Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for May 13, 1951
Memory Selection: Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14: 34.

Lesson Text: I Kings 12: 20, 26-30; 16: 23-28; Amos 6: 1-6.

First Kings takes up the record of the Hebrew people from the point where II Samuel stops, beginning with the old age of David and recounting the glory of the reign of David's son, Solomon. Solomon's era was one of outward greatness but it contained the seeds of dissension. Solomon married hundreds of wives, many of them being foreign princesses with heathen outlooks, who set up their pagan shrines and turned the people of Israel from their allegiance to Jehovah.

The construction of temples, palaces, cities and other public structures made the burden of labor and taxation very heavy and, toward the end of Solomon's reign, there were signs of the discontent and dissatisfaction of the people.

Following the death of Solomon, the twelve tribes of the Israelites assembled to crown his son, Rehoboam, king. Before crowning their new king, however, the people asked Rehoboam to give them some assurance of ease from their burdens.

Ten of the twelve tribes, instead of accepting Rehoboam as their king, chose Jeroboam, a member of the tribe of Ephraim, industrious and able, who had been promoted by Solomon to a position of leadership among the many engaged in various public works. The result was a division of the kingdom. Jeroboam becoming king of the northern ten tribes which inherited most of the sacred places of the nation, but Judah retained the immense advantage of the location of the great city of Jerusalem, with its Temple.

Thus, Jeroboam committed two great sins—he sinned in permitting the people to worship an image and he further sinned in selecting men to be priests who were not of the tribe of Levi, dedicated by God for the priesthood. Not only did Jeroboam sin, but the scripture declares, he "made Israel to sin."

The downfall of Israel has a lesson for us today. Moral and spiritual decay ate away the heart of Israel and it will eat away the heart of America. Israel collapsed inwardly before it collapsed outwardly. What about America today?
