

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa:
The boy I go with is in the Army. He doesn't like for me to have dates with other boys but from his letters I judge that he goes to dances and entertainments that are given for the soldiers.

I love him very much and do not care for other boys, but I do get awfully lonesome sitting home night after night, and knowing that this thing might keep up for years. Don't you think it would be wiser for both of us to go with other people, but not to go too much with any one person?

Answer:
If a boy and girl have been going together for years and would be married except for the war, there might be some sense in acting as though they were already married, but, on the whole, I think it is a much better arrangement not to tie oneself up for years.

Too often the young couple find they are not as much in love when the boy comes back as they thought they were when he left, and one or the other either marries someone else or just sticks it out from a sense of obligation.

Why can't you both go out with other people occasionally, especially to places where there are other young people, but always keep each other as the "best" girl or boy? And then, when the war is over, if you still care for each other, you can cut out the other dates.

It makes a difference, however, if your young man is stationed where he doesn't have the opportunity of seeing other girls. Under such circumstances, if it worries him to think of you having dates, you can give them up for the time being as a contribution to his happiness.

Dear Louisa:
My child hates to go to school because his teacher is so crabbed and cross. She is really a sick woman and shouldn't be teaching. She was a fine teacher several years ago, but now she has her whole class on edge.

Answer:
It is a sad situation indeed, but no woman should be allowed to ruin the disposition of a class of children and cause them to have all kinds of complexes, even if she is sick and needs the money. It would pay the school to give her a leave of absence and pay for a rest cure rather than keep her on duty as she is.

Why can't you both go out with other people occasionally, especially to places where there are other young people, but always keep each other as the "best" girl or boy? And then, when the war is over, if you still care for each other, you can cut out the other dates.

Kane Woman Is Awarded Nurse Medal

The gold medal of the Pennsylvania State Nurses' Association for distinguished service for nursing in 1950 was won by Mrs. Margaret Longshore, RD, 106 Hemlock Avenue, Kane, according to an announcement made by Miss Mathilda Scheuer, RD, president of the association. The medal was presented to Mrs. Longshore at luncheon ceremonies Friday in Harrisburg, attended by nurses, medical and civic leaders from all parts of the state.

Judges for the contest were: Dr. J. Moore Campbell, deputy secretary of the Department of Health; W. W. Sieg, president, Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Francis Haas, superintendent, Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction; Miss Alma Troxell, president, Hospital Association of Pennsylvania; Dr. Harold B. Gardner, president, Medical Society of Pennsylvania; David Fair, past lieutenant governor, Pennsylvania District, Kiwanis International; Mrs. Elizabeth Groff, chairman, Public Relations Committee, Pennsylvania State Nurses' Association.

Law suits are decided by the judge who has the last guess.

Here's The Marshall Plan In Reverse!
At Windrock, Arizona, the Navajo Tribal Council recently heard the suggestion that "if the government is short of money," maybe the tribe should lend it $500.
The proposal was advanced by the Navajo's after Walter Olson, assistant superintendent of the reservation, reported the government had not appropriated enough money to remodel the Round Rock school. The job would cost $500.

College Red Cross to Begin First Aid Class

Thursday evening, May 17, a special training class will begin for persons who would like to become first aid instructors accredited by the State College Chapter of the American Red Cross. The class will be taught by Dr. Arthur L. Harnett who is in charge of on-campus instruction for training. The class will meet in room 202 Willard Hall at 7 o'clock.

Some very special features have been added to this first aid instructor's course. The latest atomic bomb film entitled "You Can Beat the Atomic Bomb" has been scheduled for showing in one of the classes. In addition special reference will be made to new civilian defense techniques including a special lecture by Dr. H. R. Glenn, director of the College Health Service and discussion with other members of staff.

The local chapter of the Red Cross has been expanding its first aid division to meet the civilian defense program and the rapidly increasing number of requests for first aid classes. At the present time the chapter has 19 qualified first aid instructors and has trained over 300 first-aiders during the past few months. More instructors are needed and it is hoped that those who are qualified will enroll in the special instructors' training courses being offered by Dr. Harnett. There is no charge for enrollment.

The State College chapter has been rapidly expanding its services in the 12 districts it serves in Centre County. With headquarters at 119 South Burrows street, it has a college unit and divisions in disaster, home nursing, home service, first aid, junior Red Cross, and water safety and recently sponsored the bloodmobile. Persons interested in volunteering for their services to the local chapter should call Charles W. Stoddard, Jr., chapter chairman, or Mrs. John Paterson, executive secretary, at the chapter office.

