gone on record unanimously as favoring an addition to the hospital as a war memorial, and Mr. Stoen revealed that Albert Kinley, speaking for the Undine Company, revealed that organization will support any project favored by a majority of the group attending the meeting.

Robert G. MacDonald, president of the Bellefonte Chamber of Commerce; Aaron Lettzell and Ebon B. Bower, representing the American Legion; LeRoy Bryan, of the Milesburg Fire Department; Egil Risau, of the Sutton Engineering Company, and William J. Tucker, representing the Interorganization Council of Pleasant Gap, all reported their constituents favored the construction of a wing to the hospital.

William Garis, of the Bellefonte Veterans of Foreign Wars, reporting the sentiments of that post as well as other VFW posts which met recently, suggested that the memorial planning might be postponed until the boys now in the armed forces are home and have an opportunity to voice their views on the type of memorial they'd prefer.

H. R. Kinley, of State College, voted the possibility of erecting an entirely new hospital in the vicinity of Bellefonte where there would be plenty of ground space.

The coming Red Cross drive is about to begin. Help your boys overseas with the aid that is furnished them by this worthy organization.

Speaks on Works of Home Service

In case of serious illness or death in the family of a person in the service, Rev. Stenger said, it is important that the information first directly to the service men and then notify the Home Service unit. He explained that in this way much valuable time will be saved.

The speaker also urged servicemen to keep in mind that if they ever find themselves in urgent need of money, the safest, speediest and most effective way to obtain it is to go to their local Red Cross and ask him to get it for them from home. The field director gets in touch with the local Home Service unit which explains the case to the servicemen's relatives. The relatives provide the money and the local Home Service then telegraphs the field director to grant the serviceman's request. The money does not leave the local Home Service treasury until a receipt, signed by the serviceman, arrives from the field director where the soldier or sailor is stationed.

Rev. Stenger related a number of examples in which the Bellefonte Home Service has performed service of great value and great comfort for servicemen and their relatives at home. Cases relative to prisoners of war are handled by Mrs. Louise Johnson Spicher of Bellefonte, whose husband is a prisoner of the Germans. Emergency relief requests are handled by Mrs. R. G. Lindquist of Bellefonte, and work of a social service nature is referred to Mrs. Virginia Beatty Smith, also of Bellefonte. All are members of the Home Service group.

Guests at the dinner included Dr. J. V. Foster, of State College; Dr. Ralph E. Carrier, physician at Pleasant Gap; Dr. Don Crowell, Bloomburg, Game Warden Thomas Mosier, of Bellefonte, was welcomed as a new member of Kiwanis. M. E. Rumberger, club president, presided at the meeting.

Kiwanian Aaron D. Lettzell announced that on Monday, March 19, Bellefonte club officers will preside at a regular meeting of the State College Kiwanis Club and that the following day, State College officers will be in charge of the regular meeting of the Bellefonte club here. Members of the Bellefonte club were invited to be present at the session at State College.

6 Retailers, OPA to Hold Conference

The Bellefonte Rationing Board yesterday announced that it will hold a conference in the board offices on West High street, Thursday, March 15, with local food retailers who have violated OPA regulations.

Six retailers are scheduled to appear at the conference. The most common violations in this area are selling food over the ceiling price and failure to post ceiling prices as required by OPA regulations.

The waste paper salvage campaign won't mean very much if government officials allow the packaging and selling of coal. The cartons used in packaging the coal could be used for a lot better purpose than to keep one's hands from getting dirty.

Our boys in the service depend on the Red Cross for numerous services, so let's help this organization by giving freely in its call for funds.

Nurses' Aides Give Great Service Here

Red Cross Nurse's Aides have proved their importance to the health of the community by their services in the Centre County Hospital.

Mrs. Carolyn Weikel, Nurse's Aide Corps chairman of the Bellefonte Red Cross chapter disclosed recently.

Two separate classes taught by Mrs. Edward Harris, Jr., of Pleasant Gap, were graduated last year. The first class numbered seventeen individuals, while the second was made up of 9 members. Both of these groups worked for a total of 3206 1/2 hours during the year at the hospital. They received nothing for their services but their training was paid for out of chapter funds.

Many of the aides are employed full time in other positions or in managing a household, but give from 30 to 40 hours a month of their free time to help at the hospital. They are performing invaluable service in helping to offset wartime personnel shortages by assisting the registered nurses in countless little details.

Approximately three-fourths of the members of the graduating classes are regularly employed at the county institution. Mrs. Weikel stated. One of the aides is able to work full time while the others are employed one or two days a week.

Nurse's Aides are carefully trained to perform non-professional tasks in hospitals and are employed full time in other positions or in managing a household, but give from 30 to 40 hours a month of their free time to help at the hospital. They are performing invaluable service in helping to offset wartime personnel shortages by assisting the registered nurses in countless little details.

Throughout the country there are Nurse's Aides serving in civilian and military hospitals. Mrs. Weikel reported. More than 2,322 civilian hospitals, 232 army hospitals, 29 veterans' hospitals, and 1,564 clinics and other health centers in the nation are using Red Cross Nurse's Aides.

Fatal Accident Was Unavoidable

Bald Eagle Branch, and Mr. Lykens of Altoona, was serving as pilot over the branch line.

Mr. Lykens testified that the whistle of the train was sounded before the train reached the first crossing in Milesburg, but that because of a railroad rule the whistle was not sounded at subsequent crossings in that town. The automatic bell, however, was in operation, he testified.

The members of the engine crew said the train was traveling at between 30 and 35 miles an hour at the time of the crash. Because the truck approached the crossing from the train's left, the engineer and pilot did not see the vehicle before the crash. The fireman said the train had "drifted" most of the way from Hannal to Milesburg, and that shortly before reaching Milesburg he had left his post to build up the fire, which had become comparatively low. Just as he was about to resume his seat, he felt a jar and saw a shower of splinters. The fireman said he didn't know what the locomotive had struck until afterwards.

He said that even if he had seen the truck before the crash he wouldn't have cautioned the engineer, since the truck driver's view both ways on the track was unobstructed.
