

Echoes From the Past

Fifty Years Ago

Mrs. Mary Ellen, wife of William B. Way, of near Stormstown, died on Tuesday after a long illness. She was aged 48 years, and was a member of the Society of Friends.

John S. Waite expects to move the old band stand to the corner of High and Water streets, and fit the same up for a bicycle store. In addition he will keep tobacco and confectionery.

The ladies composing the Village Improvement Society, will make an effort to have the loafing on street corners and crowding about hotel entrances stopped. There would be some merit in such a crusade.

Mr. Harry Saylor of Curtin Works, who is almost helpless and infirm, recently got a pension with $477 back pay. His monthly rate will be something like $12. Squire Bieri, Milesburg, had the applicant's claim in charge and pushed into a successful termination.

During the recent blizzard the Bellefonte Presbyterian congregation secured forty tons of anthracite coal for distribution among the poor in this vicinity. This kind of work amounts to more than long prayers.

Guy H. Davis, of Towanda, a son of the ex-lieutenant governor, has been appointed executive clerk by the governor to succeed William F. Reber, of Bellefonte.

The law firm of Dale Brothers, composed of Messrs. Clement and Al Dale, are moving to the second floor of Crider's stone building where they will occupy a splendid suite of three communicating rooms. These apartments have been specially fitted up for their occupancy. Their former rooms on the first floor were entirely too crowded for their business.

A man by the name of Kleckner had a hand-to-hand encounter with an old bear and three cubs near Poe Mills. He was in the act of trimming a tree which he had just felled when the old bear sprang upon him. No tree being handy, he climbed a sapling which bent to the ground with his weight. After making three unsuccessful attempts to get away M. Ahearn appeared on the scene and together they drove the bear and cubs away with clubs and axes.

A marriage license was issued to Albert L. Emery and Edwina Jodon, both of Centre Hall.

J. M. Keichline of Bellefonte, was to deliver an address "The Life of George Washington," at a meeting of the Patriotic Sons of America in Bellefonte on March 6.

Beautification of the property at the Big Spring was virtually assured at a meeting of Council when plans for a new pumping station and other improvements there were discussed.

State and County health authorities had launched an investigation to determine the source of a scarlet fever outbreak in Blanchard, Beech Creek and Bald Eagle township. In the area 35 cases of the disease were reported.

The official board of the Bellefonte Methodist church named the following three members to attend the annual conference of the church to be held in Chambersburg: M. R. Johnson, L. A. Shaffer and W. T. Twintyer.

James & Nicholson, Johnstown road contractors, were low bidders on a section of road between Snow Shoe Intersection and Snow Shoe. The State Highway Department announced. The road was eight miles in length and work was to get underway within several months.

Fire starting from an overheated stove in a galvanized iron garage at the rear of the Bellefonte Academy main building, Saturday morning, caused damage estimated at $2,000. Prompt action by students and Bellefonte firemen, was credited with having saved the main building from destruction.

Roy Zong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Zong, of Rockview, was painfully wounded in the left arm while working on the Spring Creek road for J. L. Peters, Benner township road supervisor. The report of a firearm in nearby woods preceded the sting of a bullet in the young man's arm. The bullet passed through the arm. The identity of the person who fired the shot was unknown.

While enroute to his home from his store near the Station, Saturday night, Robert Ross, Bellefonte taxidermian and business man, lost his wallet containing over $200 in cash and about $50 in checks. He had offered a substantial reward for its return. Mr. Ross had just purchased the Van Ingen home at the corner of Allegheny and Curtin streets and intended to convert the building into apartments.

The Bellefonte Kiwanis Club celebrated its first anniversary at the Bush House with a banquet at which 130 members, their wives and guests were present. Speakers included Dr. Romig, celebrated humorist of State College, while entertainers included Connie O'Donnell, president of the State College Dramatic Club; Mrs. Theodora Winters, Annapolis; Mrs. Louis Schaeffer, of Bellefonte, violinist; Miss Cecelia Merschbacher, vocalist and Joseph DeLallo, singer and solo dancer. Mrs. R. R. Blair provided piano accompaniment.

On Tuesday night of last week fire broke out in the residence of John C. Nason, the lumberman at Beaver, in Huston township, and the building with all its contents was totally destroyed. The family was asleep at the time and members were compelled to flee for their lives, escaping in their night clothing. All their wearing apparel was burned. Mr. Nason estimates his loss at $4,000 on which there was no insurance, his policies having expired about two weeks ago. The fire is believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Workingmen in quarrying stone at Waddles, a station on the Bellefonte Central Railroad, a short distance from State College, discovered an interesting natural phenomenon in the shape of a cave. The opening to the subterranean cavern is about four feet square and opens into a space nine feet high and twenty feet deep. Large apertures leading downward through solid rocks are numerous in the floor of the interior cavity. A stone dropped into one of the openings produces a clear ringing sound such as emitted by a bell. Streams of flowing water can be distinctly heard at a distance below the surface. On all sides of the interior of the cavern are rare and grotesque formations of stalagmites and stalactites. At one end of the large interior cavern an opening extends into the earth a distance already explored only by crawling on hands and knees. Several valuable and unique Indian relics have been found and it is thought to have been the secret place of some early settlers from the attacks of hostile tribes.

WHY PULPWOOD WORKERS are draft deferred
RECENT draft regulations raising pulpwood production from "essential" to "critical", thereby giving pulpwood workers the highest deferment preference, emphasize the extreme importance of pulpwood in the war.
MORE MEN NEEDED NOW
Any man who wants to serve his country to the fullest extent as a civilian can find this opportunity in pulpwood work. In addition to its high draft rating, it is healthy, outdoor work; it pays well; has a fine post-war future; and positions are open in almost any rural community - you don't have to go to some distant and overcrowded city.
If you want to find work in this vital war industry, see the wood buyer at our mill or any dealer from whom we buy.
Pulpwood Shortage Grows More Serious
End of war in Europe is not expected to relieve the pulpwood shortage - it may actually make it worse. Most shipments will now go to the Pacific where everything must be double wrapped and it takes much more pulpwood to package each ton of supplies.