Feed Supply Tightens As Demand Increases

A tight feed supply situation is developing for 1951-52, reports County Agent L. H. Bull. Only 118 million tons of the required 132 million tons of feed grains will be produced this year if farmers carry out their March 1 intentions.

Despite this increased demand for feed, March 1 intentions of farmers indicated that the supply of feed grains will be 6 per cent less than in 1950. This assumes yields will be average.

The prospect of a tight feed supply points out the need for conserving feed supplies and increasing 1951 plantings of corn and other feed grains wherever feasible. Increased attention should also be placed upon pasture improvement and more and better roughage.

Health and Beauty

By Dr. Sophia Bronson THE SKIN

Cleanliness is of supreme importance in caring for the skin. As we go about we accumulate dust, dirt and germs that clog the pores, and if allowed to remain they often set up eruptions and disfigurements of various kinds.

The streptococci is a germ that gives a great deal of trouble. It is really the cause of cystic acne. The utmost care should be exercised in handling the skin infection, the sores of children, etc., in order not to convey the disease to you yourself, or to others. Cleanliness of the skin discourages the spread of such diseases.

For those who have blackheads or an oily skin, nothing is quite as effective for a cleanser as mild soap and water. A complexion brush is better than a washcloth, though the latter is excellent if welded with energy and thoroughness. Always wash the face with an upward and outward rotary motion. The water should never be hot, only pleasantly warm or tepid. Rinse well in cold water, drying the face with upward sweeps of the towel.

For those whose skin is not benefited by washing in water, cream or a lotion will remove the dirt and grime and leave a film or coating that is beneficial to the complexion. After washing the hands and arms in tepid water and drying them, apply the cream or lotion to the face, neck, hands and arms. If it is a cream, rub on gently and remove with a clean soft cloth. Take a look at the cloth and you will be astonished to find that it is unbelievably soiled and grimy, especially the part that you used in wiping the back of your neck.

In the morning, bathe the face in clear, cold water, without soap. Apply a lotion—it makes the best powder base, though some creams are good. Wipe off all excess with a clean towel; just enough is left on the skin to hold the powder. Women who powder over a dry skin, without such preparation, soon find that they are losing their complexions and showing lines and wrinkles.

In regard to the importance of daily cleansing of the face, it is well to bear in mind that dangerous germs are always present in the normal skin, especially in the folds, around the hair follicles and in the oil glands about the nose and back. As a rule they do no harm, but are capable of causing serious infections if a person's skin becomes broken or abraded, or the vitality for any reason is lowered.

When skin is kept in a healthy condition, face powder is a great aid to beauty. It removes the shiny appearance so sought after by the African, but deprecated by the Caucasian. It also partially conceals minor defects, such as discolorations, etc. The powder does not clog the pores and cause blackheads, if removed at night by cream or by washing the face. In fact, it really acts as a protection or covering agent against biting winds and direct rays of the sun. The foundation from coming off and gives the skin a softer and more velvety sheen.

During the day if you wish to freshen your appearance, lie down for a short period, (if you have time) close the eyes and relax every muscle in your body. Fall asleep, if you can. On awakening take a short cold bath, finishing with a dash of cold water. Rub with a crash towel until the whole body is glowing from the friction. Put some fresh lotion on your face and remove the excess with a soft towel.

USE FLOORLESS HOODS—The floorless brooder house has advantages, declares H. H. Kouffman, Penn State extension poultry specialist. Such a house has been found easy to heat and clean, and relatively low in construction costs. It must be placed on well-drained ground.

Men may love the modest maidens but you can't make a modern miss believe it.

Most engine wear comes from engine deposits—Amoco-Gas leaves NO METALLIC DEPOSIT!

The kind of gas you buy has a direct connection with the bills you have to pay for engine repair.

For science now knows that most engine cylinder wear is caused by deposits remaining after combustion, and contamination. These cause wear, serious wear to pistons, cylinder walls and valves.

Amoco-Gas helps prevent this wear because it contains no harmful ingredients. It leaves no metallic deposit.

Moreover, Amoco-Gas can burn completely because it is all petroleum with no harmful ingredients added. This means more useful power, superior performance and mileage.

Use Amoco-Gas—for longer car life. There's nothing like it!
