master plan will be followed with actual work in a reasonable length of time. 4. The borough will provide supervision in development and maintenance. 5. The borough will pay all costs in transfer of the property. 6. The property shall revert to the donor if the above provisions are not met.

Henry Brockerhoff, J. K. Peterson and W. J. Emerick appeared before council to ask for information on the borough's ordinance forbidding parking in the metered areas from 3 to 6 a. m.

They said such a move would work a hardship on hotels since facilities for parking guests' cars are limited. The Street committee and chief of police will meet with the hotelmen in order to find a solution.

At its meeting council will decide on entering a lease to rent one room of the Phoenix mill annex to Jack Wilkinson, of Bellefonte, at $5 per month.

Special committee Chairman Ted R. Colgrove told council the brick hangar at the Bellefonte airport is the property of the Civil Aeronautics Authority. Any equipment listed by the CAA as available to Bellefonte borough will be offered to the Centre County Airport Authority. The lease on the airport expired June 30, council was reminded.

George Boughter, of East Linn Street, was appointed a member of the Airport Authority, replacing Arthur C. Hewitt who will resign. The Street Committee Chairman W. C. Ferree said curbs have been poured on Burnside Street in the borough's paving program. A labor shortage has slowed the work somewhat, he added. The newly purchased street sweeper is to be received in Bellefonte this week. Proposed plans for improving Stony Batter are in the process of preparation and it was hoped that the plans would be ready before work done on Water Street, Hepburn Street, connecting Logan and Burnside Streets, will be improved with slag this summer, it was decided.

Tax collector's commission on delinquent taxes was raised to 5 per cent. At present the commission is 3 per cent.

Burgess Hugh M. Quigley reported the receipt of a plaque for the Big Spring from the Bellefonte Business and Professional Women's Club. The plaque is on display at the Herman News Agency on North Allegheny Street.

Council also:

Decided to hold only one meeting per month from June through September. Meetings will be held the first Monday.

Heard reports on the Boroughs Association convention in Harrisburg last month.

Was informed the borough lockup was inspected by State officials on April 10 and was listed as "good."

Welcomed these members of the "honorary council" to its meeting: Glenn Walizer, mayor; Bob Shultz and Tim Waite.

Postponed letting the contract for purchase of a sewage pump until specifications are ready.

Instructed the water department and borough engineer to meet with Robert Roan, of E. Bishop Street, relative to service on the new Bishop Street sewer line.

Heard reports from Jean Y. Bauer, tax collector; Samuel Bricker, health officer, and Charles DeWitt, chief of police.

during the past ten days is due to the fact that the non-ferrous price section of the Office of Price Stabilization has not seen fit to establish realistic prices covering various classes of brass and copper scrap. The matter has been under discussion since Jan. 16.

"With each month the indications have been that price ceilings would be established to correspond with the selling prices of brass mill products. The situation is completely out of hand at this time with copper scrap selling at from 8 1/2 to 10 cents over market prices and brass scrap at from 5 to 8 cents over the market price, according to the class of brass scrap.

"Our activities may be curtailed for some time in the future, awaiting positive action by the authorities in Washington charged with establishing prices.

a complete census of all persons, well established sampling procedures are being used. These procedures make it possible to draw conclusions about the total population from small but representative portions of the complete population.

Every interviewer carries an identification card and has had personal training in the use of the materials. Although the names of those interviewed are taken, there is complete assurance that no individual will be singled out for special treatment, nor will any person be put on a list of any sort.

The names serve as a check on the adequacy of sampling as well as on the performance of the interviewers. Reports from the outer centers as well as from the local center indicate considerable interest in the project on the part of those approached. The Americanism Committee reported on tentative plans recently formulated as to holding the annual Memorial Day services in the Union Cemetery this year. The ceremonies will be held in "the Pines" of the Cemetery which is located in the south-central section near East High Street.

It was announced that the old two-story frame and stone building on E. Howard Street, which was used by the late Hardman P. Harris as a morgue, while he was actively engaged in the undertaking business, is being razed this week and the space that it occupied will be used temporarily for a parking lot.

Razing of the building fronting on Howard Street and extending back along Decatur alley is being done by employees of the Legion, with permission of the Harris estate. Legion members will have first chance to buy the material salvaged from the wrecking operation.

In May 1946 the Brooks-Doll-Edeling Holding Company of the Brook-Doll-Edeling Post 23, American Legion of Bellefonte, entered into an agreement with Mayor Harris for the purchase of the block (250 by 250) bounded by Howard, Penn. and Burroughs Streets and Decatur Alley.

The Legion at that time planned to build another building on the Harris lot. Just how the present building restrictions will effect the plans, and when the 1946 expansion program will be started, is not known at present. Those and other important questions concerning the acquisition and development of the new property were to be discussed at a meeting of the holding company recently.

The Legion holding company entered into the agreement with the late Burgess Harris, with a view toward expanding its present home on E. Howard Street, just across Decatur Alley from the Harris property. Plans called for eventual razing of the morgue and attached stone house, the frame and stone residence of the Burgess, and the large stone apartment building.

The frame part of the building now being torn down was used for storage purposes after Mr. Harris retired from the undertaking business. The stone part of the building was occupied as the living quarters for a number of years by the late McKnight sisters. Its use as living quarters was discontinued in the fall of 1947, following the fire in which Miss Martha McKnight died.

Nine members of the local post attended the Legion's 27th District meeting held at Bradford, Sunday.
