

"My Hair Stood on End."
Emotions affect inner organs. "Scared? My hair stood on end!" This sounds sillier than it is. Emotions cause strong reactions and upset the digestive tract and aggravate peptic ulcers. Tears flow when we cry, fears cause dryness of the mouth, clammy sweat, nausea and diarrhea. The heart beats more rapidly. Patients hide their fears and doctors must search out this factor.—The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

Logical Reason
He: "Why do you weep and sniffle at a picture show over the imaginary woes of people you never met?"
She: "For the same reason you scream and yell when a man you don't know slides into second base."

They're always so husky and full of life when I buy 'em from Kerlins... see their big adv. in this issue.

Feebly Spoken
A seasick couple lay stretched out in deck chairs. Meanwhile, their young son became roudier by the minute. Finally the mother mustered strength and voice enough to say:
"John, I wish you would speak to Willie."
The father unable to lift his head, said feebly: "Hello, Willie."

They Always Do
Tommy came home proudly from his first day at school.
"What did you learn today?" asked his mother.
"Nothing," said Tommy. Then seeing the look of disappointment on her face, he added: "Nothing in class, but I learned a lot during recess."
